OAKLAND WOMAN IS MISSING: THREATENS TO END HER LIFE

SEEKING JURY FOR LAWYER DE LANCEY HEARING

Placed on Trial on Charge of Embezzlement in Cook Estate

TALESMEN ARE BEING CLOSELY EXAMINED

Several Are Excused By the Court for Business and Other Reasons

ATTORNEY John S. De Lancey was placed on trial in the criminal department of the Superior Court at 10:15 o'clock this forenoon, accused of the felonious embezzlement of $10,000 belonging to the estate of the late George Hite Cook while he was employed in his professional capacity as the legal representative of former Public Administrator Geo. Gray. The Grand Jury indictment in this case was returned against him on September 14.

Little public interest was manifested in the inauguration of the trial, judging from the attendance upon Judge Everett J. Brown's court, very few spectators being present to watch the proceedings. De Lancey arrived at least twenty minutes before the trial was begun, accompanied by Attorney A. L. Frick.

DE LANCEY SMILING.

He was dressed in a neat fitting cutaway suit of blue serge, while a diamond of good color glistened against his modest necktie. He had a pleasant smile for his acquaintances and his demeanor evently indicating that he was not much worried. Attorney M. C. Chapman, who is associated with Judge Frick in the defense, put in an appearance just as Judge Brown called the case. District Attorney Donahue and Assistant District Attorney Hynes came in about the same time.

William H. MacKinnon, father-in-law of De Lancey, was the only relative of the accused lawyer present. He took a seat far back in the court room and before De Lancey went to his chair behind his attorneys at the long table immediately before the jury box he greeted his father-in-law and they chatted together for several minutes.

COOK CASE FIRST.

After disposing of a few preliminary matters foreign to the case, Judge Brown directed Clerk Rudolph to call the De Lancey cases. All seven of the criminal actions had been set for trial on this date and they were read off. The case in the George Hite Cook estate was first to be called, whereupon District Attorney Donahue said:

"The people are ready in this case, your honor."

"The defense is ready," remarked Attorney Frick.

"What is your pleasure with reference to the other cases?" asked Judge Brown.

"I would suggest that they be continued until next Monday morning," said the district attorney. "They have all been set for today for trial but of course only one of them can be disposed of at a time."

"The defense has no objection to their going over until next Monday," concurred Attorney Frick.

CONTINUE OTHER CASES.

"Very well then," remarked the court, "these cases will go over until next Monday morning, October 25, at 10 o'clock."

Judge Brown then ordered the clerk to call the roll of the jury panel, after which he announced that there were two absentees on account of illness, S. M. Hansen and Carl Kelling, both of Redwood Road, and five others had asked to be temporarily excused from duty for personal and business reasons. These jurors were called before the bench and examined under oath as to why they wished to be excused.

TALESMAN EXCUSES.

George H. Vose of Piedmont stated that a death had occurred in his family and he was allowed to go until after the funeral.

L. B. Parsons of Hayward had a business engagement of very great importance, as did also H. H. Buddington of 1365 Versailles street, Alameda, Isaac W. Wells of 1905 Berkeley way, Berkeley, and John A. Macdonald of 480 Lee street,

One Juror Passed by Both Sides

During the proceedings this afternoon in the trial of John S. De Lancey, Judge Brown announced that there wold be no session of the court next Thursday, a holiday to be taken for the Portola celebration.

There were many excuses made by talismen in court this morning by those who did not care to serve in the case. The line of examination taken by the defense would seem to indicate that a very hard struggle will be made in this case to protect fully the interests of the defendant.

Many of the interrogatories are in a line of questions as to the actions of the jury on the assumption that the defendant himself will not be called as a witness in his defense. Also many of the questions would indicate that the laxness of methods in the keeping of the record of the public administrator's office will enter strongly into the defense.

The first talisman examined, David D. Thompson, was tentatively passed both by the defense and by the prosecution.

BANKER ENDS HIS LIFE ON GRAVE OF MOTHER

GOES TO CEMETERY TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Doors of Institution Are Closed and Large Sum Reported Gone

MINERAL POINT, Iowa, Oct. 18.—F. E. Hanscombe, cashier of the wrecked First National Bank of Mineral Point, shot and killed himself late last night. His body was removed immediately to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Gray. At sight of the body Mrs. Gray dropped dead.

Since the failure of the bank Hanscome had been working night and day and was very despondent.

Mr. Handcom was a brother-in-law of Vice-President Phil Allen Jr. of the bank, for the alleged misuse of whose funds Allen was arrested last Friday.

LOOT BANK, IS CHARGE.

The bank, regarded for a generation as one of the strongest in Southwestern Wisconsin, was closed a week ago after an investigation of the books by Bank Examiner Goodhart. An attempt was made to keep the institution on its feet by the sale of mining property in which Allen was interested, but the deal fell through. It was alleged that the bank had been looted of $200,000 by means of notes forged by Allen.

Allen's chief aid in running the bank was Handcom. The former became seriously ill when the bank was closed and Handcom devoted every minute of his time in assisting Examiner Goodhart in straightening out the books.

When Receiver Schofield took charge last Thursday rumors which could not be confirmed had it that the loss to depositors would run greatly over $200,000 and that arrests in addition to that of Allen were to be expected.

ON MOTHER'S GRAVE.

Handcom was found at a late hour last night lying over the grave of his mother in the family plot of the local cemetery. He had ended his life by shooting himself through the head.

Handcom's heavy losses and worry over the fact that he had told the depositors shortly before the bank failed that it was all right are said to have been responsible for his act.

The dead cashier had been connected with the bank since its organization in 1884. He began as bookkeeper and teller and had a reputation for strict honesty.

In Divorce Suit, Filed Today, Miss Illington Says Frohman Didn't Support Her for 2 Years

RENO, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Daniel Frohman, better known by her stage name of Margaret Illington, filed suit for divorce today in the district court alleging that her husband has for two years failed to contribute to her support.

Other than the bare statements that the plaintiff has resided in Reno more than six months prior to filing the action and that there are no children and no community property, the complaint contains nothing. There are no allegations of a sensational nature and no reference is made to the theatrical manager other than that he is the defendant. Alimony is not asked for.

Mrs. Frohman has lived in this city nearly a year, having come to Reno within a few months after she completed her engagement as the star in "The Thief."

Roosevelt Has Narrow Escape While Shooting Elephants

NAIROBI, B. E. A., Oct. 18.—Mr. Creswell, a government engineer in the public works departments at Nyori, came into Nairobi today and brought word that Mr. Roosevelt had a very narrow escape when shooting a bull elephant. When shooting elephants it is often necessary to creep into the herd and shoot the selected bull at a range of fifteen to thirty yards.

Mr. Roosevelt accompanied by Mr. Cunninghame, the big game hunter and guide, followed this procedure and killed his elephant at the second shot. Suddenly before Mr. Roosevelt could reload another bullet the elephant charged him at close range from the herd. Mr. Cunninghame and Mr. Roosevelt got behind trees and Mr. Cunninghame fired and turned the bull from Mr. Roosevelt just in time.

Dr. William Leadsmith and two companions have left for Kapiti Plains after lions. They have been out here about three months collecting near Kenia and in the country where Mr. Roosevelt is hunting. They have collected, roughly 900 specimens to date. They will sail for New York from Mombasa about the end of the month.

The balloonagrph expedition arrived here yesterday and will make an ascent in Nairobi, according to present arrangements.

The new governor will arrive here tomorrow. The King's African Rifles, a native regiment, officered by British military officers, will form a guard of honor at the station on his arrival.

Bandmaster Won Heiress With Waltz to Lose Her by Divorce

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 18.—The Times-Star prints today a dispatch from Atlantic City, N. J., saying that Bandmaster Orestres Vessella and his young wife, formerly Miss Edna Egan, daughter of Thomas P. Egan, millionaire manufacturer and former president of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, have separated. It became known here today that Mrs. Vessella had been living with her parents in Cincinnati for two months.

Vessella, with his long raven hair, is well known on account of his peculiar mannerisms while wielding the baton. He married Miss Egan five years ago, following a wooing that excited widespread attention. During the summer visit with her mother at Atlantic City, N. J., Miss Egan fell in love with the Italian bandmaster. Vessella reciprocated and dedicated a dreamy waltze to the object of his admiration, and played it every day.

When Miss Egan returned to her home here Vessella carried on his courtship. The wedding took place in Cincinnati three months later.

'Twas Only a Lovers' Spat and Not a Kidnaping as Reported

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Garrett Rodey, the young electrician of Oakland, who claimed that his wife Lucy, had been kidnaped from him by his sister-in-law, appeared in Judge Graham's court at 12:15 this afternoon. The wife was also present and it developed that the couple had quarreled and that she had left him. A reconciliation was effected and Rodey complained to the court that it was a case of too much mother-in-law. Blushing like a couple of children, the pair left the court room.

Judge Mogan dismissed an interlocutory decree, which he had granted to Elizabeth Caine on July 16. She wrote to the court that her husband, John R. Caine, a printer, had ceased drinking, and abusing her, and requested an annulment. Caine appeared in court and was warned by his honor to keep in the straight and narrow path.

FORCES BANK AND BRANCH TO CLOSE DOORS

Japanese-American Bank of San Francisco Ordered to Suspend

LOS ANGELES BRANCH ALSO ENDS BUSINESS

Action Is Taken at the Demand of Superintendent Alden Anderson

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The Japanese-American Bank of this city was closed today by State Superintendent of Banking Alden Anderson after an examination conducted by the State bank commissioners ever since August 25 of this year. It was hoped by the commissioners that the bank's affairs would be adjusted without drastic action, but a crisis was brought on by a run on the Los Angeles branch, which was caused by the rumor that the Sacramento Japanese Bank, closed recently by the commission, was connected with the Japanese-American Bank.

On receipt of news of a run on the Los Angeles branch, Superintendent Anderson ordered the immediate closing of both the San Francisco Bank and its Los Angeles branch. The bank also has a branch in Ogden and a telegram was sent to the Governor of Utah by the California Bank Commissioners suggesting that the branch there be closed.

AFFAIRS ARE MUDDLED.

State Superintendent of Banks Anderson says that the affairs of the bank are in a muddled condition and that so many of the loans were made on worthless securities that it is hardly likely that the depositors will obtain more than fifteen cents on the dollar.

J. W. Harper has been placed in temporary charge of the bank, which was capitalized at $200,000.

The assets of the main branch are as follows: $371,000 loans, $1459 overdrafts; $6000 value bank premises; $38,000 due from other banks; $2600 cash on hand; $8500 surplus. Its liabilities are $135,000 due to banks, $115,500 due depositors; $104,800 bills payable.

ASSETS IN LOS ANGELES.

The Los Angeles assets are: Loans, $266,000; $1000 overdrafts; stocks and bonds, $4000; bank premises, $12,000; real estate, $1800; due from other banks, $16,000, cash on hand, $14,000. Its liabilities are: Deposits, $235,000; bills payable, $13,800.

This report is the last of the tri-weekly reports which the bank commissioners have been receiving from the bank ever since they began to watch it in August, but it is believed that a large part of the cash on hand has been withdrawn by depositors since the run on the Los Angeles branch was begun.

BIG RUN ON BANK.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—The Japanese-American Bank of this city, a branch of the San Francisco bank, and having deposits of almost $200,000, was closed today by orders of Bank Superintendent Anderson.

A big crowd of Japanese filled the street in front of the building at 101 South San Pedro street. There was much discussion and no little excitement among the Orientals, but no demonstration of a serious character. Practically all of the depositors are Japanese. Their deposits run in amount from $1 up to considerable sums.

W. S. Vawter was placed in charge of the bank by Bank Examiner James Wilson, who received telegraphic instructions from Superintendent Anderson.

No cause for the closing has been given out, but the trouble is supposed to be the natural consequence of the recent failures of Japanese banks in Oakland and Sacramento. Following those failures there were large withdrawals by depositors from the local institution.

OGDEN, Utah, Oct. 18.—Though the Japanese-American Bank of Ogden is a branch of the California institutions, the local bank is still open and doing business and the officers in control state that they have no instructions to close it and will take no action until further advices are received.

Big Fire Destroys Lumber in Weed

WEED, Cal., Oct. 18.—The drying shed of the Weed Lumber Company, containing 1,500,000 feet of best lumber, was destroyed by fire today. The loss was more than $100,000, partly covered by insurance.

A gale was blowing and for several hours the flames threatened the rest of the immense plant and the town of Weed itself.

CHARGED IN POLICE COURT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—John R. Hope, who assaulted August Hoffman, of 41 Clay street, with a hammer while attempting to rob the place, was charged with assault to murder by Detective Tracy today.

THUG SLASHES THROAT OF VICTIM IN BEDROOM

White Handled Razor Is Found in Apartment, Covered With Blood

LIFE OF WOMAN IS SAVED BY POLICEMAN

Daughter Is Awakened by Voice of Her Mother Crying Help

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—Deep and intangible mystery surrounds what is believed to be the attempted murder of Mrs. George Staehle, wife of a brewery employe, who had her throat terribly cut with a razor as she lay asleep in her home, 818 Gladys avenue, last night. There is no clue to the intruder further than a white handled razor found in the room, covered with blood. The woman's husband was at work in the brewery at the time of the attack.

Mrs. Staehle was bleeding to death and her life was saved by Patrol Wagon Officer Gilpin, who stopped the wound in her throat with his fingers until the hospital was reached. The woman was removed to the Westlake Hospital this morning and is expected to recover.

GIRL TELLS OF CRIME.

According to the story related by Elsie Staehle, the 12 year old daughter, she and her mother retired about 9 o'clock. Some time after she had gone to sleep she was awakened by her mother calling for help in a smothered tone. The little girl turned on the light, saw the blood pouring over her mother's nightgown and ran for help.

Mrs. Staehle's windpipe had been severed and several large arteries cut. Two strokes had been made with the razor in criss-cross fashion, one extending across the throat and the other lengthwise.

The few brief statements Mrs. Staehle was able to make corroborated the story related by her daughter. The police suspect some negro among the number living in that vicinity.

CAUSE IS MYSTERY.

The cause for the crime is entirely unknown. The Staehle family had no enemies and robbery was evidently not the motive for no effort in that direction was made by the intruder.

An empty beer keg was found under the window of the house and foot prints showed that the man had entered the house by that way. He had also made several unsuccessful attempts to enter the house of Mrs. E. J. Riley, next door.

The only theory of the police, which seems to them tangible, is that the man is insane or some arch fiend seized with a desire to do wanton murder. They believe the perpetrator is a negro. The crime has thrown the women of that section of the city almost into panic.

To Test Law on Abandoning Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—That you cannot remain on both sides of the fence at the same time and win was pointed out by Police Judge Shortall this morning to Attorney William A. Kelly. The lawyer was appearing for Otto Beyer, who is charged by his wife, Alice, with wife abandonment, which has been made a felony under a recent law.

The attorney announced that he intended to test the validity of the statute in that regard, declaring that he did not believe it was proper to arrest a man on such a charge.

"Forget not," quoth Judge Shortall, "that you are appearing as special prosecutor against William Murphy, who is charged by his wife with abandoning her."

The court gave counsel a week to think it over.

Retired Capitalist Injured by Knife

J. Leavitt, a retired capitalist living at 727 Alice street, was treated at the receiving hospital this afternoon for a severe laceration of his right wrist which he accidently inflicted with a knife. He narrowly evaded cutting the arteries and as it was Steward Platt had to take four stitches in the laceration to bring it together.

Burns Wants to Fight Johnson

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 18.—"Tommy" Burns, the Canadian heavyweight, who was defeated by Jack Johnson, in a fight for the world's heavyweight championship here December 26th last, announced today that if the American promoters were unable to arrange a match between Jeffries and Johnson he was willing again to meet Johnson, the winner to take all of the purse.

NOTES SHOW DESIRE TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Search Is Being Made in Golden Gate Park for Her Body

HUSBAND EMPLOYED BY OAKLAND TRACTION

Deserted By Him, She Says, and Has No Wish to Longer Live

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Concealed somewhere beneath the shrubbery or behind a tree among the thick fastnesses in Golden Gate Park, or hidden far below the surface of one of the many lakes which abound in the enclosure, the local police expect to find the body of Mrs. Eva Murphy, a young and beautiful woman who, through some mysterious cause, threatened suicide in a veiled manner.

She is believed to be the wife of Joseph L. Murphy, an employe of the Oakland Traction Company of Oakland and has been residing for some time at the home of Mrs. Douglas, 1157 Stanyan street. She is but 22 years old, pretty and was attired in a blue suit when last seen. She has brown har and is light complexioned.

Yesterday afternoon it was noticed that she was packing a grip, and although no attention was paid to her at the time it is now believed that she has made an end to her existence. This suspicion arrises as the result to three letters which were found in her rooms, reading as follows:

LETTERS OF FAREWELL.

"To mama—Mrs. Albert Harrison, 1112 Twenty-first street, Seattle. —Good-bye mama, Elsb, Oma and Alta. Joe deserted me and chloroform is all that will end my troubles. Hope you will forgive me and that the other children will do better.

"P. S.—Close with kisses.

(Signed) EVA."

"To Joseph L. Murphy, care of Oakland Traction Company. Good-bye Joe dear. You caused it all, but forgive me.

"EVA."

"To Mrs. O. Hansen, 1020 McAllister street. Well Ollie, good-bye, I am happy. Forgive and forget me. EVA."

It would seem from the above epistles that the young woman had been deserted by her husband and that despair and an unwillingness to return to her own home had led her to seek death. Detectives De La Guerra and Black have been ordered to search Golden Gate Park for some trace of her.

NOT KNOWN HERE.

Inquiry here today established the fact that the Joseph L. Murphy named is not connected with the Oakland Traction Company, the officials of that road denying any knowledge of such a person. A peculiar air of mystery seems to shroud the entire affair, inasmuch as much as it has been found impossible so far, to locate the husbard of the dead woman through any of the usual means.

Pioneer Womaa Dies From Paralysis

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Elizabeth Herrick, wife of the late Sanford E. Herrick, a pioneer grain merchant of San Francisco, died last evening at the home of Mrs. D. E. Vivian on High street, San Leandro. Death was caused by a stroke of paralysis which seized her one week ago.

Mrs. Herrick was the mother of Herbert E. Herrick of Bakersfield and Mrs. Mary Turner formerly of San Francisco, who is hastening through Europe to be present at the funeral. The body will lay in state at the Taylor Undertaking company until the arrival of Mrs. Turner, which will not be for a week or ten days.

ESCAPED CONVICTS IN OREGON ARE SIGHTED

ALBANY, Ore., Oct. 18.—Andrew Murray and Mike Nicovitch, two of the five convicts who escaped from the State penitentiary at Salem on Friday night, are reported to have crossed the Willamette River today near the mouth of the Santiam River, twelve miles north of this city, and are heading southward. Officers are searching for the men, but owing to the dense underbrush in that section it probably will be difficult to locate their [illegible]

SEE BIG TURTLE ON SEA VOYAGE

Captain Neilsen and Crew Witness Strange Spectacle Near Fanning Island

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 18.—No sea serpents were seen by Captain Nielsen and the crew of the schooner H. C. Wright on their month's passage from the island of Fanning, 1000 miles to the southward of Hawaii, but they saw something else out of the ordinary. This was a gigantic turtle, which all hands declare was at least eight feet in length by six feet in width. It was when the schooner was about 100 miles off this port. The man at the wheel saw what he believed was a small island dead ahead, but before the schooner could be steered clear of the supposed land a turtle's hand arose on one side of the island and the thing began to get under way. Then it was seen that the object was a great sea turtle.

Captain Nielson and his men have seen many things on many a voyage, but never anything like this turtle. Had the sea been a trifle smoother a small boat would have been sent after the monster. It was all that relieved the monotony of the passage from Fanning island. The H. C. Wright carried a general cargo to Fanning and Washington islands, and brought back a shipment of 185 tons of copra.

KOREA TO DEPART WEDNESDAY.

The Pacific Mail liner Korea, to sail next Wednesday afternoon for Honolulu and the principal ports of Japan and China, will begin taking in her outward-bound cargo tomorrow and several thousand tons will be stowed away in the hold before the vessel departs. The list of pasengers is large. It has, in fact, been known for months past that the Korea would have a full complement of salon passengers, for the Pacific Mail Company has been booking travelers for the Korea since last July. James Rudden, chief officer, has returned to the liner after leave of absence of nearly three months, relieving E. W. Kitt, who has been assigned to duty as assistant to Captain T. D. E. Wilson on the docks.

SHANEY BEFORE COURTS BACK IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 15.—A warrant of removal was issued in the U. S. Court today on which Geo. B. Shaney alias McCoy will be taken to San Francisco where he is wanted on a charge of having used the mails to defraud.

He was arrested here on Oct 13, by postal inspectors after a search of eight years. The government alleges that Shaney defrauded many persons through an investment company that he promoted.

SALOON KEEPERS MUST FACE AN INVESTIGATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 18.—Following the recent bail bond accusations which have been revealed in the police court, Assistant District Attorney Robert Duke filed charges against McDonough Brothers before the Police Commissioners this morning. The saloonmen will be forced to appear and show cause why their license should not be revoked.

LAWYER DE LANCEY BROUGHT TO TRIAL

Oakland. By consent of both the prosecution and defense they were let off for a week.

This matter being disposed of, Judge Brown announced that all witnesses in the case at bar would be excused until Wednesday morning, the attorneys having advised him that they would not be ready to begin the introduction of testimony before that time.

"The clerk will not fill the jury box," said Judge Brown, whereupon the following jurors took their places as their names were drawn and called off.

NAMES THEN DRAWN.

David H. Thompson of Emeryville.

John R. Tregloan, 1556 Santa Clara avenue, Alameda.

Thomas Lawlor, Livermore.

H. A. Arnold, 2041 San Jose avenue, Alameda.

Henry J. McIntyre, 615 Forty-sixth street, Oakland.

Daniel Crowley, 599 Sycamore street, Oakland.

Frederick Dieckhoff, Livermore.

Joseph Davis, 2040 University avenue, Berkeley.

Edward C. Cole, 1309 Spruce street, Oakland

E. H. Marwedel, 1540 Fruitvale avenue, Fruitvale.

Charles Owen, corner of Shattuck avenue and Rose street, Berkeley.

INDICTMENT READ.

District Attorney Donahue then read the indictment under which De Lancey has been brought to trial, for the information of the jurors, and then he turned those in the box over to Assistant District Attorney Hynes to examine.

FIRST TALESMAN CALLED.

David D. Thompson was the first juror to be questioned. He declared that he knew nothing at all about the Public Administrator scandal, had read nothing in the papers because he was not interested in that class of news and knew absolutely nothing about the case at issue. With all such he was as completely in the dark as if he had just arrived here from Europe.

The juror also said when pressed that if it were shown during the trial that De Lancey had taken the money he is accused of having embezzled, but had paid it back to former Public Administrator, even after he was indicted for the embezzlement, that would end the matter with him. He declared that he would not vote for the conviction of De Lancey if he had made restitution. He could not be brought around to admitting that a crime might have been committed in spite of the money being repaid and seemed to be embued with the idea that the jurors would be instructed as to the verdict they should return by the court.

Of course, he said, he would have to follow these instructions, but even in spite of this concession he refused to waver with reference to his set opinion regarding restitution.

THOMPSON IS EXCUSED.

The district attorney challenged the juror and then Attorney Frick took Thompson in hand. He brought out the fact that at one time he (Frick) had acted as attorney for Thompson's daughter, and then announced to the court that in view of this development the defense would consent to Thompson's being excused and the court told the juror that he might retire. This action saved for the State the challenge that Hynes had made.

SECOND TALISMAN.

John R. Tregloan, a mining man living at 1556 Santa Clara avenue, Alameda, the second juror examined, qualified in almost every way. He was impartial seemingly in the opinion as to whether De Lancey was innocent or guilty and declared he presumed him innocent. He had read the papers but had never formulated any opinion as to the innocence or guilt of De Lancey but presumed him to be innocent and would not be influenced in rendering verdict by the fact that De Lancey had made restitution.

Tregloan was asked if he would consider a claim by De Lancey that he did not take or keep money with criminal intent but because he held a claim against it or against the public administrator. He replied that he would be guided by the testimony bearing on the case.

The jurors had no objection to expert testimony and would give handwriting experts all the credit they deserved in their testimony. He believed that experts were able to distinguish between one man's handwriting and another's. If there was a possibility of doubt, he would give the defendant the benefit of that doubt.

"I would have to be pretty well convinced before I would find a man guilty," declared Tregloan.

The juror knew of no reason why he could not give a fair and impartial verdict.

CLOSELY CROSS-EXAMINED.

On cross-examination by Judge Frick, declared he did not know George W. Gray, but did know Attorney George W. Reed. Had never been in conversation with any witness or other person connected with the De Lancey case.

In answer to a query by Judge Frick as to whether he had formed any opinion as to whether there had been any wrongdoing in the public administrator's office, he replied he had only been sorry that any suspicion of wrongdoing had ever hopped up in the office. The talisman added that he served as a juror in a civil case in Alameda county and many years ago in Amador county in a criminal case.

To a query by Judge Frick as to whether the talisman would come to any conclusion as to the defendant's guilt if he should not testify in his own behalf Tregloan declared he would not consider the failure to testify as an evidence of guilt. He also declared in answer to the question by Judge Frick, that he would consider much the intent to embezzle in conjunction with testimony showing that the taking or holding of funds by De Lancey had been made pending a settlement of financial affairs between the public administrator and the defendant and merely to protect himself.

PASSED BY DEFENSE.

After an exhaustive quizzing by Judge Frick, Tregloan was passed by the defense. In re-examination by the prosecution the juror declared he did not know De Lancey's father and explained that his acquaintance with George W. Reed was but meager. He was then passed by the defense.

Thomas Lawlor of Livermore was next called for examination. Lawlor said he knew Attorneys Chapman and Frick, but did not know De Lancey, his father, William H. McKinnon, or any of a long list of names, which the prosecution mentioned. He admitted reading the papers closely in the De Lancey case but had never formed any opinion, discussed the case with any one nor believed he would form any opinion except that warranted by evidence.

"If the defendant had made restitution of the money alleged to have been embezzled, would you consider him less guilty?" was asked.

"I would not," replied Lawlor.

On repetition of the question, he declared that it might influence him to believe De Lancey less guilty or deserving of less punishment because of the desire to make amends for what he had done.

At this juncture adjournment was taken until 1 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Judging from the trend of the questions asked by Assistant District Attorney Hynes this forenoon, in the examination of jurors as to their qualifications to try De Lancey, when court reconvened at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, it was clear that the prosecution is deeply concerned as to what effect the restitution by De Lancey of the money he is alleged to have stolen from the George Hite Cook estate, has had upon the mind of the individual juror.

In other words, Assistant District Attorney Hynes has made this point the strongest and he will dwell minutely and persistently upon it in the case of each talisman to learn if he has formed an opinion which would operate in favor of defendant and prevent him from returning a verdict in conformity with the merits of the case.

PROSECUTION'S STAND.

The prosecution, apparently, does not want any juror to sit in the case whose sympathies might turn toward De Lancey because of the repayment of the money. The restitution, the State contends, does not relieve De Lancey in any manner from responsibility for the crime for which he has been brought to trial, and for this reason the jurors should not take it into consideration in the case.

LAWLOR EXAMINED.

The examination of Thomas Lawlor for jury duty was resumed immediately after court went into session after the noon adjournment. The panel of veniremen not included in those not already in the jury box were excused for the afternoon and ordered to report tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Judge Brown set Thursday as the day on which court would adjourn for observance of the Portola festival.

In discharging the extra veniremen for the afternoon, Judge Brown admonished them against reading any newspaper articles about the De Lancey trial or discussing the case with any person. After they had left the courtroom he requested Bailiff Edward Sweeney to call them back and again warned them against discussing the case, even among themselves.

"If you should be approached by any person on the subject of the De Lancey case it is your duty to report the incident to this court immediately," declared Judge Brown.

AS TO RESTITUTION.

"Would you be governed by the instructions of the court in this case?" was the first question put to Talesman Lawlor by Assistant District Attorney Hynes. Lawlor replied that he would.

"If the court should instruct you that the restitution of the money alleged to have been stolen, made no difference in the status of guilt or innocence of the defendant, would that instruction be followed by you in your verdict?"

"It would," answered Lawlor.

"Well, supposing that it should be proven beyond any doubt that the defendant was guilty of having stolen this money, would the fact that he had made restitution influence you in your verdict?"

"It would depend on circumstances connected with the case," was Lawlor's answer.

PAPERS HE HAD READ.

Lawlor declared the only paper he had read was the one published in Livermore and that he had formed no opinion whatever regarding the guilt or innocence of De Lancey.

That the purposes for which De Lancey used the funds of the Cook estate, the investment and depositing of the money will be brought out by the prosecution was evidenced by a question put to Lawlor wanting to know if he would weigh testimony showing where and how De Lancey had made use of these funds.

PASSED BY PROSECUTION.

"Supposing that the defense should contend there was no embezzlement, but that De Lancey simply withheld the money because he and Gray had not settled accounts, would you take that as a basis of your verdict, or would you consider all the evidence when the prosecution showed that the crime was willful and malicious, and with intent to commit the crime of which he is charged?" asked Hynes.

"I would consider all the evidence," Lawlor replied.

The State passed Lawlor and Attorney Frick took him in hand. The talisman said he had known District Attorney Donahue for about fourteen years and that about a year ago he made out a deed for him, but there was nothing in his relations or acquaintance with the district attorney that would influence him in the trial of the case.

Attorney Frick indicated the possibility of the defense resting its case without introducing any testimony in De Lancey's behalf. When he asked Lawlor if, under that condition he would weigh the evidence presented by the State impartially in the face of the fact that the defendant did not present testimony, Lawlor said that he would not let such a condition influence him against De Lancey.

"You understand that the mere misappropriation of money does not constitute embezzlement?" asked Frick. "If we should show that the methods employed in the public administrator's office in keeping books and accounts and handling money were bad, you would give this defendant the benefit of the doubt?"

"I would," replied Lawlor.

"And if we should show that everybody connected with the office handled the money and all kept their own accounts, you would give defendant the benefit of the doubt, would you not?"

"I would."

The defense passed Lawlor to peremptory challenge.

H. A. ARNOLD CALLED.

H. A. Arnold, a retired iron and steel magnate of 2041 San Jose avenue, Alameda, was next examined. District Attorney Donahue relieved Hynes in the questioning of Arnold and immediately plunged into acquaintanceship of the venireman with any persons connected with the case. Arnold knew neither De Lancey, his father, the attorneys for the defense or D. J. Hall. The talesman, however, once knew a William McKinnon, a teamster in San Francisco, but questioning developed the fact that it was not William H. MacKinnon, De Lancey's father-in-law.

Arnold admitted reading the papers closely concerning the De Lancey case, but denied being possessed of any opinion as to the defendant's guilt or innocence.

RESTITUTION AGAIN.

Suppose it should be proven beyond all reasonable doubt that the defendant had embezzled this sum of money for which he has been indicted, and after the indictment had been returned, paid back the money which he had taken, and the court should instruct you that paying back embezzled money does not condone nor lessen the crime of embezzlement, would you permit your own impressions regarding restitution take precedence over the instructions of the court?" was asked Arnold.

"I would be governed entirely by the instructions of the court and the court's interpretation of what constituted the law," answered Arnold.

"You have no objection to expert testimony—the testimony of handwriting experts, or would you disregard any testimony by handwriting experts?"

Headliners at the Bell Theater Please Three Large Audiences

Three audiences that occupied every available seat saw the excellent new bill at the Bell Theater yesterday and they went away satisfied. The distinct feature of the new bill is the big headline feature supplied by Edward Bassett and Isabel Butler in "Winter's Pastimes."

It is nothing more nor less than the universal winter diversion of the colder climes brought to California and its beauty and gracefulness exhibited on a vaudeville stage. Miss Butler, who claims the woman's ice skating championship of the world, and Mr. Bassett, holder of many medals, do their turn on a cake of ice (expressly frozen daily) six feet wide by ten feet in length.

Clad in skating garb, neat and natty in their furs and costumes of winter, the manner in which they cut figure eights, the universal test of skating ability, and other intricate and artistic figures on the frozen surface of their made to order pond, causes the audience to gasp with astonishment. It is an act that stands in a class by itself. Nothing like it has ever been seen on the coast before.

Irma Orbasany's trained cuckatoos opened the bill with a very enjoyable and very creditable exhibition by the feathered creatures. These pure white performers execute a number of tricks, such as waltzing, cakewalking, cannon shooting and other surprising tricks that cause much pleasure to the juvenile attendants and many of the older heads. Mlle. Nada Moret proves herself a versatile entertainer in a number of characterizations, grave and gay.

She is a finished artist, her attention to the little details so necessary for the proper presentation of her character stamps her number as one of the best on the program. Comedy with a rush and a bang is the offering of Martinetti and Grossi, a duo of European vaudeville artists who keep up a rapid fire of fun, introducing a meritorious musical program which they render on chairs, bicycle tires, palm trees, suit cases, etc. as instruments.

Aida Wolcott and company supply the usual tabloid drama in a skit entitled "The Fisherman's Luck." It is a domestic comedy in which a gay husband covers up his frolics at Atlantic City by making his wife believe he was absent on a fishing trip. Complications arise that create laughter in plenty. Flo Patterson gets her share of applause in her rendition of Southern melodies, while the pictures on the Bellscope prove very entertaining.

To Make Cut Glass Sparkle.

To catch and reflect the light, cut-glass must be spotlessly clean and transparent. Soap leaves a greasy film on the glass which is hard to remove; the following method of washing will, however, be found to leave the glass crystal clear.

It is best to use a wooden tub for washing cut glass, but if one is not at hand, pad the metal dish sink with soiled glass linen towels or any soft pieces of cotton. Wash the glass in a warm suds, made by dissolving a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in a pan of warm water; use a soft brush to clean the surface, then rinse in water of the same temperature. After the glass has been carefully dried on glass linen, use a camel's hair brush to polish the cut surface. To clean the inside of water bottles, insert a very thin glass linen towel and force to all parts of the bottle with a cheap wire holder.

PASSION PLAY IS GIVEN A SCORING

Alameda Sunday School Adults Declare Play Is Almost Blasphemous

ALAMEDA, Oct. 18.—Pronouncing the Passion Play "spiritually detrimental," and declaring that its production by the modern actor is "little short of blasphemy," the adult bible class of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, went on record yesterday as absolutely opposed to its presentation before a christian public.

In a statement issued through the secretary, and authorized by the minister, the Rev. F. L. Nash, the president W. A. Underhill, and other officers of the organization, it was declared that the low commercialism that lays back of and below the whole performance, tends to smother religious sentiment.

ORIGINAL INTENT

"What ever may have been the original intent and purpose of the play," reads the denunciation of the play, "and whatever may have been its effect upon those for whom it was prepared, and whatever may be its effect today, the play as it is being produced now, cannot but be spiritually detrimental.

"The atmosphere of the modern theater, the association of the play and the low commercialism which governs the performance, all tend to smother religious sentiment, rather than to foster it.

"The representation on the stage of the most sacred thing that the mind of man can conceive, before a crowd of people who go, not to have their religious faith strengthened, but simply to be entertained and amused, cannot but degrade and cheapen the scene rather than exalt it.

SCORE THE ACTORS

Then the bible class takes exception to not only the actors who are presenting the play but at the actor in general. Here is the inference:

"It seems that the impersonation of the blessed Jesus, the savior of the world, by a theatrical actor for hire, granting all that the most moral and upright actors can say is little less than blasphemy."

The class further states their opposition to the play:

"Without questioning the sincerity of those who entertain a different opinion," continues the statement, "against dramatizing for the modern stage, that which was enacted twenty years ago, and the closing scene of which was Christ on the cross at Mount Calvary. The curtain of darkness drawn by the hand of God himself fell upon the awful scene and rash and presumptuous is the hand of the mortal who attempts to raise it."

Painful Dyspepsia

A Form of Indigestion Caused by Gastric Irritation from Undigested Food in the Stomach.

No kind of dyspepsia is better marked than that known as "painful indigestion," and it is also a very common affection. Pain, generally of a dull character, is felt after meals, and along with the pain, soreness at the pit of the stomach often exists, and in some cases the soreness is permanent. The tenderness is commonly restricted to a spot in the middle line of the body, immediately below the breast-bone.

It often extends upward under the bone, which consequently feels sore on pressure, or the tenderness is felt toward either side. This tenderness is commonly associated with an unpleasant feeling of heat—"a burning sensation"—as it is termed by some persons. There is also a "gnawing" and "dragging," as well as various other anomalous sensations complained of after taking food, and generally within an hour after eating.

As might be supposed the intensity of the symptom is proportionate to the quantity and quality of the meal. When the stomach is empty, a sensation of craving or emptiness gives most trouble. This often causes a false appetite, which, by inducing the person to eat heartily, aggravates the sufferings. Thirst generally causes much annoyance; heartburn, water-brash, acidity, nausea, and headache are not infrequent attendants. The tongue is usually coated and from a mere inspection of this organ the condition of the stomach can often be correctly told.

It is a common error with persons who suffer from stomach pain caused by indigestion and gastric irritation, to use such drugs as chlorodyne, Hoffman's Anodyne, and other "pain killers" for its relief. Such treatment is a great mistake. While these drugs afford temporary relief to the dyspeptic pain, they have no effect whatever in removing the cause.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS remove the cause. By completely digesting all the food in the stomach, there is no further possibility of the occurrence of this disagreeable form of dyspepsia with its painful manifestations, and other concurrent symptoms. All of the irritation of the stomach-lining and stomach-nerves as the result of the undigested food lying in that organ and undergoing fermentation and decomposition, is quickly done away with.

But not only is the form of dyspepsia which is accompanied by pain cured through the use of these digestive tablets, but also every other form of indigestion, as there are many kinds in which stomach pain does not occur, but where there are many symptoms equally disagreeable, discomforting, disconcerting and discouraging.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain, in a highly concentrated form, powerful anti-dyspeptic ingredients, which digest rapidly and thoroughly food of every kind, including proteids, nitrates, carbohydrates, etc. A single grain will disintegrate and digest 3000 grains of food.

Purchase a box from your druggist at once (price 50 cents) and get rid of the pain, discomfort and other disagreeable symptoms of dyspepsia. Also send us your name and address for free sample package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CHARLES D. PIERCE, ONCE MAYOR OF OAKLAND, DIES

Former Business Man of This City Passes Away at Stockton After Lingering Illness

Charles Dexter Pierce, the last of the line of Oakland's mayor under its first charter, died at his home near Stockton early yesterday morning, after a lingering illness due to injuries suffered in a runaway accident that developed an acute form of Bright's disease, with which he had been previously afflicted. During his long residence in this city he was one of Oakland's best known and popular citizens and during the year of his service as Mayor preceding the induction of the present charter he ranked among the most popular and efficient of the municipality's executives.

Deceased was a native of Erie, Pa., and the son of Dexter Pierce, now living at Los Gatos, and was only 50 years of age. He came to Oakland with his father and brother, W. Frank Pierce, who was last week elected and installed Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of California, F. and A. M., and they founded the Pierce Hardware Company, then located on Broadway near Tenth street. The firm flourished apace from the start.

RETIRE FROM FIRM.

Shortly after closing his term as Mayor, the two brothers retired from the activities of the hardware firm, to devote themselves to the agency of the National Cash Register, from which they amassed a large fortune.

As a side issue Charles D. and his brother became deeply interested in milch cattle farming, and over ten years ago bought Rough and Ready Island and imported Holstein and Fresian stock, from which they finally developed the finest herd of the former breed of cattle on the continent, some of which proved to be world's prize winners. The Pierce Holstein herd holds the world's record for the yield of milk and butter, and the cow which established it was exhibited at the St. Louis Exposition, in response to the special request of the exposition commissioners.

HOME NEAR STOCKTON.

After the San Francisco earthquake and fire Charles D. Pierce retired from the business activities of San Francisco to his cattle farm, building for himself and wife a beautiful home near Stockton. It was while Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were driving to this home from a visit to the ranch that the accident occurred which hastened his death. His team took fright from the headlight of an approaching automobile and upset his buggy, throwing himself and Mrs. Pierce into the road. Mr. Pierce suffered internal injuries from the fall, which aggravated the kidney complaint from which he was then suffering and he thereafter gradually declined.

Mr. Pierce was one of the original directors of the Central Bank. He was also a director in the New Central National Bank. In fraternal circles he was well known for he was a member of Live Oak Lodge No. 61, Oakland Chapter No. 36, R. A. M.; Oakland Council No. 2, R. and S. M.; Oakland Commandery, K. T. He was also a thirty-third degree Mason, and besides he was a member of all the Scottish Rites bodies.

MASONIC FUNERAL.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Scottish Rite Cathedral, corner of Fifteenth and Madison streets, under the auspices of Live Oak Lodge No. 61, F. and A. M. All blue lodge Masons are expected to attend the funeral.

Among the pallbearers will be Mayor Frank K. Mott and Ex-Mayor William R. Davis. Two directors of the Central National Bank will represent that institution, and two members of the blue lodge of Masons will serve in the same capacity.

The deceased is survived by his widow, father and brother, as he left no children.

PRESIDENT TAFT IN SAN ANTONIO

To Spend Four Days on Brother's Ranch in South Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 18.—President Taft spent a busy seven hours in this city today before leaving for his brother's ranch near the southern end of the State, where he is to spend four days. Charles P. Taft had a golf course constructed on the ranch and between this favorite sport and horseback riding the President expects to have a good time.

It will be even more of a rest than the President had in the Yosemite and he expects it to put him in splendid condition for the remaining three weeks of his notable trip.

As a matter of fact, however, Mr. Taft never felt better than he does today. Railroad travel by day or night never tires him in the least and at each city he visits he places himself entirely in the hands of local committees and is ready to carry out any program suggested, no matter how strenuous.

This willingness on the part of the President has led many of the committees to extend their programs far beyond the original outline and they keep the President pretty busy from the moment his train arrives until it should proceed.

After his hardest days, however, Mr. Taft is ready to sit up late on the train talking with his guests on the trip. None of the latter attempt to keep pace with the President in all that he does or is called upon to do.

SAN FRANCISCO READY FOR PORTOLA FESTIVAL

QUEEN VIRGILIA ISSUES WELCOME TO WARSHIPS

Streets Are Prettily Decorated and All Is Now in Readiness for Opening of Great Carnival

Flanked on one side by the rising sun and on the other by her hosts of war, offering entrance to all the world by way of Oakland and her sparkling Golden Gate, San Francisco is ready for the mighty festival of Don Gaspar de Portola.

Today Queen Virgilia, fair ruler of festivities, issued the following proclamation of welcome to the warships, and with tomorrow's early dawn the reign of joy will begin:

As queen of the festival I desire before everything else to welcome the officers and men of our own fleet, and all the officers and sailors of the foreign warships, who have honored us by their presence here on this, the first official recognition of the discoverer of San Francisco. California is proud and happy to be able to do him this tardy honor, and it is to be hoped that each anniversary will revive the memory of the brave navigator, Don Gaspar de Portola.

CARNIVAL SPIRIT IN AIR.

The carnival spirit is in the air, and the long work of preparation that will culminate with the drinking of the President's toast tomorrow in every part of the globe is practically finished. Throngs of visitors crowd the streets and all is expectancy.

Yesterday was perhaps the gayest Sunday in the history of San Francisco. The thunder of the guns of the British cruiser Bradford coming into port at dawn started the day of preliminary celebration, and the answering salute of the Presidio batteries and the cruiser St. Louis gave proof that the city was ready and waiting.

MESSAGE FROM MAYOR.

Mayor E. R. Taylor of San Francisco has cabled for transmission informally to the foreign officers an expression of the warm appreciation felt by the people of San Francisco for the presence of the German cruiser Arcona at the coming festival in celebration of the discovery of San Francisco bay and the rebuilding of the city.

A formal expression of thanks to the German government will be conveyed later through official channels. The mayor also cabled his thanks for the kind utterances of the German press.

STREETS DECORATED.

Market street is the most profusely decorated thoroughfare in the downtown section. The red and yellow Portola colors are everywhere in evidence from the decorated white colonnade at the Ferry entrance to the Volunteers' Monument at Van Ness avenue.

The ornamental electric poles of the United Railroads have been fitted with cloth lanterns that will shed the portola coloros on the dancers below. These alternately on each pole and will extend along Market street as far as Van Ness avenue by this afternoon. Workmen will begin to dress the poles that are not decorated early this morning.

The Greeters' Club, which is made up of the hotel clerks of San Francisco, estimated last night that the number of visitors to San Francisco would reach 200,000 by tomorrow morning.

PROGRAM FOR TUESDAY.

The formal program for tomorrow is as follows: Morning: 9:30—Don Gaspar de Portola enters the Golden Gate.

KING ARRIVES IN PORT.

On the schooner H. C. Wright arriving today from the South Seas was "King" Greig, owner and Monarch of Washington Island, where he rules 125 natives under a British protectorate. This is his second visit to this port and though he comes to dispose of a cargo of copra, he declares his intention of participating in the Portola festival. He was born on one of the small islands of the Pacific, his father being a Scotchman and his mother a native.

NATIONAL GUARD.

Arrangements are being made to have 500 members of the California National Guard patrol the course of the Oakland Portola automobile races on Saturday. These troops will line the whole distance and will guard the crossings at Elmhurst, San Leandro and Haywards.

Every other precaution possible will be taken to prevent accidents and among other things the committee has gone to a big expense in the erection of a grand stand on the foothill boulevard just east of Seminary avenue, capable of seating thousands of spectators who will not only be absolutely safe from any form of accident but will have many advantages of comfort and pleasure over those who occupy any other position along the 100-mile course.

OFICIAL GRAND STAND.

The official grand stand is being erected with a primary view to its perfect safety of construction. It will seat 10,000 people in perfect comfort and so each one may have an unobstructed view of over a mile of the best part of the course. There will be 300 parking spaces directly facing the course for automobiles whose owners wish to retain them as seats during the race. In a paddock at the rear of the stand, autos will be cared for by a corps of men engaged for the purpose. The inner man will be taken care of in booths where sandwiches, coffee, cigars and soft drinks may be obtained.

But above all, the patrons of the grand stand will have the greatest advantage over all other spectators in being enabled to follow the course of each racer throughout every mile of the long races. Others may see the machines whirl along the road in a cloud of dust and the sight will be thrilling at the very least, but for grand stand patrons a huge score board will be placed on the judges' stand just across the track in full view of the spectators.

SIGNALS OF RACE.

As each racer passes a mile post, the fact will be signaled to the officials' stand by an officer stationed at the post and the name of the racer and his position will be immediately bulletined on the score board.

There will be infinitely more satisfaction in following the races in this form than in watching a machine spin by without knowing who or what he may be. And there are other advantages in occupying the grand stand. The starting and finishing line of the races is at the center of the grand stand and stretching away from it is a full mile of the fastest portion of the entire course. It is here that the greatest speed will be accomplished and altogether, spectators may watch the races at their ease and comfort and see far more of the races than at any other place.

TO HANDLE BIG CROWD.

The stand will not accomodate all the vast crowd that is expected to line the course, but first come first served, and they will be lucky who secure seats in advance.

Reservations of box and reserved seats as well as parking spaces can be had through the chairman of the committee, Walter B. Fawcett, at 1214 Broadway, and at Sherman & Clay's music store at Fourteenth and Clay streets.

ONE KILLED AND ONE HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18. — Efforts to locate the unknown auto driver who last night ran down and killed John Carno, a constructor of Huntington Beach and seriously injured his brother, Peter Carno, on Huntington drive, between Los Angeles and Pasadena, have so far proved unavailing.

The two Carno brothers were walking along the road together when the automobile, driven at high speed, came from the rear and struck them with great force. Both were hurled to one side and John instantly killed. The men lay in the road for some time before Peter sufficiently regained consciousness to crawl to a nearby house and summon help. At the hospital he claimed to have recognized the number of the automobile as it sped away in the darkness, but the officers have failed to find a car with the number he gave.

HOLIDAYS SHOULDN'T INTERFERE WITH BUSINESS

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Your paper is setting the standard for Oakland's future and I hope it will be different from San Francisco. Why can't we have these festivals and special holidays without stopping business? These special holidays will effect the business of any community. A holiday costs the bay cities an aggregate of one million dollars.

Considering the present financial and business conditions it is necessary for every business man to pay strict attention to business and waste no time on extra holidays.

Things would improve if we considered these questions more seriously. Our bankers and merchants should watch and study the effect of mid week holicommerce you stagnate business.

We can celebrate Portola week without neglecting business! Chicago did not neglect her best interests even for the world's fair. Big celebrations were occurring every week. We have been made to believe there is no business during rainy seasons. I have known it to rain twenty-eight out of the thirty-one days in May in Chicago, but the people paid very little attention to it.

If our people around the bay cities can be educated to not neglect business for special holidays or rainy seasons it will be a more prosperous community. Too many holidays will stagnate business in any community. A serious question confronts us. Yours respectfully,

E. R. DEMING.

CHICAGO TERMINAL IS SECURED BY B. & O.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. — The Baltimore and Ohio road has purchased a controlling interest in the Chicago Terminal Railroad Company from the Burlington, the deal having been closed in New York. Official announcement of the sale, it is said, will not be made until certain plans of the Baltimore and Ohio shall have been completed.

That the purchase of the Burlington's interest has been made, however, can be stated positively and that the road will, therefore, become an equal partner in the $25,000,000 depot and terminal plan which the Pennsylvania is perfecting for Canal street. It is understood that the Baltimore and Ohio will spend considerable money on the terminal property and on the freight yards.

Control of the terminal property has cost the Baltimore and Ohio road approximately $21,000,000, and the company will have to pay the Burlington approximately $3,500,000 to secure about $6,000,000 par value of stock which is held by the Hill interests. It is understood that payment is to be made to the Burlintgon by short-term notes bearing four per cent interest. Lack of funds is said to have been the cause for the long delay in closing the deal.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Sold by Osgoods' Drug Stores.

BARRIE GENEROUSLY AIDS DIVORCED WIFE

LONDON, Oct. 18.—J. M. Barrie, the novelist and playwright, did not enter suit for divorce, it is now asserted by his friends, until Gilbert Cannan, whom he named as corespondent, took a solemn pledge to marry Mrs. Barrie after the decree should be granted. Moreover, as Cannan is not well provided with money, Barrie made a handsome settlement on his wife before he filed his petition for separation, making her financially independent.

Throughout the whole affair Barrie acted with the greatest generosity, although he was grievously afflicted. Cannan has written a play which will be the next production by Herbert French in his repertoire at the Haymarket Theater.

"There is no order in which the spirit of mirth and real good fellowship is more evident than in the order of Elks and by good fellowship I do not mean mirth altogether I mean that quality which causes us to uphold and sustain our brother to write his faults in the sands and to see only the real good in him The order encourages every brother to give to his fraternity and the world the very best that is in him

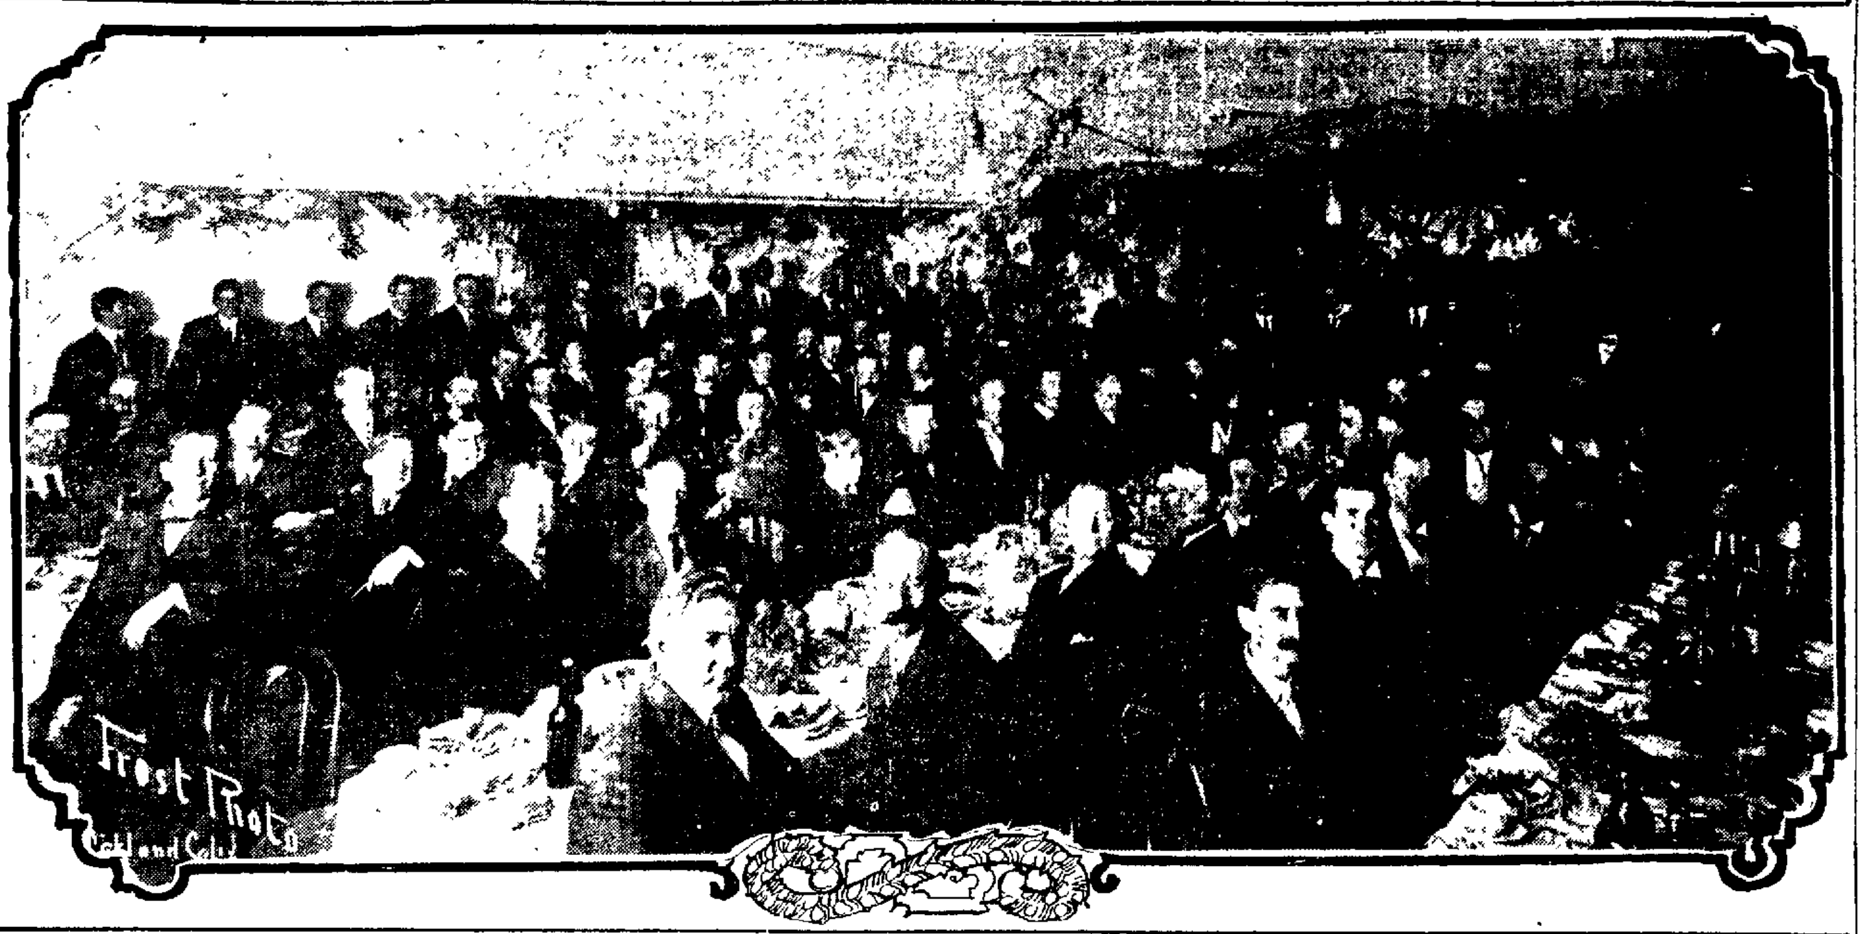
GREAT ORGANIZER IS GIVEN SPLENDID RECEPTION



SCENE AT BANQUET GIVEN IN THE TRIBUNE BUILDING

Typographical Union Entertains in Elaborate Style at Banquet--President James M. Lynch Pleased With the City of Oakland--Gives Good Advice to the Members of the Local Organization

One of the most successful banquets of the season was given under the auspices of Oakland Typographical Union No. 36 in the Tribune building last night in honor of President James M Lynch of the International Typographical Union, who is now on a tour of inspection to the different printing institutions of the Pacific Coast, to promote the interests of that world wide organization.

The sumptuous repast was spread before two hundred members of the Typographical Union and the floral decorations entwined with national colors. Scores of electric lights made a most pleasing effect and added to the good cheer of the occasion.

INSPECTED THE TRIBUNE.

Mr. Lynch spent a portion of Saturday inspecting THE TRIBUNE plant and meeting old acquaintances among the Typographical Union

A more intelligent gathering of mechanics could not be brought together in the same space in the City of Oakland. The International Typographical Union has stood for years in the highest rank of union labor Its individual members are of the highest standard of intellectuality, more own their own homes and have taken a greater part in civic affairs than any other union of the Federated Trades.

The leading publishers of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda were present, as well as the executive officers of the Franklin Association of Alameda county.

The spread of good things under the auspices of Hallahan, the caterer, was the best in the land, and second to none furnished in the city of Oakland by any social, civic or labor organization.

Mr. W H Mallett, president of the Oakland Typographical Union, in a most agreeable manner, presided as toastmaster and had the banquet well in hand, interspering introductions of various visitors with illustrations. Mr. Mallett proves to be not only a most competent workman but a versatile toastmaster as well

W. V. HARRINGTON SPOKE.

Mr W. V. Harrington president of the Franklin Association of Alameda county, was introduced as being the vice-president of the American Federation of Printers, an organization which has greatly fostered and promoted the interests of publishers and employes Mr Harrington made a few pertinent remarks from the employers standpoint, reviewing all of the good results of the Franklin Association He regretted to call attention to the fact that Oakland did not receive the co-operation of financial, commercial and industrial institutions as was [illegible] in the matter of the printing and illustrating of that portion of the Portola program devoted to this city, which were not done here, but the job taken to San Francisco. This works a hardship not only on the employer but the employe as well as "united action all along the line is necessary to obtain the best results"

The second visitor introduced by Toastmaster Mallett who characterized him as a man able to "sing dance or speak" was George Tracy president of San Francisco Typographical Union No 21 and gave excellent advice to the members of Oakland Union encouraging the closest co-operation between individual members of the union and a greater consideration of the employers' interests at the same time.

The speaker in a very clever manner told the origin of the story "I'm from Missouri" The excellent stories told by President Tracy of San Francisco left the banqueters in first class condition to appreciate the sound and sensible talk of [illegible] W. Thompson business agent of the Central Labor Council of Oakland

THE LABOR COUNCIL.

Mr Thompson brought the congratulations of the Central Labor Council which has stood out as the leading labor body of Oakland for many years, having been established on the right foundation. He paid a great tribute to Mr Henry A. Kletzker, the veteran of THE TRIBUNE office, who has been associated with that institution for about twenty-five years, as being one of the leading factors accountable for the respect held for employes of the present day Mr Thompson said that greater harmony existed between the labor organizations and employes in Oakland than in any city in the United States—that there had not been a strike of any consequence for a great many years, and that the individual members were a thoughtful, considerate and frugal class of men. Mr. Thompson referred to THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE, not only as a newspaper plant, job printing, book binding and photo engraving institution, employing hundreds of people, but as well a most congenial banquet place for the guests of the night.

THE ORGANIZER.

The next speaker introduced by Toastmaster Mallett was Mr. George Mitchell of San Francisco, State organizer of country printing offices and authority on sanitation for printing offices. Mr. Mitchell said he had ridden the hobby of sanitation for many years and was more enthusiastic on that subject than ever—that the Typographical Union was at the top of the list of trades representing the highest form of labor organization in the world and that much of its present enviable position was due to the directorship of such an able man as President Lynch. He said that much had been done by employers in the last five years to promote the comfort of the labor unions as better lighting and sanitary conditions were now provided for the members of the union than ever before.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL.

The next speaker introduced was R. M. Hamb, business agent of the Building Trades Council, one of the most successful and energetic young men in Oakland. Mr. Hamb has been gradually rising to the position of business agent and has conducted the office in a most creditable manner. He told how conditions were improving. "During the year 1906 we had 8000 idle men in the city of Oakland to be provided for. You can recognize the strain upon the working members of the Building Trades Council who provided the necessities of life for these men I am thankful to report that conditions are better today and there are but a few idle men in the city of Oakland. On every hand you see new buildings being erected and money being invested in various channels, giving employment to our members I heartily recommend insurance for your union. The benefit of mortuary insurance has been one of the greatest helps to one of the organizations with which I am associated. The Typographical Union is certainly a laudable body I have been to many banquets in the city of Oakland, but have never looked into the faces of a more intelligent and appreciative audience than those here tonight." Mr Hamb's remarks were greeted with a great burst of enthusiasm.

F W. Richardson, publisher of the Berkeley Daily Gazette, paid a tribute to employes, stating the Typographical Union had been responsible for his success as an editor "Many times," said Mr. Richardson, "I have written an article which seemed good logic to me. I passed it out to my linotype operator and when it came back it was better than when it went out In fact, the punctuation and liberty taken by compositor to try to convey to the public what I meant to express very often helped me out considerably. What is good for one is good for both If the publisher is able to secure fair rates for printing or advertising he is very glad to share the same with his employes

THE PRESS

In the absence of W E. Dargie, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, J Clem Arnold, business manager, congratulated Typographical Union No 36 on being able to entertain President Lynch in such an auspicious manner. Mr Arnold assured the members of Typographical Union employed by the Oakland Tribune, which is the largest employer of members of the typographical union in Alameda County that Mr Dargie wishes to co-operate in every way possible to make the Tribune office more like a big home. He wanted every man to feel as though he was a part of the institution and was striving to give them better facilities for performing their work and more congenial environment. He showed how Mr. Dargie had spent several thousand dollars in the last few months in altering the building for sanitary purposes. "The Tribune today has the best lighted and ventilated composing room in the United States," Mr. Arnold said. "I have studied the newspaper offices of the United States on my frequent trips to the East and have found none with such pleasant environment, where the life and soul of the printer can bring itself to the fullest capacity to perform its work. I am pleased to announce Mr Dargie intends to continue this work of sanitation and the office enviornment we hope, will be as congenial as your home Today we have an institution we are proud to throw open to the public at any time as a model neatness and cleanliness Our employees, you will notice, President Lynch, by the look on their faces, are healthful and contented. The best results are obtained by absolute harmony between the employer and employee When a publisher can recognize the trials and difficulties that the members of the Typographical union are compelled to meet with every day, and get down to that level, he is sure to get the cooperation of the employees and the best results Typographical Union No. 36 can congratulate itself on having as its guest tonight a president who in my estimation, one of the most successful leaders and organizers in the United States"

CHEER PRESIDENT LYNCH.

The chief event of the evening, however, was the introduction and address of President Lynch. When President Lynch was introduced by Toastmaster Mallett, the audience stood to a man and cheered and cheered to the echo Mr. Lynch was touched with this display and in appreciation of the same said:

"I was glad to get back to the Pacific Coast and this pleasant country. I was greatly surprised at the marvelous growth Oakland had made, having made an automobile tour of inspection yesterday with the business manager of THE TRIBUNE. The people of the Pacific Coast are the most hospitable, energetic and enthusiastic people in the world. It broadens my ideas to get your views. I would like to pay a visit to the Pacific Coast every three months.

"I sincerely appreciate the courtesies that the Typographical Union has shown me this evening and the great harmony that exists here. We are an agreeable people as long as everything is agreeable"

Mr Lynch went on in some detail to explain the origin and growth of the Printers' League of America. He recognized the rights of employers as well as the rights of employes and by the organization of the Printers' League of America, representing both, the employers and employes today had an organization which, in his estimation, would work harmoniously and solve the difficult situations of the day. He said the Printers League devised a proper solution of every problem coming before those employing labor and the questions of hours, salaries and matters for the betterment of employes would find just and early solution—that it had branched out and now reached every city in the United States—that the Pacific Coast could realize the great advantage of having on the board of directors Mr. Harrington of Oakland, who had been appointed vice president.

HARMONY OF INTERESTS.

A growing tribute was paid to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, an organization of over 300 leading newspapers in the United States employing thousands of men, which has been organized for the betterment of the publishers.

He said: "I would rather deal with an association of publishers than with individuals When matters come before an association of employers due consideration is given them from all viewpoints and after careful deliberation the single members are sure to recognize the justice of the decisions of the association, whereas individual employers are often looking at the thing from a minor viewpoint The best foundation for peace have been laid by the association of employers It is fair minded and a liberal institution, looking into the rights of employers. They believe that the employe should have due consideration and be heard on all technical points and fair consideration is given"

The employers' interest must also have full and impartial consideration Their gain is our gain Their welfare is our welfare We are members of one great organization, striving for one aim, with one purpose in view, that is that the employer may have profit from his investment and that the employe may have consideration, with a fair wage. The American Newspaper Publishers' Association, representing the various publishers has over 45 000 men employed. Since its dealings by arbitration on all points that may arise with the Typographical Union in the last eight years, there has not been one strike of any importance Grant that we have not obtained all that we wanted. Neither did the employer and matters were settled to the advantage of both parties in the controversy.

"In the last eight years 45,000 of our members have been continuously employed in the offices of papers represented by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association where we were guaranteed absolutely a stability of wage and in the five years we have earned $30,000,000. During the panic year the average wage of the 45,000 men was about $900.

WARNING AGAINST DISCORD.

"The disposition is shown among some of our union to prefer charges on the least provocation of one member to another. The disposition of some of the members to establish a prerogative as lawyers is indeed dissatisfying. You are doubtless confronted with minor difficulties Nothing so ferments discord as to resort to the prerogative of preferring charges. I say, gentlemen, once and forever, always desist from preferring charges as much as possible. Because a foreman is a foreman is no sign he is not a man. A foreman has troubles and trials the same as the men working under him. He not only has the individual employes to consider but the employer as well.

"The growth of Oakland and San Francisco in the last three years astounds the world. I compliment you, gentlemen, on such a fine showing tonight and extend my thanks to Mr. Dargie, the publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and the business manager for the very hospitable reception given me. It is certainly a pleasure to be in your midst."

Toastmaster Mallett at the conclusion of the program called the attention of the members of the Typographical Union to the excellent pictures being shown this week at the Orpheum, showing an excellent reproduction of the Printers' Home in Colorado Springs and advised each member to see them before they left the city, as it was one of the best organized and well regulated charitable institutions in the world. The splendid occasion disbanded with three cheers for Mr. Lynch.

DEATH TO STOP PAYING OF RENT

Therefore Man's Last Request Was That His Body Be Cremated

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 18.—"I have paid rent all my life; I mean to quit it when I die," declared Warren Foster, a well known newspaper man in a letter expressing his last wish which was opened after his death in Ogden Saturday

"For the final disposition of my old body," says the letter, "my first wish is that it be cremated. If inconvenient or expensive, they lay me away in what is known as the potters' field. But in no event, under any condition, am I to be buried in any cemetery where they buy and sell lots or charge a rental of any kind for keeping the lots in condition. Any evasion of this request will meet with my hearty disapproval and for which there will be forgiveness either in this life or the next. If my life service has not been sufficient for the community to furnish a place to rest this body when I get through with it, then let them feed it to the more merciful and more kindly coyotes. Do not spend one cent for a lot directly or indirectly. I want no landlord calling me up from my rest to pay him his rent."

The body will be taken to Denver for cremation Foster was a brilliant speaker and writer. He took part in the Populist movement in Kansas and in recent years has been identified with the Socialist party

MAYOR NOY SAVES FLAGMAN'S LIFE

Pulled Unconscious Man From Track Just in Front of a Train

ALAMEDA, Oct. 18.—Mayor W. H. Noy rescued John Stadman, flagman at the Southern Pacific railway crossing at High street and Lincoln avenue, from a possible death last night underneath the wheels of the 7 o'clock westbound local.

Falling on the tracks as the train was approaching the flagman lay there in a stupor. Mayor Noy, who was on the opposite side of the track, saw the plight of the man, who is about 55 years of age, and hurried across the intervening space as the train was almost upon him. Acting with promptness he pulled him from the track, just in time to save him from the engine wheels, which passed over the spot where he had fallen, a second later.

Stadman had been complaining of dizziness during the day, and it is thought that he was seized with a fainting spell and fell on the tracks as he was about to signal to the engine.

GEORGIE WEBER GRANTED DIVORCE

Allegations Made by Husband in Defense Are Unsubstantiated at Hearing

Georgie Weber was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, A. L. Weber, by Judge Ellsworth this morning, on the ground of wilful neglect.

The preliminaries in the case were marked by hte asperity of the answer of the defendant, in which he charged his wife with all manner of misconduct, involved the teller of an Oakland bank as party to his wife's sport and claimed his mother-in-law had borrowed large sums of money from him.

The answer was of the character not favored by the court, and upon motion of the wife's attorney, George E. De Golia, nearly all of it except the title of cause were ordered stricken out.

In the trial of the cause the defendant was unable to produce evidence of his wife's derelictions or of the bank teller's wickedness and instead of his mother-in-law, Mrs Bosthow, owing him large sums of money, the tables were reversed. Attorney George E. De Golia exhibited an account, partly in notes, showing that Weber was indebted to Mrs. Bosthow in the sum of $2500.

The couple have been married only three years.

Significance of the Portola Celebration.

The real significance of the Portola celebration is felt rather than stated. Portola and his reputed discovery of San Francisco bay afford a pretext for pageantry and festive display rather than explain the elaborate celebration which is about to open in all the cities around the bay. Don Gaspar de Portola was the first Governor of California, but he was an undistinguished officer of low rank, and his administration of fifteen months was not distinguished by any important event and was unmarked by any notable circumstance. To only a few antiquarians was his name and connection with the early history and settlement of California known, hence the tremendous civic demonstration in honor of his supposed discovery of San Francisco bay springs from a deeper and more inspiring motive.

The Portola celebration is in reality a great house-warming given by rebuilt San Francisco. The city racked by nature's mighty convulsion and destroyed by fire less than four years ago has risen from her ashes more beautiful, better built and more attractive to visitors and inhabitants than ever before. It is this splendid achievement that is about to be commemorated by a spectacular demonstration as unique as it is captivating to the imagination. San Francisco has called the world to witness the triumph of hope and energy, the victory over calamity and adversity. She has opened her rebuilt homes for a splendid reception as a proof that her ancient spirit of munificence and hospitality has survived the stroke of misfortune and that once more her marts of trade are the busy scene of prosperous endeavor. This celebration has been conceived in honor of her complete restoration as the queen city of the Pacific Coast, and the welcome she extends is given in a spirit of proper pride in an achievement that commands world-wide admiration.

It is the new San Francisco rejoicing in her glory and strength, in her deliverance from disaster, her resurrection from the ashes of desolation. Her harp of melancholy has been re-tuned to gladness, and she has given a gorgeous festival to celebrate her emergence from the shadow, the return of light and prosperity to the places that but yesterday were desolate with ruin and the abode of sorrow. The labor and stress of rebuilding and restoration are past and now the city gives itself over to feasting and dancing in which all, far and near, are invited to join. It is the house-warming of the new city built on the ashes of the old.

Portola! San Francisco redivivus! What's in a name? Much. One can realize it in the affection with which the glories of the old town are named in connection with the splendors of the new. In the laughter and merrymaking runs a note of sorrow for the vanished landmarks of the earlier era, for the old places that are no more, the gathering spots that are now but memories. A nation without griefs is a nation without hopes. A city is a miniature nation. Calamities make sacred her soil, and the broken hearts in her cemeteries endear the past to the living. Around the thanksgiving board, amid the joys of the reunion and the good cheer provided, there comes regret for the dead and the absent; the warmth, light and gaiety are given added zest by the memory of past trials, struggles and privations.

With such feelings will San Francisco celebrate her rise from ruin. While with hearts and homes open she welcomes her guests, in their hearts apart her children cherish memories both sad and sweet of what they have loved and lost. But hark! the music sounds the note of revelry and the mirth begins. Begone dull care while we watch Don Gaspar ride in stately dignity at the head of the procession and the presence of beauty's queen graces the revel with youth and loveliness and flowers. The dead past has buried its dead and San Francisco has come to her own again. That is the true meaning of the Portola celebration.

Fitchburg has also fallen into the line of progress, voting on Saturday for a $75,000 sewer bond issuance by a large majority in excess of the necessary two-thirds.

Secretary Ballinger's emphatic declaration that not only the Alaskan coal lands but the phosphate deposits of the Rocky Mountains should be preserved from private monopolization should be explicit enough for anybody, but it is not likely to satisfy the group of agitators who have been attacking President Taft over his shoulder. The Secretary of the Interior has been charged with aiding speculators to grab water power sites as well as coal and timber lands, but no proof has ever been presented to substantiate the charge. Now he declares that the coal lands and phosphate deposits should be protected from the grabbers. In all probability it will be alleged that he is throwing this out to deceive the public and lull watchfulness to sleep. When people are determined to be dissatisfied a pretext can always be found.

The international naval review on the bay tomorrow morning, which is to be one of the opening events of the Portola festival, will be one of the most unique spectacles ever witnessed on the face of its waters. It will be, moreover, an unprecedented event, owing to the participation in it of vessels belonging to the fleets of the leading naval powers of the world. It can be seen quite as advantageously from the eastern as it can from the western shore of the bay, as "man-of-war row," where the warships are anchored, is located midway in the stream.

Commerce Ready to Come Here.

The growing importance of Oakland harbor in the eyes of commercial corporations and the immense interests at stake in which the municipality is concerned, and with it every resident within its borders, in the coming water front improvement bond election, is illustrated in the statement of the president of the Alaska Packers' Association, to the effect that as soon as the harbor is dredged sufficiently to permit the company's vessels to dock at Fortmann basin all of the association's vessels will load and unload cargoes on this side of the bay. The association's fleet handles seventy-five thousand tons a year.

The significance of this statement and its relation to the water front improvement bonding proposition lies in the fact that the city of Oakland has been practically put in a position where it must demonstrate in good faith its appreciation of what the government has already done, in the matter of deepening the channel to its present depth, by the construction of suitable wharves along its water front which will afford commerce an opportunity to utilize the channel as it is before the government will assume the expense of dredging it to a depth of thirty feet at ordinary low tide and open the channel into Brooklyn basin so that vessels of the type owned by the Alaska Packers' Association can dock and enter and depart to and from the harbor with full cargoes. The bond proposition provides for the construction of permanent wharves whereby vessels drawing approximately thirty feet can dock at any stage of the tide. There are at present few, if any, vessels afloat which have so large a draft when submerged to the load line. The success of the water front improvement bonds, therefore, means that the city of Oakland will thereupon proceed at once to construct wharves at which the largest ships engaged in commerce can moor and assure the deepening of the harbor channel coincident with the construction of such wharves which will make the latter at once available for the biggest type of ocean-going vessels.

The declaration of the president of the Alaska Packers' Association is proof positive that commerce is ready to utilize Oakland harbor as soon as the harbor front is ready to receive it. Commerce seeks accommodations where it meets with least resistance. In its economics, the saving of time, labor and the cost of handling and transshipping cargoes cut a big figure. The water front improvements included in the bond proposition are based on bringing ship and car together and, where road haulage is necessary to accommodate home commerce, reducing distance and cost to a minimum. The intense importance of the coming water front improvement bond election to the future interests and welfare of Oakland and contiguous territory cannot, therefore, be overestimated.

This is to be a "joy" week across the bay, a week of total freedom from restraint and San Francisco a more "wide open town" than in time during its past history.

Every big celebration on the shores of San Francisco bay attracts crooks from all parts of the country to ply their nefarious occupation. While the police authorities on both sides of the bay are on the alert and have taken unusual precautions to protect law-abiding citizens and their property, it behooves every one to be on guard to protect their residences from being broken into by burglars, and their persons, wherever they mingle in a crowd, from being rifled by pickpockets. Every one should be on guard, in particular, against the man who jostles, whether apparently accidentally or deliberately; and in doing so, no consideration should be given to the jostler because he happens to be well dressed, suave and apologetic, for the most dangerous crooks belong to this class. Portola week will doubtless be no exception to the rule and all of the bay cities are likely to be infested by a criminal horde expecting to reap a harvest.

The Chronicle, discussing the proposal to levy a land tax in England, says the tax will come out of the rentals paid by tenants. It would be more correct to say the tax will be added to the rent and will be paid by the tenant.

Largely through Sheriff Frank Barnet's intelligent and energetic efforts a gang of horse thieves that have been operating for the past six months in Alameda, Contra Costa, Santa Clara and San Joaquin counties and shipping the stolen animals to Los Angeles, where a market was found for them, has been broken up by the arrest of one of the principals in the southern metropolis with seven valuable horses stolen from Livermore valley in his possession. The bay counties have enjoyed immunity until lately from any organized gang of horse thieves for a period of twenty years when the Cropper gang was broken up in this city and San Jose under the administration of the late Peter Pumyea as chief of police.

According to the San Leandro Reporter, $200,000 worth of new buildings is in progress in that growing community at present. That is certainly "going some." It give THE TRIBUNE infinite pleasure to congratulate San Leandro on its prosperity.

An Instructive Example of Intelligent Forestry

(Springfield Republican.)

A model for both selective and accumulative forestry seems to be reached in the Vanderbilt estate, called the Biltmore, in the North Carolina Appalachians. This estate embraces 130,000 acres and its forest wealth is preserved and increased constantly, so that there is never a "cleared" area, and never a barren one. All the time it is producing and all the time it is growing. By selection wisely made in this large forest region there are cut every year 4,000,000 feet of lumber, 5000 cords of acid wood and fuel, 1000 cords of tan bark and several hundred cords of pulp wood. At the same time it is stated by the forest service bureau the forest is steadily increasing in value. It is guarded against fire as no other tract in the United States is guarded. Every workman employed is a fire guard. And there are permanent logging roads built—not rough roads to meet a winter emergency, but roads laid out to serve the systematic use of the forest. These roads not only lessen the present cost of transportation, but they reduce the cost of marketing future crops. In fact, this great forest tract is used for profit and for perpetuation. It need hardly be said that these wide wood roads are useful as fire breaks. Moreover, forest planting is practiced wherever it is practicable.

THE SEA FROM HARBORS

From a busy cosmopolitan harbor before a great city I have felt the sea power deeper than that of the land. As into a broad plazza, the ships come freighted, like diligences from diverging roads. Into the harbor they draw—trawlers, merchantmen, navies and liners. From harbor quiet, once more laden, they pass out to the sea-blurred line and mystery of chance again, and our eyes look after.

Off the changing water front of varied craft, among great ferryboats wallowing like armadillos, I watch for the great ocean liner. The city is lit by morning sun. Some child of the New World seems to have built his block houses along the shore of dingy wharves, docks and slips. They shoot up into the sky, and catch pale cloud-colors on their windowed faces, brilliant, giving light themselves. Between their luminous heights point the dark spire of a little old church, precise, overshadowed, not overwhelmed, the finger of Christ. Openwork signs cut across the clouds, gigantic, gayly vulgar. Clock faces loom above sheds and docks, for the harbor has need to be on time. Lackawanna barges paddle along. Tugs, brown and yellow barred, olive green of New York Central, deep red, all advance and swim away, creaming at their bows. Some sidle with alarmed comic cries, others pass like an arrow, the gold eagle screaming, poised over a weathered, impassive man at the wheel.—Atlantic.

Timely Topics

One of the leaders in New York's business world, who is also a conspicuous philanthropist, writes from a vacation resort, where he went to rest: "There is no rest in the country for a man who receives mail. Applications for charity come with the same regularity as at home. Then there are the people who do not come under the head of charity who want assistance, and who apply to a man in the country because he can give the matter more attention than he could at home. These are numerous, but are pressed hard in numbers by the correspondents who have business propositions in which they wish to interest the 'resting' New Yorker. For the man who takes no secretary with him simply because he wants to make himself believe that he is separated from business for the time being, correspondence of this kind makes much work. But seeing all that come is a slight compensation. It strikes me that the most unusual and ingenious demands are made at the time when the writer knows that his letter will be read by the one to whom it is addressed."

"Play cards with a man for an hour and you will know him better than if you had met him in the drawing room every evening for a year," says a German writer. But "Sonia," in a recent number of Figaro, suggests another character barometer. A never failing test is the hotel room. The way a man arranges his room in a hotel shows whether he has been well reared, what his ideas of propriety are, whether his bump of order has been developed, whether he is methodical or slovenly, and one may even know by the way wearing apparel, ornaments and baggage are disposed of in a room which the occupant knows he will remain in only a few days, whether he is thoroughly or superficially educated. "If I had a daughter for whom a young man sued," says "Sonia," "I would have him go to a summer resort where I could surprise him in his hotel room. In less than fifteen minutes my verdict would be rendered on the basis of the room's appearance."

Dr. Neff, the director of the Department of Health of Philadelphia, has started a movement to eradicate adenoids in the school children of the Quaker City. Adenoids, declares Dr. Neff, play a great part in the "backwardness" of children. Suffering from this trouble, the director says, children are unable to keep up with their studies, while the affection deprives them of good health and unfits them to fight the battle of life. That many parents are negligent of this malady the director shows by statistics of the medical inspectors of schools last year. He adds: "By heeding the advice herein given, our future citizens (the school children of today) will be of higher mentality, possess better health, and there will be a smaller dependent class for whose care the taxpayer must provide."

"The country which fails to build good roads is inevitably going to lose out in the prosperity game, the farmer is going to the market that gives him the easiest haul, even though it is a longer one. If he can carry ten bales of cotton to a market twenty miles away on a single trip, he is surely going to that market in preference to one only ten miles away where he can haul but five bales at a load."

ATTITUDE OF JAPAN TOWARD CHINA IN MANCHURIA FREELY DISCUSSED

If the United States should decide that the policy of "the open door" and fair play to trade in Manchuria has been ignored or defied by Japan and should formally protest against Japan's demands upon China and China's concessions a serious phase of Far Eastern politics would at once develop.—Boston Herald.

* * *

Nothing but the military rejuvenation of China and her ability to fight for her rights can stop this progressive absorption of Manchuria by Japan, following her occupation of Corea.—St. Louis Star.

* * *

Will sufficient pressure be brought to bear upon the island empire to make Japan let go of Manchuria—that part of that province which Russia does not control? It is a question which is of great and far-reaching significance, however remote it may appear now to many Americans.—Cleveland Leader.

* * *

Other nations, our own included, are likely to look askance, if not with open protest, at the close treaty agreement between Japan and China. The nations that would not allow China to negotiate a large loan of money upon her own volition, but insisted that it must be divided among them in pro rata shares, are not likely to permit the helpless Celestial Empire to enter into an agreement with Japan which confers such enormous benefits as this Manchurian agreement does.—Wilmington Every Evening.

* * *

If China and Japan do come to a pacific understanding their combined strength will be worthy of notice. It is stated by a Russian authority that in nineteen years there has been an increase of 25 per cent in Japan's population. In 1890 the population of the islands amounted to 40,500,000. In 1909 it is reckoned at 50,000,000.—Philadelphia Press.

Japan, in full possession of Corea, holding a part of Manchuria in an iron grasp, entrenched strongly at Port Arthur and bent upon the extension of her trade in China—perhaps commercial supremacy in the Far East—is a disquieting spectacle to all the nations which have trade interests in the Orient.—Baltimore Sun.

* * *

It is not merely a victory over China which Japan has won, but a victory over the rest of the commercial world. The agreement forced from China is a direct violation of the Portsmouth treaty, which provided for the maintenance of the open door in Manchuria and the control of the commercial relations of that province by China in the interest of the preservation of equal opportunity to trade for all countries.—New Orleans Picayune.

DIPLOMATS SHOULD CULTIVATE SILENCE

Gentlemen who are appointed to high diplomatic posts should cultivate a "grand talent for silence." Above all they should never on any public occasion indulge in any reflections on the government to which they are accredited. If they make any remarks which offend its dignity or ruffle its susceptibility their usefulness may be ended before their duties begin. It takes two to constitute an envoy—the government that appoints him and the government that accepts him. If it is true that China is displeased by certain remarks of Mr. Crane, alleged to have been uttered in the course of his address to the American Asiatic Association, China is not compelled to be elaborately explicit in any criticism of his reported reference to the railroad loan as "a hold up" by which money was "forced" on China. The words were certainly unfortunate, for Washington as well as Pekin. —Boston Transcript.

* * *

The remarks credited to Mr. Crane, the new Minister to China, which are said to have caused his recall to Washington, just as he was sailing from San Francisco, are not of a kind to justify such interference with his plans. Some of them were spoken weeks ago and were fully known to the President and Secretary Knox when he had his last conference with them. The reason for his return to the capital evidently is more serious than this tale would indicate, and presumably has to do with information from the Far East, which has necessitated some revision of the immediate policy of our government in China, though it can scarcely affect the broad outlines previously agreed upon.—Boston Herald.

* * *

If it is true that Minister Crane's public speeches in this country before departing for China to represent the United States at the court of Pekin contained indiscretions which warranted his recall to Washington on the eve of his sailing the incident may not be without its good uses. This is his first experience in public life, and he has yet to learn the knack of saying something without saying too much when he faces an audience of sympathetic hearers. Indeed, the modern diplomat is most successful who can utter sonorous platitudes with an air of solemnity or indulge in witticisms without barbs.—Washington Star.

* * *

The sudden calling back to Washington of Charles R. Crane, the new American Minister to China, almost at the moment he was stepping aboard his steamer for the Orient taxes the ingenious to explain. The Minister was summoned by Secretary Knox, and the head of the State Department appears to have locked up in his own breast the secret of his motive. The action is unusual, in view of the ample instructions that have already been given Mr. Crane and the fact that the President is on the Pacific Coast and available for conference in case of an ordinary crisis.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

* * *

And almost at the same time that Minister Crane is getting his instructions Japan is aggressively tightening her hold on Manchuria and insuring conditions in that part of the world which will be preferential to her merchants and traders, her banking and business interests generally. In the light of this, talk of the open door for American business interests and American goods cannot be taken very seriously.—Philadelphia Times.

Minister Crane has been suddenly recalled from San Francisco to Washington when on his way to China. In his haste to reach Pekin at the earliest day he may probably have left the key to the "open door" behind him.—Philadelphia Record.

Divorce Increases Each Five Years, Says New U. S. Report

WASHINGTON.—The Census Bureau has published a report on marriage and divorce. The investigation of the subject was undertaken by direction of Congress, and grew out of a conference in this city between representatives of various religious denominations. The investigation has extended over a period of nearly five years.

"Apparently the divorce rate, like the velocity of a falling body, is constantly increased," says the report, "and it is impossible to determine statistically from available data just what the results would be if the rate reached at any particular time remained constant; in other words, no statistics bearing on this question of the duration of marriages terminated by divorce have been obtained that accurately represent present conditions or conditions at any particular period, for the conditions are not static, but dynamic."

The statistics cover a period from 1887 to the end of 1906, and the total number of marriages recorded was 12,832,044.

The investigation showed that in the twenty years covered the number of divorces granted was 945,625.

In the twenty years from 1867 to 1886 the number was about 328,716, hardly more than one-third of the number recorded in the second twenty years. The report says that each successive five-year period since 1867 has witnessed a marked increase in the number of divorces.

In 1906 the highest divorce rate per 100,000 estimated population (168) was reported from the western division—a rate which was more than four times that reported from the North Atlantic division (41) and almost four times that reported from the South Atlantic (43). The rate for the North Central division (108) was almost two and two-thirds times that for the North Atlantic, while that for the South Central (118) was two and three-fourths times that for the South Atlantic. Broadly speaking, the divorce rate increases as one goes westward.

Philip B. Heminway, who owns one of the largest peanut farms in America, is spending a few days in St. Paul, the guest of friends in Merriam Park. Mr. Heminway has 550 acres of land in the vicinity of Shreveport, La., devoted entirely to the raising of peanuts.

Having just arrived from the Gulf district that was recently swept by terrible storms, Mr. Heminway was asked concerning the loss of life and property in Southern Louisiana.

"The peanut crop this year will be the largest ever," he replied.

Asked what entertainment the people of Shreveport are planning for President Taft on his visit there in the near future, Mr. Heminway replied:

"I think the great demand for peanuts is due directly to the increased manufacture and sale of peanut butter. This not only uses up all the surplus product, but takes largely from the supply grown for the trade and for export."

Mr. Heminway declined to be quoted on the new tariff bill as viewed in the South further than to say that New Orleans is the greatest export peanut market in the world.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Twenty Years Ago in Oakland

Several horses afflicted with glanders have been shot during the past few days and every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

More West Pointers Needed

Less than 89 per cent of the whole number of officers in the United States army are graduates of the West Point Military Academy and each graduating class is about eighty short of the number necessary to officer the army. These facts will form the basis of an effort to be made next winter by the President and the Secretary of War to induce Congress to increase by 125 the number of cadets to be appointed to the academy every three years instead of every four years, as at present.

The present strength of the corps of cadets at West Point was established many years ago, when the army consisted of only 25,000 men. In 1901 the army was increased to its present strength of 50,000 men and 4500 officers.

Since June, 1898, there have been 3000 appointments to commissions in the army, exclusive of the medical corps, and during that period there have been only 882 cadets graduated from West Point.

The plan to be recommended by the War Department for increasing the corps of cadets provides the appointment shall be made every three years instead of every four years.—Washington Post.

Speediest Boat in the Navy

The torpedo boat destroyer Reid not only established a new speed record for the United States navy on Wednesday, but had the additional distinction of completing the fastest standardization trial on record. Her fastest mile was at the rate of 34.548 knots an hour, and she made 22 runs over the measured mile course in a little less than three hours.

The mean of her five top-speed runs was at the rate of 33.75 knots an hour. The previous record for the United States was held by the destroyer Flusser. Her fastest mile was at the rate of 33.7 knots and the mean of her five top-speed runs was 32.7.

The craft probably will go into commission on October 28. She was built at a cost of $624,000. Her principal dimensions are: Length, over all, 293 feet 9½ inches; breadth, 272 feet; trial draft, 8½ feet; trial displacement, 700 tons. She is propelled by a three-shaft Parsons turbine.—Washington Post.

VALUABLE SILVER DOLLAR

Custom decrees that a gold coin, or at the very least silver, shall be put under the mainmast of each new ship launched. The coin bears the date of the year when the vessel is completed, a fact well known to collectors, who keep an eye on ships that are likely to be the depository of numismatic prizes.

Thus, at Liverpool, some years back, a derelict Yankee schooner was bought for a song, yielding an 1804 dollar, the rarest and most eagerly sought after of all American coins. It sold readily for $7500, and would be worth today at least double that sum, for it was in perfect preservation, having rested in its cotton wool wad beneath the hollow stepping of the mast since the day it was first placed in position.

Its recovery was the result of foresight and business enterprise, combined, of course, with special knowledge. A man passing the worthless hulk on the day of the sale noticed the date, 1804, on her stern, and rightly guessed that she might likely be the bearer of a dollar of that year.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Culprits to Be Punished in Navy

That the Navy Department does not intend to permit officers or men of the navy to escape punishment after they have been convicted by court martial is shown by the extreme measures that are being taken to apprehend Warrant Machinist Michael C. Gobel, formerly attached to the cruiser Colorado.

Gobel was convicted of various infractions of the regulations, among which was the misappropriation of money. He was sentenced to be dishonorably dismissed from the service, but before the sentence could be executed he made his escape from the brig of the cruiser Tennessee at San Francisco, where he was confined.

Now the entire resources of the government are being used to recapture Gobel, and if that is accomplished a precedent will be set which, it is expected, will tend greatly to lessen the number of such escapes. When he is captured he will be charged with desertion, and, upon conviction, a long term of imprisonment can be added to the original sentence of simple dismissal.—Washington Post.

Bachelor's Musings

Even when a man knows his limitations he'll pretend he hasn't any.

The only good resolutions that aren't broken are those we postpone putting into effect.

A man can never bluff his wife into thinking he is wonderful; he can bluff her into making him think she does.

The more a boy's education costs the less he seems to be able to cash in on it.

'Candy Kid' Has Temper Fits; Hobnobbed With Bartenders

NEW YORK.—George R. Hall, a Yale man and civil engineer, who is suing in the Supreme Court to annul his marriage to Francis May Williams-Hall, through his counsel, in his appeal from an order for alimony and counsel fees, in the Appellate Division, yesterday told the court that his wife was known as the "Tennessee Kid" among the sporting element of the West.

Mrs. Hall, who asked for alimony of $2,000 a month and $500 counsel fees, charged in an affidavit that she was forced to leave the house of his mother, Mrs Emily Louisa Hall, where she lived with him at No. 610 City Island avenue, Long Island City, and in order to avoid starvation and walking the streets in the cold winter days of March and April, 1909, she signed a separation agreement, in consideration of the payment to her of $65 a month This was but a pittance, she says, considering the princely style in which the plaintiff keeps himself, owning and driving two fast automobiles, living at the rich clubs and dining on the finest in the land, on an income of upward of $15,000 each year.

It is asserted by Mrs Hall that her husband is secretary and treasurer of the Di-el-ite Manufacturing Company, No 4901 Stenton avenue, Philadelphia, and receives the interest from the estate of his father, George W. Hall, a trust fund managed by the Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposit Company, and Peter Boyd, of Philadelphia, the principal of which he will receive in 1914 Mrs. Hall in her affidavit to the court adds that she was divorced from Howell Jones at Denver, Col., September 29, 1908, and was married to Hall six days later at Cheyenne, Wash.

Mrs. Hall was allowed $125 a month alimony and $250 counsel fees, which Hall says is half of his income, which is not as large as claimed, and that the automobiles are owned by his mother, and his business venture is a young and struggling concern. W. C. Margeson, his counsel, says the court has no jurisdiction to fix alimony in a suit for annulment of marriage, and that the marriage should be annuled on the ground that the divorce in Colorado was not legally binding because of lack of jurisdiction.

"Fits of temper" is claimed by Hall as one of the reasons his wife could not live with his mother, and that after one of these outbursts toward his mother the other woman had to go, and he further charges that his wife's acquaintances in the West included the manager of a prize fighter and others, among whom was a bartender, by whom she sometimes was called the "Tennessee Kid" and the "Candy Kid." Decision was reserved.

CHICAGO'S PUBLIC LIBRARIAN.

Chicago, to judge from its newspapers, is much pleased with the result of its attempt to choose a city librarian by Civil Service examination. Henry Edward Legler, secretary of the Wisconsin Library Commission, has been selected from a list of nineteen applicants by a special examining board, headed by Herbert Putnam, librarian of Congress The salary of $3500 paid to former incumbents of the place will, if newspaper demands are met, be raised to some figure between $7000 and $10,000.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Simmons College, Boston, boasts it is the only place in the world where women can be trained to plan and to manage lunchrooms. The demand for such training has more than trebled in the last two years. The college has a steady increase in girls studying the lunchroom course, and graduates are going into almost every State. Every detail of lunchroom organization and management is taught. There is instruction in cooking and in service. The girls are taught how to buy, how to figure profit and loss and how to handle a waiting staff.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay has fitted up beautiful quarters for the Equal Franchise Club in the Metropolitan building in New York. Her own private room is done in blue, green and gold. The walls are in a floral design of pink and green, with a black background, which shades into a sky-blue ceiling. The carpet is dark green and the furniture is upholstered in pale blue and decorated with gold. Her desk is an inlaid Sheraton and the fittings with copies of a picture of a young mother with a baby, larger opportunities for motherhood being the sentiment of the organization.

Miss Amy F. Ching is a pretty Chinese girl with a mission. She arrived here recently from Honolulu on the liner Mongolia and is on her way to Wellesley College to equip herself for the work she means to do in China. Miss Ching was born in China, but was taken when a baby to Honolulu by her parents, who both died there when she was still a youngster. Her only dower was a desire for knowledge, with the determination to acquire it. Her friends on the Mongolia pointed to her with pride as a "self-made girl." Friends saw that the little almond-eyed orphan was cared for during her schoolday life. She supported herself during her course at the Normal School from which she was graduated with honors. From two years' work as a teacher she saved enough to take her through Oahu College, from which she was graduated this summer. She is now going to Wellesley, where she intends to specialize in mathematics, Latin and English. After graduation she will return to China and devote her life to imparting the knowledge for which she has worked so hard to her sisters in the Flowery Kingdom.

Some of the idle pratlers have a titbit to roll under their tongues in the reiterated stories of the domestic infelicity of a beautiful American girl who a few years ago was married to a continental diplomat of social rank. Neither of the young people had any money to speak of and the most ardent affection languishes for want of fuel. Continentals think that every belle who dresses well and puts on jewelry has barrels of bonds, and friends of this girl assert that her wooer took her wealth for granted and no one undeceived him. Tales are that his family is finding it quite expensive to keep up his Washington establishment, and the kin of his wife refuse to contribute anything. The estrangement was apparent all last winter when the husband lived at the Metropolitan Club and the wife made long visits to her former home. This summer, say the gossips, the breach has widened and an arctic lead is predicted during the coming winter.

History Shows That Women Make as Brave Soldiers in Warfare as Men

Amazons of Many Races Have Proved Valiant Warriors

Many people hold that the inability of women to "bear arms" is a conclusive argument against female suffrage. It is curiously inapplicable to this country, anyhow, when five men out of six have never borne arms and no government dares to propose compulsion, says Frederick Boyle in the Pall Mall Gazette. But the question is interesting in itself—could women defend their country as soldiers? As a matter of fact, every one knows that hundreds of individuals have done so, and so many of them were identified by accident after years of service, or even after death, that it may be suspected an equal number escaped notice in days when no one troubled much about the "common soldier."

Some of them were distinguished for bravery and martial qualities, but is there record of one who flinched from her duty? In fiction the girl dressed up, however bold in words, proves to be an arrant little coward on the terrain when she feels a sword or pistol in her hand and sees another threatening her.

Is it so in fact? The case of these sexed beings we read of sometimes who fight for a lover is not to the point. But authentic history tells of a good many duels between ladies of birth and the highest social standing. Very rarely did they show a want of courage when strung to the fighting pitch. On the other hand, such fire eating dames would not represent the average.

But nobody worth attention has disputed that women are as brave as men—if duly aroused; some, indeed, have asserted that they are braver. The question is whether they could, if they would, serve as soldiers.

Perhaps it is not merely "academic." In a time which the elderly recollect with ease it might have been dismissed on the ground that such service is unfeminine—not only barred by nature, but forbidden by the laws of nature. We cannot urge that objection with confidence now, so widely have the bounds of feminine propriety been extended.

From the nature of things women soldiers can only be found, as a class, among barbarians—up to this time, at any rate. The Dahomey Amazons made a poor show against the French, but Burton had been much impressed with them forty years earlier—and he was a judge. The discipline was terribly severe in his time; he did not doubt they were very formidable troops. Relaxation of discipline ruined them.

The mythical Amazons claim a word, since Professor Sayce adduced such striking evidence to suggest that they were the warrior priestesses of Hittite invaders. Of the American Amazons it may be recalled that Humboldt thought the legend not impossible, and he had studied the original records.

Very few who have written on the subject are thus qualified probably. But Alfred Wallace has shown us lately that Spruce, the great botanist, looked into the evidence carefully and formed a strong opinion that it was trustworthy. But much more interesting are the shield maidens of the Vikings. Would that we knew more about them personally.

The historical sagas allude to them, but always, so far as I remember, in a matter of fact way, as to male personages. One of the very grandest poetic sagas is that of the Shield-Maiden Hervor, but even this takes nearly everything we particularly want to know for granted. She dressed as a man and joined the Vikings. Presently she gained the command of her party—and the story opens, true in the main, probably.

The circumstantial account of the battle of Bravoll between Sigurd of Denmark and Harald Hilditoun of Norway mentions several Shield-Maidens who commanded troops. One even bore Harald's standard. All fought like heroes or demons, and I think that all died on the field. But it seems that they were only women who rose to command by daring and military genius. Is there any authority for the legends of Viking bands wholly feminine?

The old Irish "Book of Lecan" says casually, "for men and women went alike to battle in those days;" and the record of tribal obligations called "Mustering" reckoned women among the fighting strength.

Moreover, the "Life of Abbot Adamnan of Iona" tells how he, hearing of this dreadful practice, went to Ireland, called an assembly of chiefs and bishops, and persuaded them to pass a law, still extant, entitled "Lex Innocentium," which forbade the summoning of women to war. It seems likely, however, that they still turned out of their own free will—indeed the practice is not yet extinct, by all accounts.

At the present day in Europe the Montenegrins and their hereditary foes of Albania include the women among their fighting forces, or did, at any rate, a few years ago, before Prince Nicholas had organised his army. All departments of supply were left to the wives and daughters, also the recovery and transport of the wounded. But when the fighting line was seriously pressed the women reinforced it. Assuredly toms, in spite of the prince's reforms. toms, in spite of the princes reforms. had Austria advanced into the Black Mountain the other day.

Pretty Young Mother Gets Policeman TO 'HOLD BABY'; FAILS TO COME BACK

Maybe it was the good-nature in the face of Patrolman Martin Walsh of the Eldridge street police station that attracted a young woman to him as he sat on a bench on the uptown platform of the Thirty-fourth street station of the Third avenue "L" road at 6:30 o'clock last evening. He was in civilian dress. The young woman, whom he described officially later as "very pretty, dark, about 22 years old, dressed in a light tailor-made suit," stepped hesitatingly up to him and said sweetly, with a smile just as sweet:

"I hate to trouble you, sir, but would you mind holding my baby for a few minutes? I feel ill, but I'll be back in a few minutes."

Walsh looked into the soft, pleading eyes and stammered that nothing would give him greater pleasure than to assist her. He held out his arms and a three-weeks' old girl was tenderly placed in them.

"Take good care of her," admonished the mother, as she started away.

"Never fear; I will," replied Wlash, gallantly.

He did. He took good care of the baby girl for a full half hour. Then he investigated. The young woman had disappeared. It dawned upon Walsh that he had been fooled. He took the baby to the East Thirty-fifth street police station. Lieutenant McAdam, suppressing a grin, told him he'd better take the kidlet to Bellevue hospital.

Walsh did so. Then he started out to try to find the young woman with the sweet smile and tender eyes who had forgotten to come back for her offspring.

Indian Woman Who Loved 'Nice' Furniture Has Favorite Bureau As Headpiece Over Her Grave

WINNIPEG.—So much attached was a certain Indian woman at Alert Bay, in the far Northwest, to a bureau of American make that when she died it was placed as a monument on her grave, instead of the traditional totem pole. Mr. Harlan I. Smith, of the department of anthropology at the American Museum of Natural History, who has just returned from an extended tour of Alaska and British Columbia, in quest of selected totem poles for the adorning of the Northwest Indian Hall in the institution, saw this memorial and took a picture of it.

The article of furniture is of the Grand Rapids type, and in its mirror, which is exposed with it to all the rains that fall and the winds that blow, is reflected the graveyard scenery and the picket fence which surrounds the grave. As Mr. Smith understands it she did not own the bureau in her lifetime, but would have liked it, and consequently when she passed away her family bought it because she had admired it so and placed it on her last resting place.

The scientist, while traveling through Alaska was able to acquire several totem poles of various periods, and from Bella Coola he is shortly to have one sent which has long stood before the house of a chief. He also found the sites of several primitive villages and arranged for the transportation here of many interesting utensils and implements used by the Indians.

All these things are beginning to grow scarcer, for the insidious ravages of civilization are everywhere, and the Indians are so busy working in the salmon canning factories that they find little time to proclaim their ancestry by means of the elaborately carved totem poles or to make them as head stones of their graves. The use of a bureau as a monument impressed upon Mr. Smith the need for collecting totem poles while he could, and those which he either has bought or contracted for are genuine weather beaten antiques.

The scientist was accompanied in his travels by Mr. Walter L. Taylor an artist who went in search of material for the mural paintings which he is preparing for the Indian Hall. They are to be placed so that the totem poles will form a setting for them.

Why Japanese Babies Are Good

"Americans wonder at the amiable temper of our Japanese babies; the real marvel is the measure of good nature which the American baby manages to retain after all he is called upon to go through in dressing," says Adachi Kinnosuke, in The Delineator for November. "How on earth can the most perfect of saints, let alone a baby, be expected to retain his Christian virtues! His legs and neck are twisted into all sorts of double knots three, four times a day, that they may be squeezed through a tight-fitting shirt. When I saw, for the first time, an American baby dressed, I thought that, compared to it, the Anglican and Catholic Church ceremonies were of a mere 'ring-a-rosy' simplicity. Our baby clothes are certainly simpler. Incidentally they are wide-minded and wide sleeved enough to let a baby grow in them without its putting up a ring fight.

"Baby dresses are cut, along general lines, the same as the kimono of the grown-ups. Only for the baby the sleeves and skirts are longer and wider in proportion, so that they will cover the bare feet; besides protecting the bare hands, the long sleeves save faces from heartless scratchings.

"After the first bath, the nurse takes out an undergarment, fits it into the inner side of an outer garment and then lays the dresses, thus fitted, upon the soft padded mat floor and simply and naturally puts the baby into the open folds. No screams. What excuse can the baby have to yell? Simply a matter of dress—nothing more. But see what a difference it makes in life! To the American mother the century old hysterical fit of screaming so terrifying to her; to the Japanese mother, perhaps, the sweetest melody on earth—the mellow cooing-of-content."

Real Names Must Be Told by Women at Chicago General Delivery

CHICAGO.—Three thousand women, part of the army of persons in Chicago who obtain their mail at the general delivery window in the Chicago Postoffice revealed to the postal authorities, many under protest, their true names and addresses. They were required to sign "cards of identification," and these were placed in card indexes for reference. The requirement tears away part of the veil of secrecy under which many a clandestine correspondence has been carried on.

Bride-Elect Is Stricken on Eve of Wedding

ATLANTA, Ga.—After coming from Chickasaw, Okla., to become the bride of R. P. Luther, a prominent insurance man of Atlanta, Miss Louise Murphy was stricken by ptomaine poisoning on the eve of the wedding and died in a few hours. Her body will be taken to Chickasaw tomorrow, arrayed in bridal robes and accompanied by the man who was to have been bridegroom.

The romance of Mr. Luther and Miss Murphy dates back over a period of three months, the two becoming acquainted in July when the latter was visiting here. Before Miss Murphy left Atlanta in September for Oklahoma Mr. Luther had the assurance that she would return at an early date and become his bride.

Miss Murphy returned Sunday and the wedding was fixed for that day, but she was fatally stricken as soon as she reached here.

Newport Society Women Wear Turkish Yashmak

Society women have taken up the Oriental fashion of wearing the veil.

All because of their fear of germs.

And the "yashmak"—the thick veil worn by the denizens of the harems, made germ proof, is the sensation of the hour at Newport and other fashionable resorts. Advocated by such leaders in the exclusive set as Mrs. Howard Cushing, Mrs. Austin Gray and Alice Burnham, the yashmak is now the most important part of miladi's everyday apparel.

Whether motoring, driving, walking, golfing or playing tennis, the fashionable Newport woman now wears her "yashmak" as protection against infection by germs

Beautiful filmy things made of all colors, in every material that is costly, and transparent, these are the yashmaks worn by the society queens.

Some of them cost as much as $500, being nothing more or less than ancient veils imported from the old palaces on the Bosphorus, where the deposed Sultan Abdul Hamid had his abode.

Quite different from the ordinary veil, the "yashmak" is worn precisely as it is in Arabia and Turkey. It is started at the back of the head, brought forward, covering the entire face but the eyes, and then fastened again at the back with a curiously wrought scarab or serpent.

Like the mantilla in Spain or the fan in Japan, the yashmak in Turkey is the acknowledged weapon of flirtation. It is used with the greatest effect, and is the recognized sign of vanity of the fair sex in the Far East.

But its primary purpose along the water front of the great summer home of millions is to serve as a protection against all kinds of infectious germs.

"There is another reason why the girls of Newport wear these veils," says Miss Constance Warren, one of Newport's belles. "They are afraid of catching those horrid cold sores. Our lips would feel fine all covered with blisters, wouldn't they?

"When one is out in the air these days with the likelihood of a strong wind, one is apt to catch a fine bunch of them, and that would be anything but enjoyable. One of the most painful things in the world is a sunburned mouth. That is one of the reasons that the girls down here wear the veils. And it's a good [illegible]

DEFENDS HIMSELF IN POLICE COURT

Accused Jewel Thief Says He Was Once a Practicing Lawyer

Andrew Wagner, a smooth stranger, who last week was arrested for the theft of a diamond brooch from the jewelry store of Voss and Rich on Thirteenth street, was found guilty this morning by Police Judge Smith and will be sentenced Wednesday. Wagner maintains a discreet silence as to his past but admitted in court this morning that he was an attorney and had practiced law for two years. He handled his own case skillfully enough to bear out his statement.

The facts as produced at the trial were that Wagner entered the store and asked to see some diamonds. He was waited on by Miss Ethel Mills, a clerk. He asked to see a diamond brooch, which struck his fancy and also some other jewelry. He placed a newspaper he carried in one hand over the brooch and caught the jewelry up in his hand. He then selected another gem which met with his approval and paid for it with a spurious check. As he started to leave the store he was placed under arrest.

After his conviction today he asked that the probation office investigate his case and Judge Smith granted his request. The police will attempt to look up his antecedents in the meantime.

TRUSTING WOMAN ROBBED BY MEN

Met Two Strangers, Drank With Them and Now Mourns Her Watch and Money

Mrs. Troya Espinosa, who resides at Castroville, but who came here a few days ago to get a glimpse of metropolitan life, reports to the police that she was the victim of misplaced confidence last night and as a result is minus $35 in cash and a gold watch. According to the story she told, she met two young men near Thirteenth and Fallon streets.

Their company was so agreeable that she went with them to several restaurants where they indulged in intoxicating liquors. On her way home, Mrs. Espinosa says, that she was robbed of her purse containing $35 and her watch. Mrs. Espinosa screamed but by the time assistance arrived the two men had disappeared.

BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN IS FOUND IN BAY

The body of an unknown man, who had evidently committed suicide, was found floating in the waters of the bay yesterday by F. W. Timmons of 1634 Adeline street. Timmons towed the body to the shore near the Sixteenth street station and notified the morgue officials who took charge of the remains.

The pockets in the clothing of the deceased were filled with rocks, which were sufficiently heavy to keep the body submerged for probably a month. The remains were so badly decomposed that it is probable that identification will never be made.

The deceased was dressed in a pair of gray trousers, a mixed gray coat, a colored shirt and cheap underwear.

At five minutes to six last night Mr. W. J. Laymance telephoned to his sales manager at Rock Ridge Park, and asked how many lots had been sold. The answer was "Fifty-four."

¶ Mind you—and Sunday, a short day, too.

¶ Generally people do not get around early on Sunday morning.

¶ They sleep a little later and take more time with their breakfast and their morning paper.

¶ But before 6 o'clock fifty-four people had walked over those beautiful hills, had selected their lots, had paid their deposits, and had gone away feeling that they had done one of the wisest things they had ever done in their lives.

Do you wonder that we feel pleased when we consider our opening sale of Rock Ridge Park?

¶ We admit we are feeling good over it, but we are not surprised.

¶ We feel good, not only because we sold so many lots—that fifty-four sales were closed by evening—but also because we proved to ourselves that our confidence had been well-founded.

¶ We felt all along that up there on those splendid, rolling hills we had what you were looking for, if you were a successful man or woman seeking the ideal homesite.

¶ But there had been some who had told us that we couldn't sell lots now, no matter how good they might be nor how low the price.

¶ Those doubters, you see, were impeaching your good, sound judgment.

¶ They were trying to shake our belief that the successful man who is sincerely looking for a home place can almost always manage to have the money ready when he finds what he wants.

It is our privilege to tell you now that yesterday's opening sale of Rock Ridge Park was the most successful inaugural sale ever held around San Francisco Bay

¶ What was the reason for this phenomenal success?

¶ You who went out to Rock Ridge Park yesterday know the answer to that question.

¶ You saw there, a majestic sweep of rolling hills, bathed in glorious sunshine.

¶ You stood on some of the many eminences and you saw Claremont with its homes of wealthy men and its million dollar hotel immediately to the left of you.

¶ You saw the broad, green acres of the Claremont Country Club touching the southerly lines of Rock Ridge Park.

¶ You saw Piedmont a little way to the south.

¶ You looked out upon the unrivalled beauty of the bay and the Golden Gate and knew that in no land on God's green footstool could that vision be excelled.

And then you considered the work that had been done by the firm that has pledged itself to make of Rock Ridge Park the beauty spot of Northern California.

¶ You saw the broad boulevard, seventy-six feet wide curving from Broadway toward the heart of the tract.

¶ You saw the streets winding in easy, gentle curves from the lowest to the topmost point.

¶ You noted the sidewalks that had been laid, the heavy, substantial curbs that had been built, the beds of scarlet geraniums that had been planted.

¶ You knew by that time that the average frontage of the lots was eighty feet, and that you would accordingly never be cramped and crowded.

¶ You had studied the close-fitting restrictions, which eternally safeguarded you from undesirable neighbors, such as negroes and Orientals; from flats and apartment houses; from cheap shacks; from more than one house occupying each lot; from unkempt grounds.

¶ You remembered that we had pledged the reputation for business integrity that we have been twenty-six years in building in this city when we said that we had set aside $100,000 more for further improvements.

AND FINALLY YOU CONSIDERED THE PRICE OF CLAREMONT PROPERTY FROM $50 TO $100 PER FOOT; YOU CONSIDERED THE PRICE OF PIEDMONT PROPERTY FROM $50 TO $100 PER FOOT; YOU CONSIDERED THE PRICE OF EVERY TRACT WITH WHICH YOU HAPPENED TO BE FAMILIAR; YOU TALKED IT OVER WITH YOUR WIFE AND FRIENDS.

And then you walked down to the office which we have built on the tract, told one of our salesmen which lot you had chosen, paid your deposit, and went away happy in the knowledge that you had done a good morning's work.

¶ Our opening sale was successful even beyond our fondest hopes.

¶ But the selling of Rock Ridge Park has really just begun.

¶ Upon you who read these paragraphs and have not yet seen Rock Ridge Park we urge prompt action.

¶ We are not trying to tell you that all the lots will be sold in a day, nor in a week, but if you delay you may find when you do go out that the lot which you would very much like to have has already been sold.

Come to our office tomorrow and we will take you out in one of our motor cars. Or take the College Avenue cars, tell the conductor to let you off at Lawton avenue, walk one block east.

Our salesmen will be there to assist you in any manner that you might desire

NATIONAL TYPE NOW 'DISHONESTY'

August Belmont Declares Old Style American is Gone--All Seek Wealth

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — August Belmont is so preoccupied with his large interests, so reserved, and he so dislikes publicity, that he has only once or twice in his life given an interview. To a correspondent who called upon him, however, Mr. Belmont made the following extraordinary statements:

"I sometimes think," he began, "that in the rapid development of this country we have lately developed a national type wholly unlike the American citizen which we were proud of and which we regarded as typical a generation or so ago. We all used to rejoice in an Uncle Sam who was honest, fearless, self-reliant—a fine old chap, even if he was sometimes pictured with hayseed in his whiskers, a toothpick in his mouth and a jack knife in his hand.

NO MORE HONESTY.

"No truthful cartoon of Uncle Sam of this day could present such a figure as that. The brave, independent, generous, self-reliant look would be supplanted by cunning, suspicion, an eagerness to get on the winning side of every question, and with a certain sycophancy denoting deterioration of independent manhood

"I am far from being a pessimist," Belmont added quickly. "I would not have you or anybody think that I have not unbounded confidence in the ultimate return of Uncle Sam to his former character. All, I mean is that at the present time the national character is not what it was a generation ago, when the republic was in a better mood. I repeat that I am not a pessimist, nor as I disposed to exalt the past and deprecate the present. But I think I am simply stating a fact patent to every thoughtful man."

"And what, in your judgment, has produced this change?" he was asked.

BLAMES NEWSPAPERS.

"The couses are many," he replied. "Not the least of them is the growing proneness of the newspapers to exaggerate the power and importance of men entrusted with large business and financial obligations. This has created the mental habit in the people of individualizing effort, policies and achievements, and of attributing to individuals power and influence beyond the capacity of any human being to possess. It is the same in politics as it is in business. Parties ought to stand only for the organized purpose and thought. But under the constant representations of the press the public has come to regard parties as being controlled by mere chances

"In politics now it is either a Roosevelt or a Hughes, a Bryan or a Hearst. This sort of journalism has put false notions in the public mind that are working harm to the nation. It means, if persisted in, that the people will, sooner or later, despair of their own power and let the control of affairs drift to one man or set of men.

"And then will come the man on horseback. Sometimes I think I hear him coming over the hill. He won't stay long, I admit, but the country's awakening and rehabilitation will be fearful and costly."

GREAT SHOW A SUCCESS

Automobile Representation the Finest Ever Seen on This Coast

The brilliance of the opening of the Portola automobile show Saturday justifies the prediction that it will be the most successful affair of the kind ever given this side of Chicago. The show room has been transformed into a fairy land by the decorators and the individual exhibited are arranged with unusual taste A veteran automobile man who has attended every important show ever given in this country declared on the opening night that while it was not the largest show he had ever seen it was undoubtedly the most beautiful

At the last minute several dealers, who had not expected to receive their new models in time for the show, made tardy application for space and by the generosity of their fellow dealers who consented to give up some of the space which had been allotted them they secured places on the show floor Acting on the advice of the show management the dealers have not overcrowded their space and in spite of the fact that every inch of the floor is signed for the show does not present that confused aspect so often noted in similar exhibitions

The show has already become the headquarters for out of town dealers and buyers and as the result the row is almost deserted. Even the demonstrating is done from the show and the parking space provided for the cars in the rear of the show has been a scene of activity during the daylight hours of the show

Tonight the show will be given over to the Automobile Club of California and the other motor organizations of the state Many of these will be represented by large delegations and it is generally expected that one of the most enthusiastic nights of the entire show week will result. The members of the various clubs will seize upon the occasion to do some active missionary work for the good roads bond issue which is the question nearest the motorist's heart at the present time

The entrance to the show has been better designated and the people who got lost Saturday night in trying to find their way in will have no further difficulty.

WIFE BIT OFF HIS FINGER; WANTS DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18. — Because wifie bit his finger off and was even jealous of his male companions, Fred F. Silver, an actor, secured a divorce from Hazel F Silver in Judge Van Nostrand's court today.

Both are members of Pantages' circuit and while in Los Angeles the husband alleges that he was in his room, talking to a friend when Mrs Silver knocked on the door. She became impatient when he did not immediately answer the rap, and when he finally did appear, she bit off his finger.

Freight and Passenger Agent Forsythe Retires From Duties

COLONEL G. T. FORSYTHE, Southern Pacific Company's First District Freight and Passenger Agent in Oakland, Who Retires November 1.

After twenty years' continuous service on the Huntington and Southern Pacific Company's lines in the East, in Texas and in this State, Colonel G. T. Forsythe, who has been the Southern Pacific's district freight and passenger agent in Oakland since 1901, when the agency was first established here, will retire from the post on Noember 1.

STRENUOUS EIGHT YEARS' ACTIVITY

Up to the time Col. Forsythe was installed in the position he is about to vacate, the freight and passenger business in Oakland was given very little attention by the Southern Pacific Company. He was, therefore, called upon to establish the company's business here on an entirely new basis. All freight rates had to be rearranged to put the wholesale business of Oakland on a San Francisco basis. He also devoted his energies to secure the location here of manufacturing interests, for which he recognized that exceptional facilities existed on this side of the bay.

MANUFACTURING DEVELOPMENT.

The next step in hand was to encourage manufacturers to locate here by the company giving terminal rates on freight to all stations between Oakland and Antioch, which he induced the company to grant. This was the entering wedge to making Oakland and neighboring east bay shore and harbor territory a manufacturing center, which has since been growing apace. Indeed, through the granting of these terminal facilities the Southern Pacific company has been the direct means of quintipling the manufacturing industries on this side of the bay during the past eight years.

FAILING HEALTH BLAMED.

Colonel Forsythe is now required, through the failure of his health, to relinquish the strenuous activities of railroad life, in which he has been actively engaged since he was fourteen years old, and seek restoration in other environments and outdoor life. Since the San Francisco earthquake and fire the bulk of the work previously carried on in the freight and passenger departments at the Fourth and Townsend railroad offices was thrown on the Oakland office, and the tremendous strain, the nervous energies and the drain on the physical and mental vitalities have completely shattered Col. Forsythe's health, as it has wrecked the nerves of many others in the railroad company's service. He was urged by the late Dr Dunn, before his death, to make a change of environment and occupation to avoid a complete breakdown. It is now Col. Forsythe's intention to retire to his fifteen-acre vineyard at Rutherford, in hopes that outdoor life will serve as a long-needed rest and restore him once more to perfect health. He has made many warm friendships during his administration of the company's office in Oakland, and, while regretting his retirement, he will carry with him their best wishes for his complete restoration to health and future success

SHEEHAN FACES THE PENITENTIARY

Fruitvale Constable Taken to Capital for Breaking Parole

Taken to Sacramento from where he came to this city several months ago while under probation after conviction of an attempt to murder his wife, David Sheehan, a disgraced former deputy constable of Fruitvale, faces a penitentiary charge This county has relinquished custody of the prisoner, who will not be tried for robbery of Earl M. Sproule, a Fruitvale man, the morning of September 30.

Sheehan was convicted before Superior Judge Hughes of shooting at his wife in Sacramento, and was admitted to probation. He left the capital for this county, and got an appointment under Constable Allen as a deputy After an indifferent career as peace officer, Sheehan fell to playing poker, and his ill luck threw him again into jeopardy.

At 3 o'clock on the morning of September 30 he lost a big jackpot to Sproule He arrested his adversary, together with two spectators of the game named Fred Nelson and William Keith. He led the three men to a dark street corner, drove Nelson and Keith away at the point of his revolver, and made Sproule give up $77. Then he freed Sproule and was not to be found until late the next day, when Under Sheriff Hanifin and Deputy Sheriff Reilly arrested Sheehan

The prisoner confessed to Assistant District Attorney Hynes He made a break for liberty while being taken from Hynes' office to the county jail. Hanifin fired a shot, which brought to the scene Patrolman McCreedy, who caught Sheehan hiding in a vacant lot.

Later the Sacramento episode was learned, and after a conference between Sheriff Barnet and District Attorney Donahue, it was decided to send Sheehan back to Sacramento for sentence on the assault to kill charge, rather than put this county to the expense of a trial in the Sproule case.

All Scottish Rite Masons are directed to attend the funeral of our late brother, Charles Dexter Pierce, 33d degree, at New Scottish Rite Cathedral, corner Fifteenth and Madison streets, at 1 45 p. m., Tuesday, October 19, 1909.

SAYS PARTY LINES WILL FADE AWAY

"Republicans Thrive Because Democrats Are No Good," Says Zueblin

KANSAS CITY, Oct 18 — There is one reason that the Republican party remains intact, Professor Charles Zueblin of Boston, the sociologist educator, said at the Hotel Baltimore today, and that is because the Democratic party is no good

In the weakness of the one lies the strength of the other, he declared, but soon there will be neither Republicans nor Democrats, but a great division of the voters into progressives and conservaties. The beginning of the end of both parties, in his opinion, was reached in the last Congress, when party lines were swept away in the scramble to vote for Cannon and the Aldrich tariff. In the future the people are to vote first of all for men, in his belief Only sheep-like people pay any attention to party lines now, he declared.

Professor Zueblin came to Kansas City to deliver two lectures here under the direction of the City Club.

"Aldrich and Cannon are the national pests," he declared. "The sooner the people get rid of them the better for the country. Cannon is an old fashioned man, who has done nothing along modern lines and because of the working of his mind, coupled with financial conditions by which he either profits or fancies desirable, he is a back number. It is not necessary to call him a rascal to recognize that he is a nuisance. All this talk that we must have rules in the House of Representatives to transact business is a subterfuge. Of course we must have rules, but we do not have to have a Czar. We have perfectly imbecile legislation suggested every year and we have manifestly got to weed it out, but it can be done by democratic methods as well as by autocratic methods."

MUIR IS ON TRIAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 18. — William A Muir, who will be remembered as having been captured in Denver after a sensational flight in an automobile, and who was brought here by Detective Sergeant Freel, was placed on trial in Judge Dunne's court today. He is charged with embezzlement.

OFFERS RELIGION AS DISEASE CURE

Rev. Charles R. Brown Says There Is No Short Cut to Health or Holiness

The need of a closer, fuller and more vital application of religious truth to the every day needs of man was pointed out last night by Rev. Charles R. Brown in a sermon on "The Church and Disease," delivered at the First Congregational Church.

Doctor Brown declared that neither health nor holiness was to be attained by any short cut, but he said that moderation, soundness, absence of fret and worry, all of which made for health, were conditions that the church could be of great assistance in effecting. He said in part:

"The church must face a larger responsibility in these days when society is demanding a fuller and more vital application of the gospel of Christ to the needs of every day life. The souls of men caught in the grip of some vicious habit, it may be physical or it may be mental, are crying out for genuine deliverance, and it is the duty of organized religion to make effective response.

NO ROYAL ROAD TO HEALTH.

"There is no royal road, no short cut to either health or holiness by taking something out of a bottle or by skillful juggling with mystic phrases. Soundness in any department of life must be worked out according to law, and it can best be worked out in conscious cooperation with and in serene reliance upon that unseen one who works within us to perform his good pleasure.

OPPORTUNITY OF CHURCH.

"The church can help to confer that poise and balance, that sense of proportion and fine quality of moderation in daily life which makes for health. By its regular worship the church can add to the interior courage and high resolve of its people as these qualities of life make for soundness. The fret and worry of modern life lies at the basis of half of its ills and the religion of Christ is a sovereign remedy for those mental and spiritual conditions which undermine health.

"I long to see the church restore a fuller measure of the warmth and vigor, the gladness and spontaniety belonging to early Christianity in its combined ministry to the souls and to the bodies of men. And I believe it lies within the power of the church of the twentieth century by discerning the signs of the times and by following the leadings of the eternal spirit to accomplish just that."

MADE A CENSOR OF GIRL CLERKS

New Departure Made in the Chicago Department Stores

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Mrs. C. Hernville has been appointed official censor of the costumes of feminine employes of one of the largest State street department stores. Her edicts for the attire of the young women were issued last week.

Simplicity is the keynote of the orders issued to the girls. Now the saleswomen must appear neatly attired in a black or white shirtwaist, black skirt, hair done neatly without artificial adornment and minus all exaggerations of the fashion.

Here are some of the things which Mrs. Harnville eliminated from the attire of women and girl employes of the store:

HER SEVERAL DONT'S.

Hair puffs, rats, false curls and hair bows.

Low neck collars and short or extremely long sleeves.

Peek-a-boo waists or sleeves.

Powder, paint or other make-ups.

Flashy rings, buckles and pins.

Waists of other colors than black or white.

Skirts of any other color than black.

Every employe who fails to dress according to the standard adopted by the store is notified by the censor to call at her office the following morning before reporting for work and is sent home if she has not complied with the request of the night before.

Jewelry worn by women and girl employes is limited to one ring and a locket. Low collars are not allowed but high collars reaching to the ears may be worn.

Sleeves of shirtwaists must be three quarter length and it is required that the shirtwaist be tailormade.

WILL INSTRUCT MEN IN RAILROAD WORK

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 18—That the young men of this section of the State may have an opportunity to become properly trained in the needs of railroading and the necessary business instructions required in such lines of work, the Southern Pacific has opened a school here where all the branches of railroad work, including shorthand and telegraphy, will be taught.

The institution is a branch of the school founded in Los Angeles two years ago by General Manager E. E. Calvin of the Southern Pacific The demand for competent telegraphers and stenographers was the starter for the schools, and this being an important railroad center where much help is required, the railroad company decided to open one here. A wireless telegraphy course will be included in the list of studies as soon as a machine is installed.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO STOP LIMITED TRAIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—The question whether the steamship rate war is seriously cutting into the railroad passenger business is apparently answered affirmatively by the Southern Pacific. That company today withdrew the new daylight limited train which was to have been started next Wednesday between this city and San Francisco, and it will be indefinitely held up.

The Southern Pacific caused the Pullman Company to gather the necessary equipment for the train, its officials meantime being loud in their declarations that the water traffic fight was not affecting rail traffic a particle. Everything was in readiness for next Wednesday, when the railroad notified the Pullman corporation that the service would not be put on until the 24th. This was followed by a notification today that the train may not be run before spring.

Billie Burke Opens Her Oakland Engagement Tonight

BILLIE BURKE in "Love Watches," who will be at the Macdonough Theater October 18th, 19th, 20th and Wednesday Matinee.

Billie Burke, the charming little ingenue actress who has achieved an almost phenomenal popularity during her short three years of stardom, will appear at the Macdonough Theater tonight in her latest vehicle, "Love Watches," a snappy little serio-comedy translated from the French by Gladys Unger.

As John Drew's leading woman Miss Burke traveled all over the United States and everywhere the critics were loud in their praises. And in "Love Watches," it is said, the little actress has a play that suits her admirably.

The piece is the work of two French playwrights, MM. de Fleurs and de Caillavent, who also wrote "My Wife" and "Inconstent George," the comedy John Drew has just made a hit in in New York. It tells an interesting story of a little French girl, who falls in love with her handsome cousin, tells him so with entrancing naivete, marries him, becomes jealous, attempts to flirt with another man by way of revenge, and—fails in the attempt, because she finds she loves her husband too dearly to do such a thing, and it is all clean and wholesome, even if it does bear the "made in France" stamp and for that very reason it is all the more interesting and worth while.

Miss Burke's supporting company, an unusually strong one, includes Vernon Steel, Ernest Lawford, Maude Odell, Kate Meek, Murial Ashwynne, Stanley Dark, Frank Martin and Ernest Cossart.

Miss Burke will remain at the Macdough for half a week, giving one matinee on Wednesday, October 20.

PLEADING OF WIFE GETS HIM FREEDOM

Boxmaker Put on Probation After Being Charged With Selling Liquor

BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—The earnest pleading of his wife earned a freedom from prosecution for Andrew Marsicano of West Berkeley on a charge of unlawfully selling liquor in this city. The woman appeared before Justice Edgar this morning and pleaded for the man's release on probation, setting forth that he is the sole support of herself and six children. She said if her husband was found guilty he would be unable to pay a fine and a jail sentence would work a hardship on herself and children.

In consideration of this Justice Edgar put Marsicano on probation until January 17 of next year, and admonished him that any violation of the probation will result in the extreme punishment being imposed Marsicano is a boxmaker, employed in Oakland, and in the evenings he conducts a small tamale stand in West Berkeley. It was charged that he was selling liquors in this stand besides tamales.

WORK TOGETHER THOUGH DIVORCED

Fresno Couple Separate After Matter of Fact Way

FRESNO, Oct. 18. — Regarding the severance of their matrimonial partnership in the light of a business transaction, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Aldrich continue their employment in the same office while the matter of their divorce has been going on through all the gyrations of the law.

Both husband and wife are employed at Holland & Holland's establishment in this city. He is the assistant manager and the wife is bookkeeper.

They are frequently brought into association during the course of their daily labors and while the divorce proceedings continue on their way.

Behind the charge is the fact that the wife persisted in earning wages as an employe for others when he desired her to remain at home and care for the household.

This she refused to do and made such a condition the marital bondage was uncongenial to the spouse and in a matter of fact way the divorce was decided upon as the only way out of the dilemma.

The husband has secured his decree and neither show in their business relations other than the utmost courtesy to each other.

FITCHBURG BOND ELECTION CARRIES

Contract for Sewer System to Cost $75,000 to Be Let Soon

FITCHBURG, Oct. 18.—Last Saturday the Fitchburg Sanitary District held an election which called for $75,000 for the purpose of constructing a system of sewers in that locality. The election had to carry by a two-thirds majority and it carried by more than 3 to 1. Last year the bonds failed, but now they will be sold at par and will bring 5 per cent interest. When they are sold the entire district will be sewered by mains and laterals and this will mean for Fitchburg an increase in land values and bring many people to settle here. New homes will spring up, it is declared, all over the district.

REDEEMING BONDS.

One-twentieth of the bonds will be redeemed each year and in twenty years from the time they were voted the sanitary district will have paid the principal and interest in full.

A contract for the sewering of the district will be let this year. For the running expenses of the district a tax of 16 cents on the $100 valuation was levied last year and will be paid in November and April. The first payment on the bonds will be made next year.

The Seminary Park sanitary district will hold a sewer bond election for $75,000 November 18, at which time the voters of that territory will be called upon to put every effort forward to raise that sum with which to construct the sewers.

ANOTHER ELECTION.

The polling place will be at the store of Frank G. Tasney, East Fourteenth street near Sanitary avenue. The officers of the election will be N. Paulson and J. M. Hughes, inspectors; A. Combatalade and George Dement, judges; Ellis Kimball and A. W. Potter, clerks; James McDonough and T. F Chambers, ballot clerks.

The members of the Seminary Sanitary Park are Frank W. Arnold, president; John W. Foster, F. S. Moss, H. C. Miller and W. A. Robbins. F. E. Moore is sanitary inspector.

DEATH IS STILL LONDON MYSTERY

Police Unable to Learn Cause of American Diplomat's Untimely End

LONDON, Oct. 18. — An autopsy was held today following which it was decided that Mr. Buchanan had died of heart failure.

LONDON, Oct. 18. — An inquest into the death of William I. Buchanan, the American diplomat whose body was found in Park Lane Saturday night will be held on Wednesday. The official papers and personal property found in the rooms occupied by Mr. Buchanan at Claridge's Hotel have been turned over to the American embassy.

Investigation thus far has failed to throw any light on the movements of the diplomat during the few hours preceding his death. Friends who had seen him during the day say he appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. He left his hotel just before the dinner hour on Saturday but where or with whom he dined or how he spent the evening has not been learned.

There were no evidences of assault or robbery and it is believed that death was due to heart trouble or an apoplectic stroke.

GREAT THINGS ARE EXPECTED OF GUNBOAT SMITH

MANY EXPERTS THINK HE HAS GOOD CHANCE TO BEAT TAYLOR

Sailor's Showing While Boxing With Ketchel and Johnson Causes Fans to Take a Liking to His Work---Ketchel-Johnson Aftermath

By EDDIE SMITH.

TOMORROW night at the West Oakland Club the management will start a man in the main event of the evening that many of the critical fans from the other side of the bay believe has a good chance to become the future champion of the world. This feeling has been brought about by the startling improvement that Gunboat Smith—for that is the young warrior's name—has shown since he first commenced boxing in this locality. Twelve years ago Billy Delaney showed Jim Jeffries at the old Dewey Theater and advertised him as the coming champion of the world. At the time people laughed at the veteran trainer and he was the brunt of much ridicule. He cared little for all this talk, however, and in the course of time reaped his reward by Jeffries attaining the blue ribbon of fistiana. The officials of the club at the west end of the city would therefore not be in very bad if they had seen fit to play to the sensational and advertise the Gunboat as "the coming champion of the world." The best proof of what is expected of Smith by the critics is the fact that he has been asked by at least three of the best-known managers in California to let them handle his affairs.

SMITH GOOD PROSPECT.

Smith, like many another good prospect, may prove a false alarm when stung in a real contest and he may explode and blow up like a can of dynamite, but that he is a good prospect there can be no doubt. In the first contest that Smith had here he met a big colored gentleman from Arizona known as Joe Collier, who knew about as much about a pair of boxing gloves as a pig does about a clean table cloth. Collier was stowed away in jig time. For that win Smith should expect no great credit. It is the showings that Smith has made with Ketchel and Johnson while they were training that makes the fans take a liking for him. Compared with the amateurish showing he made when boxing with Hugo Kelly, when the Italian was training at Alameda for the Papke contest, it proved conclusively that the Gunboat is on the "improve." Smith will be opposed by Lew Taylor in the contest of tomorrow night and he will find that he is against a much tougher proposition than the colored man from Arizona. Taylor is confident that he will be able to stow the sailor away before the ten rounds have been fought and is of the opinion that he will prove too clever for the sailor to hit with the swinging punches he uses. The bout will probably not last the limit, for both men are hard hitters, but so long as it does last, the going should prove highly exciting.

SPECIAL EVENT.

In the special event of ten rounds Dan Sullivan and Tim O'Neil will hook up for ten rounds. O'Neil is the highly recommended pupil of Joe Choynski, of whom the veteran pugilist wrote the writer some few days ago and of him great things are expected. O'Neil is not exceedingly clever, but he is a fighter from the ground up and the longer the battle goes and the rougher the going the better he should show. Sullivan is a third brother to the Montana Sullivans and has already shown once at Los Angeles where he tumbled a big negro over for the count in the first contest he had on the coast. The remainder of the card is made up of contests between Frankie Edwards vs. Gene Sullivan, Jimmy Fitton vs. Toby Miller and a four-round curtain raiser between Billy Mitchell and Young Gans.

KETCHEL-JOHNSON AFTERMATH

The aftermath of the Ketchel-Johnson contest has been livelier than any that has followed a pugilistic event held in this neck of the woods for many years and unfortunately much of it is made up of suspicious gossiping that tend to make the affair appear a fake.

There are always a certain number of very honest people who believe that everyone and everything is a fake except that in which they themselves are connected with. The man that says the Johnson-Ketchel bout was prearranged is either near-sighted or was not at the ringside. The feigned groggyness of the big colored fighter and the manner in which he went to the floor are subjects for argument, for did he go to the floor for the benefit of the pictures or did he pull off a Fitzsimmons trick on the white man?

When people argue about that incident they have every reason to believe that Johnson faked that knockdown, but there is nothing wrong in that act and the quickness with which he finished the white man on regaining his feet makes it appear as if he did so to pull Ketchel into a wild rush. In this he was successful, for although several of the papers in describing the contest said that Johnson rushed at the white man their version of the affair is all to the bad.

KETCHEL LOST HIS HEAD.

As soon as Johnson regained his feet, Ketchel did just what many of the old timers said he would — lost his head and sailed in with jaw wide open and arms swinging like flails. Johnson took one step forward as the white man approached and the white man ran into his straight right punch. There was no series of punches as some of the writers have said. It was one clean right hand jolt

Bob Fitzsimmons pulled Peter Maher into defeat twice by make believe groggyness and also beat Joe Choynski that way. The colored man and Ketchel had no agreement that the white man should stay a certain number of rounds for had this been a fact Johnson would have bet that Ketchel would stay ten rounds and there was not a bet recorded on this number of rounds.

That the champion allowed Ketchel to stay for the benefit of the pictures there is not the slightest doubt, but in doing this there is nothing that should be criticised, for there is not a critic who, were he placed in the same position of Johnson, would not have done just the same thing. Johnson said that he would win in fifteen rounds and he did so and the legitimacy of the final knockout has not been questioned by anyone

JOHNSON NOT KNOCKED DOWN.

The writer has been asked several times whether he believed Johnson was knocked down or not and his answer has always been no and always will be the same. The blow that landed on the back of Johnson's head was by no means heavy enough to put the colored man down. Ketchel never hit the big black once with enough force to even knock the smile from his face and no matter what Johnson, Ketchel or Welsh say it will always be the opinion of at least nine out of ten of the critics at the ring side that Johnson fooled Ketchel and made him do just what he had been advised not to do, rush in with arms flying and chin unguarded. Willie Britt is out with a request that Johnson give Ketchel another chance but he is not sincere for he must know that Ketchel has absolutely no chance with the powerful champion. Britt is busy boosting the stock of Ketchel and for this he can not be blamed, but another match between the big negro and Stanley would be a huge joke, as the pictures will show.

KETCHEL GREAT FIGHTER.

Ketchel is a great fighter, he will be able to go along and beat many of the heavyweights and might have a good chance with Sam Langford, in fact I am of the opinion that he has a chance with any man in the business with the exception of Johnson, but to tackle Johnson again is folly and the fans would not patronize such a contest. Britt is quoted as saying that he will not consider the challenge that Billy Papke has sent to Ketchel through Louis Blot and is also quoted as saying that Papke is not the sort of a fighter that the fans want to see in action. "He covers up when hit and is not very game, Ketchel and he would not draw any money," is what Britt says. In this Willie is mistaken, for Papke will draw and the fact that he has offered to meet him in a forty-five-round contest and fight winner take all, if Ketchel wants it to go that way, makes it appear as if Ketchel and Britt were not overly anxious to take a chance at Papke. If Britt is not anxious to have his fighter take another chance with the Kewanee man let him say so in a statement that will make his reasons clear, but to knock another fighter and say he is not the sort that the fans like to see is rather severe. Ketchel and Papke would make a great match, but if Ketchel has taken on the weight that has been claimed, he will never be able to make the middleweight limit again and this might prevent the match taking place. Papke has sent a challenge, however, and it is deserving of a better answer.

The moving picture films have been sent to New York in the care of Tiv Kreling and will be exhibited there first. San Francisco will not have a chance to see them for some time, as it will take many days to print them and return them to California. Jimmy Coffroth expects to leave in a few days for New York. While in New York Coffroth will try to land the Johnson-Jeffries contest.

* * *

Jack Johnson will leave for the East or Los Angeles some time this week, but before going he will be tendered several receptions by his colored friends. Johnson says that he has followed Jeffris enough and that the big white man will have to set some day that the two can meet before he will even think of a Jeffries match.

Russell of Alerts Wins His Own Game in Ninth

In a closely contested baseball game played yesterday afternoon at the State League grounds, the Alameda Alerts took the measure of the Phoenix tossers by the score of 4 to 3. Though Harry Krause was scheduled to pitch and many of the fans journeyed to Grove Park with the expectation of seeing the "star" twirler in action, he was not put in the box, Brother Joseph believing it best to hold him over till next Sunday, when he will work against the Invaders.

In the first inning Simpson pounded out a homer for the Collegians. In the same round the Alerts took the lead, scoring a brace of runs. In the fifth the Phoenix took the lead, 3 to 2, but in the ninth Pitcher Russell of Alameda took it unto himself after two outs and with two on the bags to win his own game by smashing out a double in left field, scoring the two and bringing the score 4 to 3.

Johnson Was Under-rated Say the Eastern Critics

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—When James J Jeffries arrives here from Europe either Thursday or Friday he will prepare to immediately sign articles for a fight with Jack Johnson, according to James J. Corbett, who had a three-hour interview with the champion just before he sailed from England and who is quoted in a cable message received here as saying:

"Jeffries will certainly fight Johnson. The public may have believed that he was bluffing but it was due to Jeffries desire to see whether he fit himself for the ring. He is fit now and will fight. I was surprised at his appearance I have not seen him in such good condition for years"

The defeat of Ketchel by Johnson was a surprise to Eastern sporting men in that the negro champion displayed such remarkable skill, strength and agility. While it was hardly expected that Ketchel would whip Johnson, it was expected that the result would be different. Sporting authorities now agree that Johnson has been underrated, rather than that Ketchel was overestimated and that Jeffries has a much more difficult problem with which to contend than was known before the Ketchel fight. The consensus of opinion here is that Jeffries' vulnerable point will be his wind, which, it is feared, has not improved through five years of idleness.

MODESTO DEFEATS MAXWELL.

Beavers and Seals Play Tomorrow at Freeman's

Portland and San Francisco will begin the battle royal tomorrow afternoon at Freeman's Park for the decisive games in the fight for the Coast League pennant. While is it practically certain that the Seals will cop the rag, McCreedie thinks otherwise, and is bringing his strongest aggregation from the north to put forth his rights as a claimant for the championship of 1909. Oakland played its last game on the local field yesterday and tonight leaves for Los Angeles, while Vernon goes to Sacramento for a series.

* * *

As a token from the Oakland fans Duffey Lewis was presented yesterday morning with a beautiful diamond-set stickpin. Lewis will go East next spring to play with the Boston Reds.

* * *

Bill Reidy announced yesterday that the Oakland Coast and State league teams would play a series after the close of the season. The games should certainly prove a great drawing card.

Oscar Vitt, who has been playing ball for the Modesto Reds, has been signed by Danny Long and will be given a try out.

Johnson's Victory Ties Up Traffic in the South

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 18.—Jack Johnson, the Galveston negro pugilist, has tied up traffic on the Mississippi river in this section. Big steamboats are docked at several ports, owing to scarcity of labor with which to supply a crew and river men blame Johnson's victory over Ketchel for prevailing conditions, as all the "roustabouts" are celebrating The James Lee, one of the largest Mississippi boats, is tied up here, although she was to have left Friday Deckhands picked exclusively from the negro race refused to enlist, in order to remain ashore and hear the returns from the battle, and such conditions have continued since the victory of one of their race.

Koestner, Whalen and Fitzgerald were pounded freely in the morning. Fitzgerald replaced Whalen in the third.

The one run off Portland was made by Martinke when he clouted a homer in the sixth. To show their appreciation for what McCreedie has done for them this year the players presented their manager with a pair of elk-tooth cuffbuttons in his turn at bat The leader answered the compliment by slamming the ball out and starting the run getting.

In Great Soccer Battle Possibles Beat Probables

Fighting every minute in one of the most exciting soccer games ever played in California, a picked team known as the Possibles defeated the Probables yesterday afternoon at the Presidio Athletic grounds by the score of 3 goals to 2. A record crowd was on hand to cheer the warring contestants, and not until the last few minutes of play was the battle decided. The winning team will meet the British Columbia star aggregation next Saturday at the Stadium.

Anderson and Selkirk of the Rovers both played a star game as well as Grant of the Independents. The playing of McRitchie, Bernard and Hunter was also very conspicous.

The first goal was the result of a fine shot by Aitken from the fifteen-yard line, and Donohue put on the next after a corner kick had been nicely placed in front of the goal.

THE POSSIBLES SCORE.

After a fine dribble by Elliot he passed to Pike on the left, and the Rover forward beat McFarland with a hard shot. The score was 1 to 1 in favor of the Probables at half time.

After the interval the Possible forwards played a fine game. Downie hit the bar with a stinging shot and a minute later McRitchie saved a hard one from Pike. Downie got another chance and put the ball in the net with a fast shot. Five minutes before the end of the game Bernard got a good cross from Pike and scored the winning goal with a fine shot.

The selection committee of the association will tonight announce the team to meet the Britishers.

ALL PITTSBURG CELEBRATES

Pirates Worshiped by the Frenzied Fans at Forbes Park

PITTSBURG, Oct. 18.—The Pittsburg baseball team arrived in Pittsburg yesterday morning. Today civic clubs, old time baseball players, amateur teams, fans and other organizations, the Mayor and his official family and more than 50,000 people are expected to crowd Forbes field, where the team will be welcomed home with praise for the honor brought to Pittsburg. Congressman James Francis Burke will deliver the principal address and present the players with checks for their share of the receipts of the seven games. Each player will receive more than $1800.

"BABE" ADAMS' COCKTAIL.

"Babe" Adams, the Pirates' pitcher who brought three victories to the Pittsburg team in the championship series, has risen to fame like a rocket. The "Adams Cocktail" is all the rage.

"Babe" Adams explains how he defeated Detroit three times:

"My success in pitching can be attributed to the slow drop ball. I discovered in the first game that Detroit could not hit this kind of ball to any extent.

"The slow drop I alternated, first out and then in. It went to the outside of the plate, beyond the reach of the batter, but if the batsman was within hitting distance the ball was low and its slowness caused a false estimate of the strength required from the batter. The ball which went inside the plate and dropped at the same time was the most effective I used. Detroit could do nothing with that at all.

"But I did not overwork the drop ball. Gibson sized up the batters and we knew when it was safe to put them straight over the plate. The most trying times while I was pitching was when Detroit showed one of these famous spurts of strength at bat. I worked harder than ever and was fortunate enough to hold control."

St. Yves Breaks Marathon Record; McLean Collapses

SEATTLE, Oct. 18.—Henri St. Yves won the Marathon derby yesterday in 2:32:39, breaking his own world's record of 2:40:50 3-5, made at the New York Marathon derby. John Marsh, the Englishman, was second, several laps behind. Johnny Hayes of New York was third and J. F. Fitzgerald fourth. Harry McLean, the Hopi Indian from Phoenix, A. T., from whom much was expected, ran beautifully for the first fifteen miles, then began to lose steam, and collapsed completely in the twenty-second mile.

When the shot was fired for the final lap the French runner let himself out and made the round in whirlwind fashion. He appeared to be in good condition at the end of the race.

Besides finishing second, Marsh has the honor of breaking the ten-mile record of 57 minutes and 18 1-5 seconds made by St. Yves last April. Marsh's time for the ten miles was 54 minutes and 50 seconds flat. At this time Marsh was running a yard ahead of St. Yves, who soon passed him.

STOCKTON TAKES DOUBLE-HEADER

Hoag's Remarkable Twirling Gives Millers Chance for Pennant

STOCKTON, Oct. 18.—By winning a double-header yesterday from the Invaders in the fight for the State League pennant, Stockton has gone baseball daffy again. The morning contest was captured 3 to 2 and the matinee one to 0, but only after twelve innings of as hard baseball playing as has been seen on the local grounds this year. The bright star in both games was little Pitcher Tracey Hoag. He was on the firing line Saturday and yesterday stood the brunt of battle for nineteen innings, never wavering or showing signs of weakness throughout. It was a wonderful exhibition of nerve and grit that he displayed, and last night and today he is the real hero in the City of Mills. Nothing like it has been seen for many a moon. On all sides the most talked-of affair is the slab work of little Hoag. By taking the double bill Oakland and Stockton are now tied, and in all likelihood the deciding game will be played on neutral grounds either Sacramento or San Francisco. There is a protested game that the National Commission will decide on, but it seems to be the consensus of opinion that it will not be counted as an official contest.

LARGE GATHERING OF FANS.

The large turnout of fans were kept keyed up to a high pitch through one continual display of remarkable playing. Sensational stops, long running catches, close decisions at the plate and a rivalry exceeding any previous contest made the afternoon melee one round of pleasure. Inning after inning passed without any scoring, and when the Invaders were prevented from getting a tally in the ninth, after securing two hits, the bleacherites howled themselves mad. The winning run was made after two outs. Burke drew a pass, stole second and scored on Spencer's hot drive along the third-base line, which Sheehan just touched with the tips of his fingers, deflecting the pill toward the bleachers.

Photograph of St. Joseph Institute Baseball Team of West Oakland.

The baseball team of the St. Joseph's Institute, West Oakland, which has been playing great ball this season, will cross bats next Thursday at half-past one with the St. Josephs of San Francisco. A great game is expected, as both teams have been putting up a rattling good article of bal and have been practing hard of late for the big event. In the games in which both teams have been contestants during the summer the majority were won. There will be a large delegation of rooters from across the bay to watch the exhibition. Harry Krause, who won a great name for himself by his admirable pitching for Connie Mack in the American League, will umpire. The line-up of the two teams is as follows:

TRIBUNE BOYS BASEBALL LEAGUE

TRIBUNES BEAT LEAGUE LEADERS

Lehnhardts Lose Hard Fought Battle in the Twelfth

In one of the hardest fought games of the Tribune League season, the league leaders went down to defeat at the hands of the Tribunes yesterday at Grove Park by a close score of 3 to 2. For twelve innings the two teams warred and tussled before the winning run was made. At the end of the eleventh round the score read 2 to 2, but the plucky Tribune tossers broke the dead-lock in the twelfth.

Anderson who did the twirling for the scribes, won his own game. The first batter up in the twelfth, he clouted out a double to left. Ross, who was sent in to bat for Pfleigher, grounded to Lowe, who threw to first. On the play Anderson started for third. Lehreau returned the ball and in trying to make the catch Lowe fell down, allowing Anderson to cross the rubber with the winning run.

Besides winning his own game, Anderson pitched splendid ball; the first game he twirled in many moons, allowing seven hits, fanning seven and passing two. His support helped him out a great deal, only two errors being made behind him.

FERNANDEZ FANS SIXTEEN.

Fernandez, who opposed Anderson on the mound, also pitched a good game. In the twelve innings he disposed of sixteen batters, who could do nothing but wiff the air. He was a little more liberal with his passes, seven players walking to first.

The Tribunes started the trouble in the second inning by scoring one run. With two out Penberthy walked and scored on Martin's double to right.

The Lehnhardts tied the score in the fifth. Mason singled, reached third on two passed balls and tallied on Ackerley's sacrifice. The candy kids forged ahead in the seventh. Horseman singled, stole second and registered on Ackerley's double to right. The game was again deadlocked in the eighth by the pencillers. Pfleigher singled, pilfered second, took third on R. French's single, and crossed the pan on A. French's timely hit.

The Tribunes had a fine chance to win in the tenth frame. With two out, Anderson drew a pass, French hit to Fernandez, who overthrew to first, Lind singled, filling the bases. It was up to Thompson to win the game, but all he could do was to pop out to Webb. There was nothing doing till the twelfth, when Anderson won his own game.

TRIBUNE'S GREAT PLAYING.

The Tribunes played a brilliant game in the field. Lane on first accepted twenty-two chances without an error. Martin on second also played a fine game, having eight assists and two put-outs to his credit without a mishap.

Smith, catcher for the Lehnhardts, had nineteen put outs to his credit without a miscue. He was the only player to make more than one hit, having made two. The boys must have been out for a record in the length of time, as it took two hours and forty minutes to play the twelve innings.

Results of yesterday's games—At Freeman's Park, first game, Rutleys 5, Zinggs 0; second game, Reliance 4, Heesemans 3.

At Grove-Street Park—Tribunes 3, Lehnhardts 2 (twelve innings.)

To show their rejuvenation is not a mere passing piece of good luck the Reliance tossers repeated their work of the Sunday previous and won their second straight victory in the Tribune Boys' Baseball League. The game was played yesterday afternoon at Freeman's Park with the Heesemans as opponents. The score was 4 to 3.

Not until the ninth inning was the exhibition decided. From the fifth round on when the Reliance lads took the lead 2 to 1 the battle grew interesting, and for awhile it appeared as if the tailenders had the affair in easy fashion, but Pitcher Osequeda unexpectedly grew unsteady in the eighth and his opponents made life miserable for a few minutes. He allowed two to get on the bags. A balk advanced them to third and second. It was here that Strull proved himself a pinch hitter by swatting in the two with a three-bagger tieing the score. In the ninth Reliance fought like the trojans of old and only after the liveliest kind of a tussle succeeded in putting over the winning run. Catcher Ruiz of the Reliance was put out of the game in the melee for getting too obstreperous. He was called out by the umpire on a close decision at the plate and for showing too much temper was ordered out of the game, Archie Lewis taking his place.

HAFEY STRIKES OUT FIFTEEN.

While Hafey twirled remarkably for the Heesemans, striking out fifteen and all three batters in the third and sixth innings, he was touched up in critical moments, Ruiz especially taking a liking to his curves, securing three hits out of four times up. Powers, Orth and Hastings also obtained two bingles apiece. Osegueda had another of his good days and after the initial round had his enemies "a-going south." Three bingles were registered by the Heesemans right off the jump, as many as they obtained all the balance of the game. Brilliant support was accorded Osegueda, Goldwater in left robbing Strull of a triple and Coates covering the territory around second la Lajoie style.

The Heesemans were the first to draw blood. In the first inning Strull singled through short, took second on Orth's overthrow to first, third on Stewart's infield hit to Gleason and home on Bertheaud's bunt through Osegueda. Reliance turned the tables in the fifth. Orth and Ruiz singled through short, both scoring on Hastings' drive to right along the first base line. Ruiz tallied the third run of the Reliance. In the seventh he lined a corking three-bagger to deep left and circuited on Hastings' Texas leaguer over short. Strull's turn to prove himself a hero came in the eighth. After Hafey had been hit by a pitched ball, Meadows had walked and both advanced on a balk, clouted the horsehide to the left garden for a triple, clearing the bases. He attempted to make home on Stewart's grounder to Orth, but a perfect throw nailed him at the plate.

Orth took it into his own hands to make the deciding run. The first up in the ninth he singled to left, Ruiz followed with his third hit. Orth stole third and on Strull's throw to Bridgon which was missed came home. Ruiz tried to make the rubber on Hastings' grounder to Bertheaud, but was declared out. For kicking at the decision Ruiz was ordered from the game.

RUTLEYS KEEP UP WINNING STREAK

Campi's Assortment of Curves Puzzles the Speedy Zinggs

The Rutleys kept up their winning streak by defeating the speedy Zinggs in the first game of the double header played yesterday afternoon at Freeman's Park by the score of 5 to 0. The story of the victory is mainly a recital of the classy fielding of the Rutleys and the superb pitching of little Campi on the one hand and the loose work of the Zinggs on the other. The lads from the Isle City were unable to hold the ball, and five errors were chalked up against them, the bobbles coming just at a time when they proved the most costly. Had Whalley been accorded the support that was given Campi the game would have been a mighty interesting and close one.

As it was it was interesting, but from the fourth inning on when the tailors brought in a brace of runs, the game took on the appearance of an uneven match. Neither twirler had much the better of the argument in the strike-out department but Whalley permitted eleven hits to his opponent's six. Several of the eleven were of the scratchy order, as were some of the six off Campi. The latter, however, scattered his in such a manner that no damage resulted from them. The boys behind him stood their ground when they were assailed the hardest, Walsh on short playing a "Hans Wagner" game and the other players eating up everything that happened to stroll their way.

RUN GETTING.

In the fourth round the Rutleys took it unto themselves to capture the contest. Rowlands singled and stole, scoring when Mendle made an overthrow to first of Mills' grounder. Lacey's single brought in Mills. The exhibition was cinched in the fifth. De Luce struck out, but Catcher Maderios muffing the third strike placed him safe on first. He immediately pilfered, tallying when Walsh slammed out a two-sacker. Hockins' error and singles by Rowlands and Petosa registered Walsh. The Rutleys made their last run in the eighth. De Luce worked Whalley for a ticket, took second on Walsh's out and home on Rowland's third hit.

At no time were the Encinals real dangerous. One down, Segrave and Creagh singled in the fifth but their comrades did not find themselves strong enough to score them. Little Creagh's nifty fielding in left was one of the features of a forlorn cause. He nabbed three difficult chances.

ATHENIANS WIN FAREWELL GAME

Great Rally in the Sixth Does Trick; Seals Take the First Game

OAKLAND bid farewell to the local fans by dividing the honors in yesterday's battle with San Francisco. The morning affair at Freeman's Park was a one-sided affair in which Jimmy Wiggs proved the victim. The climax to the increasing score of the Seals culminated in the seventh, when Miller and Davis propelled the ball over the fence for a home run apiece. The slugging feats ended with three runs in that frame and Wiggs retiring in favor of little Dank. The little twirler went in cold, but he managed to hold the top notches to one run in the eighth.

Danny Long tried out Rex Ames and the new twirler made a creditable showing, the Athenians only getting six hits.

In the afternoon Oakland won a great 5 to 2 victory, Boice pitching against Browning. Up to the sixth the Mohlerites held the Oaks safe, 1 to 0, but in that spasm as neat a trick was turned as ever was pulled off this season. Oakland made five runs without taking breath, to find out how it was done. The feat so pleased Bill Reidy that it will give him palatable food for thought the whole winter and with the emphasis of the if.

Even IF the Oaks do not capture the rag they accomplished a result that will be a source of great satisfaction for months to come.

After Browning had passed Cameron, Kelly laid down a neat bunt, which Mundorf tossed away at the first station. Browning could not steady himself in time and the result was a base on balls to Cutshaw, filling up the bases with nobody down. Terry McKune laced a fast grounder down to second. Captain Kohler fielded the ball clean and whipped it in to the plate. The crowd rose and yelled for a double play. But, alas! Mohler's throw was short and Berry could not hold it. This miscue put Cameron over with the first run. Thomas responded with a safe drive, good for two more. Then Boice singled and Duffey Lewis lifted a sacrifice fly to center field, making it two more or five for the inning. This lead was never even threatened.

COUNCILMEN HIT AT PROGRESS, IS CHARGED

Ousting of Chamber of Commerce From City Hall Called Personal Animus

"IT'S A BLOW IN FACE OF BUSINESS INTERESTS"

"We Won't Keep Our Progressive City Fathers Waiting," Say Irate Members

ALAMEDA, Oct. 18.—The Chamber of Commerce will be officially served with an order of eviction from the City Hall next Wednesday. The officers of the body were notified by City Clerk Browning this morning that the letter announcing the determination of the council to oust the civic organization would be placed before them following the council meeting tomorrow night.

The order of eviction will bring to a successful climax a campaign which has been waged against the Chamber of Commerce holding quarters in the City Hall for the last two years. The campaign was started, it is asserted, by Councilman Bullock, assisted by Councilman Christensen. And it took on new life as a direct result of the annexation campaign when Mayor Noy was criticised for his expression of the opinion that the annexation project was not the proper thing for Alameda.

SLAP AT PROGRESS.

The Chamber of Commerce is considerably wrought up at the action of the City Council, and feeling runs high among the supporters of the Chamber.

"This is a direct slap at progress," declared a prominent officer of the organization today. "It is a cropping out of the old spirit of Siluriansim, and it can be interpreted only as a blow in the face of the business interests of Alameda.

"The campaign to oust the Chamber from the City Hall is the result of a personal animus. Because one or two councilmen do not agree with the progressive movements set afoot by the Chamber, they seek to injure it by forcing a withdrawal of official approval of it. The manner in which this has been brought about is most contemptible.

OPPOSED TO PROGRESSION.

"Progression should be the watchword of every municipal government. The Chamber of Commerce of this city has stood for progression, and its sole object has been the advancement of Alameda and her business interests. This evidently has not met with the approval of the men in whom we have confided the affairs of our city.

"Else, way are they evicting us from the City Hall? They declare it is for the purpose of giving the electricity commission quarters sufficient for its needs. But they are having a hard time to find some one to occupy the quarters which the electricity commission is to vacate. They are running all around the City Hall vainly looking for some occupant other than the Chamber of Commerce, and they can't find one.

WILLING TO VACATE.

"The Chamber of Commerce is willing to move. It can get along just as well without this office, as they have with it. And if this move is an attempt to put the Chamber out of commission, it is going to prove a rank failure. We have not yet determined upon the location of our new quarters, but we shall undertake to find them in time not to keep our progressive City Fathers waiting for us to vacate."

While the campaign against the Chamber of Commerce is said to have been progressing for the last two years, the adverse feeling first became flagrantly apparent during the annexation campaign. When Mayor Noy came out as opposed to the annexation of Fruitvale and Melrose to Alameda, it caused some severe comment on the part of the supporters of the movement. At a Chamber of Commerce meeting the members criticized the Mayor's action and when F. N. Delanoy took it up the wrangle became heated to the point of demanding apologies and getting them.

MAYOR SUPPORTS ACTION.

It was immediately following this that the move to oust the Chamber from the City Hall was openly broached in the Council. Mayor Noy supported the action on the grounds that as no other civic organization held offices in the City Hall, the Chamber of Commerce was not entitled to do so.

The movement gained strength in the council and for the last week the Chamber of Commerce has been awaiting an official summons to vacate their offices.

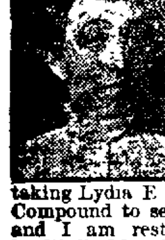
AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irregularities, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—MRS. ETTA DONOVAN, Box 299, Willimantic, Conn.



The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

CIRCLED EIFFEL TOWER IN AN AEROPLANE

Count de Lambert's Sensational Flight in Wright Machine Amazes Paris

RECEIVES GREAT ORATION BY CROWD OF SPECTATORS

At One Time He Was More Than 1000 Feet High and He Traveled 13 Miles

PARIS, Oct. 18.— Count De Lambert, the French aviator, made a remarkable and sensational flight in a Wright biplane this afternoon. Leaving the Juvisy aviation field, he flew to Paris, circled about the Eiffel Tower, at times reaching a height of about 1000 feet above the city and then returned to Juvisy.

Count de Lambert left the aerodrome at Juvisy at 35 minutes past 4 o'clock, traveling at a height of about 250 feet and headed northward.

Half an hour later the population of Paris was amazed to see the bi-plane approaching the city, high in the air, from the southward. As the machine neared the Seine, it ascended higher and higher, finally passing above the Eiffel Tower at an estimated distance from the ground of 1500 feet. The machine then dropped down a considerable distance and headed southward.

GIVEN GREAT OVATION.

Count de Lambert received a great ovation on returning to the aviation park after his flight from Paris and around the Eiffel Tower.

After the machine had disappeared from sight over the hills, in the direction of Paris and it was announced that the aviator had reached the capital, the excitement became intense among the spectators.

Darkness was already falling as the crowd waited for the machine to return, and when it was finally sighted, a scene of enthusiasm ensued.

Among frantic cheers the machine came closer and closer and on finally reaching the enclosure circled the course and alighted gently before its spectators. The distance from Juisy to Paris in an air line is thirteen miles.

A few minutes before Count de Lambert returned to the Aviation field here from his flight to Paris M Blanc, the French aeronaut, attempted his first flight in a Bleriot machine.

Shortly after ascending, the monoplane, as the result of a false shift forward, turned into the tribune and fell, mortally wounding a woman and injuring a dozen other persons.

SMELTER FUMES CAUSE A JANGLE

People of Concord Are Aroused By Plan to Annex Martinez Waterfront

MARTINEZ, Oct. 18.—The proposition to annex a large strip of waterfront land, lying in front of Martinez, has revived the smelter controversy in Contra Costa county, and has so aroused the citizens of Concord and the surrounding country that threats of a boycott against this city are being made. The territory, to obtain which the local trustees have called for an annexation election on Monday, October 25th, has been found to include the plant of the Mountain Copper Company, and this is the bone of contention.

SUPERVISORS MIGHT LOSE CONTROL.

The farmers only recently secured from the Board of Supervisors a promise to pass an ordinance which would regulate the operation of the smelters and prevent them from discharging poisonous gases into the air, to the great danger and detriment of thousands of dollars' worth of valuable property. They feel that if the smelter is taken inside the incorporation lines of Martinez it will be removed from the jurisdiction of the supervisors and the ordinance under consideration will be of no avail. The farmers are frankly doubtful of support from the trustees, and feel that they will be unable to persuade them to adopt an ordinance as stringent as the one now contemplated by the supervisors. The smelters bring many thousands of dollars into the town of Martinez monthly through the employment of a large number of people, and the farmers argue that the trustees will be loath to adopt an ordinance that would prove offensive to these interests.

FARMERS PROTEST ANNEXATION.

The farmers have therefore, filed a protest against the annexation program and have in a numerously signed petition asked the Trustees to reconsider their action and revise the lines of the district to be acquired. In order to do this the Trustees would be compelled to have the town engineer run new lines, the matter would have to go over until the regular meeting of the Board in November, at which time they would have to adopt new resolutions, ordering the election, and would be put to considerable expense for advertising, election supplies, etc., besides losing a couple of months' valuable time.

MARTINEZ WANTS WATERFRONT.

For Martinez this is no ordinary annexation scheme. It is an effort on the part of the county seat of Contra Costa county to win for itself a waterfront commensurate with its importance and growth. It is an effort on the part of the Trustees to gain territory which will provide for the development of the town's resources and offer inducements to manufacturing firms to locate here, where they will have the advantages of two railroads and two lines of river steamers for shipping facilities. The territory which it is planned to annex will give the town treasury something like $3000 in taxes each year and will furnish revenue for many projected improvements.

The whole situation is badly complicated because proceedings have recently commenced to quiet the title to the land to be annexed.

SMALL RUN AT THE RECEIVING HOSPITAL

There was a run of three cases at the Emergency Hospital this morning in which Carl Bergess of 831 Myrtle street led the parade with a piece of emery stone in his left eye. This was extracted by Steward Platt, a bandage applied and—I came Milton Terry with his left thumb bitten. He explained that he had received the injury at an early hour this morning, during an argument with a fellow player in a pool game at 413 Eighth street.

His thumb was dressed and—M Messer limped in with his left foot extended. He had been spiked in the left ankle while playing ball. He is a plumber living at 1625 Fifteenth street.

Exceptionally Good Bill At the Orpheum This Week

James Young and Lorayne Osborne at Oakland Orpheum.

(BY BETTY MARTIN)

"And the last shall be first."

This is a hackneyed saying. But it was verified last night at the Orpheum when the unique views ending the program were known. These pictures spelled progress, and made Peter Pan's aerial flight fade into insignificance beside them.

The aviation races at Rhiemes reproduced on canvas serve to illustrate clearly the accomplishments of modern inventors, and to glimpse future possibilities as well.

So far as the rest of the program is concerned, it pleased a Sunday night audience, already on good terms with itself.

A gamut of laughter, from smiles and audible chuckles to irresponsible guffaws, greeted Mr James Young's college farce, entitled "Wanted a Sister." This little skit, so far as construction is concerned, has its inception in a public restaurant, its main action in a college boy's room, and its end nowhere. Time and place are representative of Cambridge of today, according to the theater program.

This farce is near-cousin to the variety so popular since twenty years or more ago, and while bubbling with fun, is absolutely free from vulgarity and cleverly played withal, even though Miss Lorayne Osbourne chooses to near a style of headdress no longer considered comme il faut.

Peculiarly enough, the two monologuists on the program are women. Edna Aug holds over, and Mary Nonuan, styled the "Society Caricaturist," does some clever work, which might be better were a little left to the imagination. Audiences are not absolutely bereft or reasoning powers or the gift of insight, and long winded explanations are somewhat out of date as well as deadly in their monotony.

To my way of thinking, "Pilu, the mind reading dog" is one of the marvels of his kind. It matters not how the trick is done, the animal is worthy of his hire. I am not an enthusiast concerning dogs, monkeys or parrots on the stage, but make an exception in favor of the wise-looking four-footed one styled "Pilu."

The ventriloquist Revnard has with him a lot of stage furnishings, including several puppets by aid of which he gives—cleverly, too—a one-act affair called "A Morning in Hecksville." There is the inevitable village constable, the bad boy and all the rest of the suburbanites calculated to souse mirth in the breasts of city dwellers.

Les Nyosotes, those graceful European toe dancers open this week's bill, and their work is worth coming early to see.

PREFERRED DEATH TO BIG DISGRACE

Man Charged With Crime Against Daughter Hangs Himself in City Prison

Preferring death to the horrible revelations that would come out during his preliminary examination this morning on a charge of mistreating his 13-year-old daughter, Christian Johnson, a cement worker, hung himself in the city jail with a handkerchief and died a few moments after being cut down and taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Johnson's crime was the most revolting one that could occur. Remorse and shame overcame him and this morning between 4:30 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock he got up from his bed and tied a handkerchief around his throat. He attached one end of it to a loop hanging over his bed and slowly strangled himself.

FOUND BY JAILER.

He was discovered by Jailer Frank Ahern before life was extinct and was rushed to the Receiving Hospital. He lived about five minutes after being admitted to that institution. His remains were removed to the morgue where an inquest will be held.

Johnson was to have come up before Police Judge Samuels this morning. After his death was reported to the court the case was stricken from the calendar.

SHOTS AT BURGLAR WHO RANSACKED HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Returning home shortly before midnight last night to find their home thoroughly ransacked by burglars, and fancying they heard some one moving around in the place, Mr and Mrs H. H. Bishop of 1939 Oak street, made an effort to capture the intruder. Mr. Bishop fired three shots at what he took to be a man in one of the apartments, hoping to attract the attention of the police, but when Officer Harold A. Thorup arrived he was unable to find any trace of a robber.

STILL COUNTING THE DEMOCRATIC BALLOTS

SAN FRANCISCO, October 18.—Throughout the morning session in Judge Murasky's court the work of counting the Democratic ballot for district attorney in the recent election was proceeded with. Fourteen precincts were gone over and the result shows a gain of seven votes for Francis J Heney. A number of spectators as well as counsel on both sides were present during the hearing.

MINISTER GOES VIOLENTLY INSANE

Found Saturday Night in Hotel Unconscious, Recovers With Mind Affected

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Rev R. H. Brown, the preacher who was taken to the Central Emergency Hospital Saturday night after being found in an unconscious condition in the doorway of his room at the St. George Hotel, became suddenly insane at the University of California Hospital this afternoon. He was removed to the hospital Saturday night and today ran amuck in the male ward and was restrained only after great difficulty.

Six stewards and doctors were required to subdue him. He was removed to the detention hospital and will be examined by the insanity board.

ROBBED OF WATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Approached by three men, who completely surrounded him and hustled him into a doorway at Twenty-second and Howard streets, Oscar W. Frederickson, of 1047 Carolina street, was robbed of $14 and a gold watch and chain early this morning.

When you go walking with a girl you might as well propose to her, because she'll say you did anyhow.

S.S.S. FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation; a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. The disease is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which comes from indigestion, weak kidneys, constipation, and other irregularities of the system. This uric acid produces an inflamed and acrid condition of the blood, and the circulation, instead of nourishing the different portions of the body, continually deposits into the muscles, nerves, joints and bones, the irritating and pain-producing acid with which it is filled. Then follow the painful and torturing symptoms of Rheumatism. We do not claim for S. S. S. that it is anything more than a first class blood purifier, and that is just what is needed to cure Rheumatism. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and by neutralizing the uric acid and driving it from the blood, effectually and surely removes the cause of Rheumatism. S.S.S. strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, causing pain and agony throughout the system, it becomes an invigorating, nourishing fluid, furnishing health and vigor to every portion of the body, and permanently relieving the suffering caused by Rheumatism. S.S.S. is purely vegetable and will not injure the most delicate system. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

ASK POLICE TO PROVE DEATH OF BABY

Parents Intimate Neglect on the Part of People Hired to Care for It

ANOTHER ONE SERIOUSLY ILL AND ANOTHER SICK

Accused Woman in Defense Says She Warned Parents of Their Condition

Alleging that one of their babies is dead, one very ill and the other suffering from a severe cold as the result of poor food and improper treatment at the hands of Mrs. J. C. Crouch, matron of the Crouch Infants' Shelter, 4200 Allendale avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Lewis have appealed to the police to investigate the case and the matter will be taken up by the coroner's jury.

According to Lewis and his wife they put all three of their children in Mrs. Crouch's care, because of their inability to give them the proper attention while they have been engaged in erecting a home in Elmhurst. The youngest child, a baby of six months, was ill when given into her custody on October 1, it is said. She cared for it for a time and it gradually grew better and a few days after the second child, Harry, a 2 year old boy, was taken to the home. The eldest child, Charlie, a 4 year old boy, was sent out there on Friday.

MATRON'S STORY.

According to Mrs. Crouch's story, told sobbingly this morning, as she spoke of her unfamiliarity of the method of police and newspaper investigation, expressing at the same time her willingness to have both her home and system for caring for the little ones in her charge examined. The baby that died was taken from her on Saturday morning.

"I heard nothing of its death until Sunday morning when Mr. Lewis telephoned me, simply saying: 'The baby is dead. Send Charlie home without delay.' I was completely prostrated, but I can only say that the little one, though not well, was improving when it left my place and it is my honest opinion that had it had continued proper care it need not have succumbed."

DAUGHTER HELPS HER.

Mrs. Crouch, who employs a 17 year old daughter and a nurse to help her care for the babies under her charge, tells a straightforward story:

"Mr. and Mrs. Lewis came to me on October 1 and asked me to care for their three children. I did so, with the agreement that my renumeration was to be $85 a month. The baby was very ill. This much I saw immediately it came into my care and little Harry's stomach was badly upset. I spoke of their condition to the parents, who said they knew it and asked me to do what I could to cure them.

BABY IN BAD HEALTH.

"The oldest child recovered rapidly and except that he is extremely fretful now and then is in good health. The baby, however, seemed to be in worse shape and I worked over it unceasingly for two days. Then about the fourth of October the extremely hot spell which lasted for three days came, and the baby grew dangerously ill. I communicated with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and we gave the baby every care for twelve hours. The next morning I told the father when he called that in my opinion the little one was better, though by no means well, and asked him to take it to a doctor, just as a means of satisfying himself of its welfare.

WARNED THE MOTHER.

"He refused, saying that he considered good nursing better, and I remember his remarking that 'he didn't believe much in nursing anyway.'

"Then on Saturday morning Mrs. Lewis came and got the baby, saying that she would care for it herself for awhile. They had already taken Harry. I told her of the baby's condition and warned her that if it showed any renewed symptoms of a childish complaint from which it was suffering, to let me know instantly.

"I heard nothing of it however until Sunday morning when they telephoned and told me the baby was dead."

Lewis is employed as a gardener by A. McMillian at "The Oakes" on Shesta avenue. His wife also works on the estate as a cook. They assert that they put the little ones in the home because of their inability to give them the proper care.

DOCTOR'S OPINION.

Mrs. Crouch maintains that she called in Dr. W. H. Rice on Saturday night after taking the baby from the home, and that he pronounced the baby in a serious condition. When it died the next morning, the physician told her, she says, that it was because of insufficient food and poor care and advised a morgue investigation. The parents applied to the police and the matter will be thoroughly investigated.

FOUR WOMEN ARE NAMED IN SUIT

Batonqui's Chaffeur Tells of Taxicab Ride With a Strange Lady

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The second trial of Mrs. Frances Burke-Roche Batonyi's divorce suit against Aurel Batony, the noted whip, was begun here today.

In outlining her case Mrs. Batonyi's attorney told the jury that two of the questions to be decided related to the defendant's alleged unfaithfulness. Batonyi was on hand wehn the case was called, but his wife ahd not appeared by the time a jury was obtained.

Mrs. Batonyi's first suit was discontinued last June when her attorney walked out of court after he had failed to obtain a delay to find an absent witness.

The horseman pressed his suit for a separation and won it, but his victory did not interfere with the present action.

FOUR WOMEN NAMED.

Four women were mentioned in Mrs. Batonyi's complaint, but her counsel announced today that charges involving two of them might be withdrawn.

The first witness was Eugene Arcourt, a chauffeur. He said that on March 4, 1908, he drove Batonyi and a woman, whom he did not name, in his taxicab as far north as 159th street and then returned.

This taxicab trip is the basis of one of Mrs. Batonyi's charges. Arcourt said he did not see anything wrong in the actions of the defendant or his companion that night.

SALES OF STOCK IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A brisk opening demand carried prices of a number of the leading speculative stocks above Saturday's closing. Ten thousand shares of United States Steel sold at 92⅝ and 93, compared with 91⅞ at the end of last week. Union Pacific, American Smelting, Amalgamated Copper, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and American Cotton Oil rose 1, and Reading and the first preferred large fractions.

The Hawley group of stocks went up at a rapid rate but selling pressure developed on the more prominent issues. Large selling orders wiped out the rise in United States Steel and also forced Union Pacific and Reading back a point. Some of the notable gains were: Chicago & Alton and St. Louis & Southwestern 2, the preferred 1⅛, Smelting 1⅝, Union Pacific 1⅝, Republic Steel 1¼, and Denver & Rio Grande, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Kansas City & Texas, Wabash preferred, Reading, Northern Pacific and Pressed Steel Car 1.

Another advance in the specialties was not of much benefit to the general list, which weakened later in sympathy with heavy selling of United States Steel and Reading, which lost 1½. Other losses were: Rock Island 1⅝, St. Paul 1⅝, Union Pacific and Kansas City Southern 1, and Union Pacific preferred 2½. Prices steadied at noon.

Most of the leaders established a new low level after the noon hour. A slight hardening of prices occurred at 1 o'clock, but business shrank to very small proportions on the recovery. Union Pacific gave way 1⅝, and Southern Pacific, Atchison and United States Steel 1.

The market closed irregular. There were substantial recoveries in the final hour, during which Northwestern rose 3½ and New York Central ¾ over the last prices of Saturday. Wells Fargo sold at 450, compared with 486½, the previous sale, which was also the previous record.

Bonds were irregular.

WHEAT MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO GRAIN MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Wheat—Firm; no trading; cash, $1.72½@1.80.

Barley—Firm; May, $1.47⅝@1.48; December, 1.43; cash, $1.40@1.42½.

Corn—Firm; large yellow, $1.70@1.75.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Early trades in wheat reflected the bearish condition of foreign markets, influenced by the heavy world's shipments, aggregating more than 3,000,000 bushels greater than last week. Wheat fell off a trifle at the outset, December opening ⅜@½c to ½@⅝c lower than Saturday at $1.05¾@1.05⅝. Prices ranged for a time within ½c of the opening and steadied at $1.05¾.

Later December touched $1.06⅛, but profit taking set in and it closed ⅜@⅞c lower at $1.05⅜.

Fine weather had a slightly bearish influence on corn, which was counteracted by a moderate cash demand. December opened a shade higher to ⅛c lower than Saturday at 58¾c to 58½@58⅝c.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 18.—At the opening the market was easy with values ⅛ lower, being influenced by the late decline in American markets on Saturday and the weakness in Winnipeg. Later during the morning prices declined ¼@⅜d with offerings larger. At midday the market was heavy and from 1@1½d lower than Saturday.

Corn was easier at the start and ½d lower. Later there was a recovery on the firmness of spot and lighter world's shipments.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Cables were surprisingly strong this morning, but as the map showed no bad weather over Sunday our market disregarded the cables, opening some 4 or 5 points lower. Almost immediately some outside buying appeared, with an especially active demand for May from a prominent local house. This demand carried prices a few points higher than the last advance, but as the market approached 14c realizing on an enormous scale a quick reaction, in the early afternoon a quick reaction in appeared, bringing about a quick reaction in the early afternoon. A spell of cold weather seems to be moving into Texas from the northwest, but otherwise weather conditions are most favorable. A feature of the last few days has been the growing strength of interior markets in spite of an enormous movement. We are inclined to the view that this strength represents the covering by fresh purchases from interior merchants and farmers who sold ahead so freely during the summer. Sharp reactions are likely and from this level the advance should not be so rapid, but we do not believe we have seen the top.—H.

5000 TO PARADE ON HALLOWE'EN

Festive March of Mummers Will Be Feature of Frankford Celebration

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—Halloween will be celebrated in Frankford Monday night, November 1, with a mummers' parade, to be participated in by at least 5000 persons. This announcement was made yesterday by the Frankford Board of Trade, under whose auspices the celebration will be held.

Elwood McKinley, who headed the general committee for the Old Home Week celebration, has been chosen chairman of the Halloween committee. "We're going to make it just as successful as the home week," he declared yesterday. "Frankford residents know what we can do now, and they're going to pitch in and help us."

Other members of the committee are Frank Wilson, Francis Motz and Otto Rosburg. They have already formed plans for the event. Leading the parade will be 150 horsemen, attired in full dress suits. Following them will come 100 more horsemen, togged out in mummers' costume. Then there will be several thousand marchers and two score or more floats.

The streets will be brilliantly illuminated and Old Home Week decorations will give the section a festive appearance.

"We are going to give this celebration because we feel that there will be less lawlessness with an organized movement than is usually the case when the young folks roam around the town in private bands," said Mr. Rosburg.

BROADWAY SHOW IS PACKING THEIR HOUSE

The Broadway Theater's continuous show has been packing that house since the opening, Friday. Sunday it was standing room only, practically all day and evening. The main part of the entertainment consists of moving pictures of an exceptionally elaborate scale, several being regular plays in themselves. Comedy and pathos were carefully intermingled in yesterday's entertainment by Manager Smith, who also introduced scenes of educational value. Intermingled were several solos and duets by good singers. An orchestra of eight pieces is also one of the attractions, and it furnishes some realistic effects when the moving pictures are being shown.

An entire change of program is given each Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

SECRET OF YEARS BARED BY DIVORCE

Mrs. Catherine Williams Was Daughter of Congressman Galusha Grow

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—With the public revelation of a closely guarded divorce, the lifetime mystery enshrouding Mrs. Katherine Livingston Williams, ward of the late Galusha A. Grow, once speaker of the United States House of Representatives, has at last been solved.

For the first time it became known yesterday that Grow, just before his death and while his wealth was being wrung out of him by a band of extortioners, confessed to her husband that Mrs. Williams was his daughter.

"I swear to God that this is the truth," he is said to have exclaimed. "It is a secret which I have not even told my daughter."

Evidence unearthed in connection with the divorce suit showed that Mrs. Williams was the daughter of Mme. De Fossez, whose mother was an intimate friend of Galusha A. Grow, their friendship dating from the days of the Civil War, he having been introduced to her by Governor Fenton of New York after she had called on the governor to make inquiries about her husband, a soldier in the Union army.

Mrs. Williams also stated at that time that Mrs Cloney, Mme De Fossez and a man named Blackburn had used her as the tool to extort $200,000 from the statesman. Their last levy, she said, amounted to $60,000, of which she received $22,000, Mme. De Fossez $12,000, a lawyer $10,000 and Blackburn $5000. Soon afterward Grow died, an utterly broken man.

After many efforts to locate Williams he was finally found at the Gilsey House He refused at first to talk, but finally said:

"For fear I may be misunderstood, I will say I have just received a divorce from my wife, who was Miss Katherine Livingston. Yes, she is the daughter of Galusha A. Grow, if this must be known."

FISH REFUSES POST OF CHINESE MINISTER

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — Stuyvesant Fish, asked today regarding the report from Shanghai as to his becoming minister to China, said:

"It is true that the Chinese mission was offered to me, but that happened last spring while I was in Europe. Needless to say the offer was at once declined. I did not mention the fact then and should not do so now were it not for the persistence of the baseless rumors of my going there."

SAYS FLIRTING IS IMMORAL PRACTICE

"It's Fiendish Too," Declares Mrs. Perkins Gilman in Lecture

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—"Flirting, which young women think so innocent a pastime, is grossly immoral," declared Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, in a lecture on "Assorted Sins" at the Rand school, 112 East Nineteenth street, yesterday.

Mrs. Gilman startled her more conventional sisters six years ago by declaring that every married woman should work like her husband, should hand her children over to a trained teacher for rearing and cease attracting men through personal adornment. She won at that time the sobriquet of "The Truly Modern Woman."

"The woman who flits is doing a fiendish work. I know one beautiful girl, perfectly decent and cultured, who took great delight in urging men on. I could never understand how she found pleasure in it.

"'Oh, it's fun,' she answered, when I asked her why she did it. 'Fun to get a man so that he can't wait another minute before he embraces you—and then, not let him,' she added gleefully.

"There are thousands like her, who either don't realize or don't care about the harm they do.

"There is more lying among women than men," she asserted. "When it comes to business and politics, I sometimes think the men have it over the women. But socially the women are much worse. Most women would rather lie than hurt a person's feelings. Woman is not to blame for lying—she has been a subject creature so long. The habit of being a subject creature makes for deceit."

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO MELROSE CIGAR STORE

MELROSE, Oct. 18—Fire broke out in a cigar store conducted by Mrs. A. B. Schwartzchild in the Wyman block, corner of East Fourteenth street and Forty-seventh avenue. An alarm was given by a passerby, and a staff of firemen, headed by Chief Castera extinguished the flames with a loss of about $500.

For the past two years Mrs. Schwartzchild has been operating the establishment next to the real estate office of Ruedy & Elrichs. The restaurant of Charles S Melton was slightly damaged.

Mrs Schwartzchild was away from home when the fire started. The cause is believed to have been from crossed wires.

16-YEAR-OLD BOY GOES TO PRISON

Must Serve Two Years in San Quentin for Burglary in Red Bluff

Deputy Sheriff E. B. Mormouth of Tehama county lodged William Clency, sixteen years of age, whose appearance is that of a twelve year old boy, in the penitentiary at San Quentin today A two year sentence is hanging over Clency for second degree burglary, committed at Red Bluff. He was held at the Oakland city prison yesterday en route to San Quentin and when Deputy Mormouth arrived there with his charge the police were loathe to receive him on account of his youthful appearance. They thought the proper place for him was the detention home and so did Mormouth.

"Clency should be placed on probation," said the deputy sheriff. "He pleaded guilty to his crime, but no effort was made to give him the benefit of probation"

The boy was a waif from Chicago. He was put off a train at Red Bluff. There he burglarized a home, but secured nothing.

CONSTRUCTION WORK RUSHED ON ELECTRICS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 18. -- Now that all obstacles have been overcome, the Central California Traction Company is completing its electric line between this city and Lodi to connect with the road in that town for Stockton and at this end with the Northern Electric for Chico, Marysville and Oroville. Work is progressing rapidly.

George W. Peltier, one of the heads of the company, announced today that nothing will check construction gangs now from hurrying the track along. The franchise difficulties have been settled and the delayed railroad iron is rapidly arriving in Sacramento and being distributed from this end of the route. A large part of the road will run along the county roads, while private right-of-ways have been secured where the roads are not used.

SEATTLE FAIR IS FREE FROM RIFTY PICKPOCKETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Detective Tom Ryan, who returned from the Seattle Exposition Saturday, where he had been working in connection with the police of that city, set a net for the capture of C. K. Norman, for whose arrest a warrant had been issued on a charge of felony embezzlement. Ryan says that Norman is in Seattle. Norman, who was formerly a salesman for Clark, Wise & Co., dealers in musical instruments, is accused of stealing a phonograph worth $150. During the entire life of the exposition, according to Ryan, not a case of pocket picking or robbery was reported on the grounds. More than 200 pickpockets, he says, were placed in prison before they had had time to work.

JACOBSON NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE

Fruitvale Saloonkeeper Promises Supervisors, However, Not to Run Poker Game

The hearing of the charges against A C Jacobsen the Fruitvale saloonkeeper who was accused by the district attorney's office of selling liquor after midnight provoked a lively encounter between Supervisors Foss and Bridge

The only evidence of the saloonkeeper's guilt was offered by an acrobat named Fred C Nelson Jr who was rather uncertain as to the time the drinks were served on September 30 which preceded the [illegible] of Sproule by Deputy Constable Sheehan

At the conclusion of the trial Supervisor Kelly moved that the charges be dismissed

Supervisor Bridge seconded the motion and as he did so said

I fail to see anything in the evidence offered that would justify us in taking away this man's license I however want him to promise that no more draw poker games will be permitted in his place after midnight In fact so far as I am concerned I will not favor giving a license to any saloon that has a poker game running after midnight

Supervisor Foss said I believe this Nelson is telling the truth

One of the other witnesses here had a very shifty eye and I am certain he is lying We have got to take a stand on these matters and I think this is the place to do it We talk one thing when some of us are playing to the gallery

BRIDGE'S ANGRY RETORT

Supervisor Bridge jumped up hotly and shaking his finger at Foss said I take exception to your remarks I have as much right to my opinions as you have I am as every one knows not the kind of man to make gallery plays not as much as some others I know of

Supervisor Mullen interposed by stating he could not see his way clear to find Jacobsen guilty, but close down that poker game at midnight,' he demanded

Jacobsen promised to do so

Among the witnesses examined in the case were F C Nelson Jr J Frazier, Constable Carroll Deputy Sheriff Reiley G J Zimmerman and H G Permuth

Lin Church appeared for the saloon man and Deputy District Attorney Leon Clark prosecuted

The latter admitted he had a weaker case than he figured on as he has relied on Sheehan's testimony He had been taken to Sacramento and when he was up there to get him to make an affidavit to conditions at the saloon the following reply was received from Sheriff Reis

'Dave Sheehan got sore when he got two years here and refuses to sign anything."

'PORK BARREL' IS OPPOSED BY TAFT

Won't Send Aspiring Solons Back to Congress Through Government's Generosity

ST LOUIS Oct 25—On the eve of the beginning of his journey down the Mississippi river to New Orleans as a part of the exploitation for a system of deep inland waterways President Taft declared in an address at the Coliseum here today that his stand in favor of the issue of bonds for carrying out approved waterways improvement projects did not mean the opening of a pork barrel to send back any particular member of Congress or to make any particular section of the country prosperous during the expenditure of the money

Mr Taft said he opposed any such gold bond issue as that of $500 000,000 or a billion dollars for waterways improvement the money to be cut up and parcelled out to different sections

ONLY FOR FUNDS NEEDED

His idea of a bond issue was to obtain sufficient money to carry out quickly such projects as might be approved after careful investigation and which could prove their benefit to the entire country

The President was the guest of the Commercial Club at breakfast He made his principal speech at the Coliseum, where he spoke during the campaign of last fall before the big building had a roof

President Taft received a telegram from Mrs Peckham today announcing the death of her husband Justice Peckham, of the Supreme Court He sent a message of condolence in reply

The President was introduced at the Coliseum by Governor Hadley His voice was husky but with the close attention given to him by the great audience he managed to make himself heard throughout the hall

WINS CROWD QUICK.

The President found a quick response from his audience when he began by saying

We are on the eve of a great journey down the Mississippi river and cursed be he who calls it a junket The journey as Governor Hadley has said has reference to the problem of transportation and railways and waterways It is however only a part of a still greater movement inaugurated by Theodore Roosevelt and properly called by him,

LURES WOMAN TO COUNTRY AND THEN SLAYS HER

Took Her Into Woods Under Pretext of Showing Her Some Property

POLICE SAY SUSPECT HAD EIGHT WIVES

Believed That Man Held in Murder Case is Wholesale Women Killer

NEW YORK, Oct 25—Inspector McCafferty announced today that he had received word from Brooklyn headquarters that Frederick Gebhardt, alias Mueller, had confessed to the police that he murdered his wife, Anna Latter, a year ago in Islip, L I

According to McCafferty, the prisoner said he took the woman to the woods in Islip, ostensibly to show her some land, and then shot her.

Gebhardt, according to the statement given out by the police, said he shot the woman because he had too many wives

Gebhardt said he married Miss Latter in Newark in February, 1908, and then went abroad on a wedding trip On his return to this country in the following April he took his wife to Bay Shore L I not far from Islip, and showed her some property which he told her he would like to have her buy.

REFUSES TO PURCHASE

The woman declined to make the purchase and Gebhardt said he then told her he was married and had no further use for her According to Gebhardt the woman became hysterical and throwing her arms around his neck, begged him not to leave her

"I tried to run away from her and she followed me yelling for me to stop" Gebhardt told the police "I then turned and drawing my revolver, short her Just how many times I shot her I do not know I then threw the revolver away and fled"

The confession was made to Acting Captain Coghlan, Coroner Savage of Suffolk county and two detectives

NEW YORK Oct 25—Admissions made today by Albert Mueller, who was arrested last night on the belief that he might know something of the death of Anna Latter, the young German woman, whose skeleton was discovered recently near Islip, L I are expected by the police to bring to light a tale of wholesale marriage and murder

Mueller was arraigned today under the name of Frederick Gebhardt, on the charge of bigamy, but the police expect to lodge a more serious charge against him.

IS EIGHTH WIFE.

Mrs Gebhardt, Mueller's present wife, has confided to the authorities that she has lived in terror of her husband, and that on one occasion he was overheard to declare that she was his eighth wife, and that those who preceded her were all in their graves

Another point on which stress is laid by the police is the finding of four notes scribbled by Mueller in which the writer revealed his intention to disappear. All are dated October 22, the day of Mueller's arrest, and contain instructions for the disposal of his property One of the notes is addressed to the Long Island Bank, and is as follows

DESERTED GIRL VICTIM

'Please pay my account to my wife, Anna Gebhardt I am legally dead"

Mueller admitted that he married the Latter girl in February, 1908, but says he deserted her three months later and does not know what became of her.

DECLARES DEAD HEALER A 'FAKER'

Schlatter, in Oakland, Says He is Original and Only Miracle Worker

Asserting that the man who is dead in the east has been impersonating him for twenty years during which time they have frequently appeared in the same cities together, an apostle' claiming to be Francis Schlatter, the "devine healer," who during the past forty years has, it is said effected some wonderful cures is in this city

At his temporary residence, 670 Sixteenth street, where he has resided since coming here three weeks ago, the alleged "dicipl of the sick" rehearsed his life this morning going back seventy years to his birth in Zurich, Switzerland, which occurred, he asserts, in the year August 12, 1839

IS AN IMPERSONATOR.

"I have known the man who is dead in Hastings, Nebraska," says Schlatter, "for twenty years They tell me they are investigating his identity now that he has passed on and if so they will find that he is an Edward McLain, a former physician, who was driven first to impersonate me through poverty I warned him from time to time that if he did not stop I would put the curse upon him, but he went on and because I do not believe in lawsuits in the courts I was powerless to stop him'

IS SEVENTY—LOOKS FORTY.

Claiming to be seventy years of age, Schlatter does not look to a day over forty, and his explanation that he has retain his appearance of youth is because he does not indulge in the ordinary food and drink of mankind,' seems impossible

His hair, which is long and black, falling to the shoulders of a long velvet robe he wears, is luxuriant and his beard is just beginning to turn gray His hands, on which one would except to find the first and most conclusive marks of age are only slightly wrinkled, being plump and firm. FAILURE TO LIGHT GAS JET ENDS FATALLY

Mrs. Joseph Bywater and Brother-in-Law Are the Victims

HUSBAND OF YOUNG WOMAN GRIEF-STRICKEN

Accidental Asphyxiation Is the Tragic Ending of Portola Week

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Accidental gas asphyxiation this morning snuffed out the lives of two young people, a girl and a boy, the former just twenty and the latter not out of his teens, causing terrible grief to a sorrowing husband and mother.

Charles Bywater is the youth and Mrs. Joseph Bywater, his sister-in-law, is the young girl, beautiful and talented, who, failing to light a gas stove, was indirectly responsible for both of their deaths.

Young Bywater came to this city from his ranch at Loomis, Cal, to enjoy the Portola festivities, and went to live with his brother, Joseph Bywater, a glassblower, in the two-room apartment of the couple at 579 Valencia street

A make shift was resorted to in order to put him up and he was allowed to sleep on a lounge in the room which served the couple as parlor, dining room and bedroom

MADE DROWSY BY FUMES.

Joseph Bywater arose early this morning as usual to go to his employment, but his brother, worn out as the result of the carnival slept on Just as he was leaving Mrs Bywater told her husband that she must do some washing and accordingly went to the gas stove, intending to light the flames

It is supposed that she turned on the gas and applied the match, not observing that the flame did not catch At any rate, she returned to the other room and sat down upon the foot of her bed.

The fumes from the escaping gas soon made her drowsy and she fell over and lay prostrate. Shortly before 10 o'clock F. A Baldwin, a relative of the family, detected the odor of gas, and coming through the apartment, found the young people lifeless

STRICKEN WITH GRIEF.

When the news of his wife's and brother's death was conveyed to the husband, he became immediately grief stricken, and his anguish at the sight of his loved ones as he gave vent to his feelings, stirred the hearts and softened the stony visaged policemen who were investigating the case

The opinion was written by Justice Cooper and concurred in by Justices Hall and Kerrigan.

This is the long expected decision upon which the race track men of California have pinned their faith in a test case in which O'Shea was arrested.

TWO JURORS ADDED TO DE LANCEY LIST

Three of the Five Talesmen Passed Last Week, Out on Challenges

as the people are concerned he is excused.

"The defense concurs in this," said Attorney Chapman, and Foster retired.

VON DUREN CALLED.

Herman Von Duren was the next talesman to be examined. He told Assistant District Attorney Hynes that he resides at 3426 East Fourteenth street, Fruitvale, a retired notion and drygoods merchant, and that he had resided in Alameda county for a great many years. Von Duren stated that he was not acquainted with De Lancey nor any other person interested in the case and agreed with the assistant prosecutor as to all the points he raised regarding the duties of a juryman. He said that he would not allow the sympathetic pleas that counsel may make in behalf of De Lancey sway him in reaching a verdict. He said he would weigh the evidence in the case and find his verdict accordingly.

Von Duren was passed by the prosecution and Attorney Frick for the defense, brought out the fact that the talesman had had much experience as a juryman in criminal cases, that he had read nothing about the George Hite Cook embezzlement nor anything concerning the Public Administrator scandals during the incumbency of George Gray.

During the examination a fact, never before developed, was brought out that the original reports of the Public Administrator, which De Lancey is accused for falsifying, were in the handwriting of the accused lawyer.

UNDERSTANDS QUESTIONS.

Von Duren said he thoroughly understood the questions of "criminal intent" and "reasonable doubt" and that he would not find De Lancey guilty of the embezzlement charges because the prosecution might prove him guilty of another offense, but would only consider the evidence in the case at trial and base his verdict upon it.

When the prosecution opened up the question of a juror being swayed by sympathetic arguments in DeLancey's behalf, an opening was made for Attorney Frick to launch out upon a long line of questioning that consumed nearly thirty minutes just before the noon hour.

"Do you know A. J. Flood?" asked Frick.

"I do not," replied Von Duren.

DOESN'T KNOW FLOOD.

Turning in his chair Frick saw Flood sitting in the court bailiff's chair. Pointing his finger at the alleged forger, the lawyer said to Von Duren.

"This is Mr. Flood—do you know him?"

"No, sir," repeated Von Duren, whereupon the defense passed him.

District Attorney Donahue immediately proceeded with the examination of James B. Fair of Centerville, who gave his occupation as that of a farmer.

Fair said that he had heard all the questions which had been asked the juror examined just before him by the attorneys for both sides, and that he knew of no reason why he should not give De Lancey a fair trial. He was passed by the State.

Charles F. Herlitz, superintendent of the Union Feed Company of San Francisco, residing at [illegible] Rose street, North Oakland, was examined by Assistant District Attorney Hynes. He said that he had resided here for about twenty-five years but did not have the acquaintance of De Lancey, nor of any other person directly or indirectly interested in the case.

The talesman said that he was well acquainted with Deputy County Clerk George H. Stricker, having known him for about twenty years.

"Have you had any talk with him about this case?" asked the assistant prosecutor.

"No, sir," replied Herlitz.

"He has never discussed with you the probability of your serving as a juror in this case?"

"No, sir."

Herlitz said that he had never read anything about the case in the papers aside from a casual glance at headlines and as far as the testimony was concerned he would weigh it all very carefully if selected as a juror.

The talesman said that if the testimony showed beyond all reasonable doubt that De Lancey was guilty of the embezzlement, he would return a verdict of guilty despite of the fact that he repaid the money afterwards. He would give expert testimony due credit.

"Are you acquainted with Charlie Thomas of Berkeley?" asked the assistant prosecutor.

"Yes," replied Herlitz.

"How well?"

"Oh, well enough to shake hands with him when I meet him," came the reply, and then the state passed Herlitz.

Herlitz told Attorney Frick, for the defense, that the fact that the Grand Jury had returned an indictment against De Lancey did not indicate to him that the accused lawyer was guilty. That would have to be proven beyond all reasonable doubt.

The defense passed Herlitz.

This is the case in which Flood is accused of forging the name of Undertaker E. James Finney, together with John S. De Lancey, to a claim for $115 against the A. L. Pounstone estate.

Aerial Traveling 'Great,' Says Fair Girl Rider of Big Balloon

—Dorsaz Photo.

BY MARGARET MILLER.

When we left the grounds I was surprised to find that I experienced no sensation whatsoever. I leaned over the side of the basket to wave to my friends, and as the ground slowly fell away, I turned to Mr. Mars in amazement. It seemed almost uncanny that we should find ourselves high in the air, without having apparently moved an inch.

There was no time when I could not see the crowds below distinctly and though I looked at the earth steadily for the entire time we were up, which was more than two hours, I was not at all dizzy. Not so much so, in fact, as once when I looked down from a tall building to the street below.

TIME PASSES QUICK.

I think we had been up almost an hour, though it seemed like a very few minutes, so keen was my interest in every smallest detail of the trip, when we found ourselves poised directly above the Key Route mole. Captain Mars, turning to me with the assertion that we would have to make the try for Goat Island at least, to keep from landing in the water, asked me if I were not afraid.

Afraid, why I don't think I ever felt less afraid in my life. It was wonderful, exhilirating, almost awe inspiring, to find one's self so near the great blue sky, a part of it in fact, and I was wildly curious about everything pertaining to the management of our big gas bag.

Mr. Mars painstakingly explained every part to me, from the little twisted cord, a single tug of which will rip the balloon open, down to the tiniest valve.

DROPS NOTES.

When we found ourselves sailing over the bay, I dropped several little notes down to the people below, telling them that we were trying to make Goat Island. I could hear them cheering, and several times we called to them. I am sure they heard us, too. One's voice seems to carry wonderfully in the upper currents.

When we found that we could not get across the water, Mars dropped a rope down, and a few minutes after, with a little swoop, we dipped down to within six inches of the water. Oh, it was glorious and I hated to get out. I wanted so much to wait until we got ashore, and then land by Captain Vander Naillen, though it was getting too dark for safety. Much against my will we landed at the water's edge.

Another thing that struck me with peculiar significance was the extreme warmth of the air after we left the earth. The currents are much warmer than down here, and though they tell me that aeronouts frequently strike extremely cold winds, we had not that experience.

WILL TRY AGAIN.

I can never be sufficiently grateful to the members of the Oakland Aero Club for the opportunity to go up, and I am glad that I shall always have the distinction of having been the first woman member, and one of the first California girls to test the fascination of the clouds.

I hope there isn't going to be any dispute about the trophy. I feel sure that we won the race honestly and fairly, but if they wish another trial, I shall be only too glad to go up again. In fact, I am afraid I've got the balloon habit. It's like automobiling. It sort of fascinates one, only sailing in the air is not to be compared for a single instant to skimming along the earth, the former is so infinitely more entertaining.

OAKLAND GIRL BRAVES DEATH IN BALLOON

"City of Oakland" With Miss Miller Aboard Wins Silver Cup

STILLNESS OF AIR MAKES SLOW RACE

Feminine Adjuncts to Balloon Pilots Anxious For Another Sky Trip

Though there is some dispute over the outcome, Miss Margaret Miller, the pretty East Oakland society girl who sailed the heavens in the "City of Oakland" with Captain Mars of the Oakland Aero Club yesterday afternoon in a race with the "Queen of the Pacific," piloted by Ivy Baldwin, veteran aeronaut of the San Francisco Club, who took as his mascot and assistant Geneve Schaffer of that city, is said to have won the race.

The two daring women are the first California girls to go in for balloon racing, and their breathless ascent into the higher air currents in competition for a handsome silver trophy cup, which was offered the winner of the race, attracted large crowds of people from both sides of the bay.

MAY TRY AGAIN.

The event which Miss Miller is believed to have won was the closing attraction of the Portola Festival. There has been a suggestion, however, that the victory of the "City of Oakland" was not decisive enough, and both women express their willingness to try again if it is so ordered.

The racers started from the grounds of the local club, Alcatraz and Telegraph avenues, just after 3 o'clock. The San Francisco balloon, Queen of the Pacific, got away first, just at 3.12. Eight minutes later Miss Miller stepped into the car of the City of Oakland, which shot up at 3.22.

AN IDEAL DAY.

The day was ideal for plain ballooning, but not for racing. The great gasbags sailed straight up to a height of 3000 feet. There they hovered. They made hardly any headway.

Ballast was thrown overboard in an endeavor to find an air current. But they merely drifted.

Thousands looked on. Relatives of the daring girls watched with greatest interest. When, at last, a slight current of air was struck, they followed toward the bay in automobiles.

The Queen of the Pacific was wafted slowly toward the bay, but Baldwin had not taken enough ballast to warrant an attempt to cross, so he descended at Fifty-ninth and Adeline streets, after being only fifteen minutes in the air. The descent was a pretty one. A crowd which rushed to the scene to watch the aeronaut and his pretty companion step from their car, cheered.

LAND NEAR WHARF.

Slowly the second balloon drifted out over the bay. Mars made every endeavor to find a current strong enough to carry him at least across to Goat Island, where he hoped to land. But the balloon hung for a time as if captive.

Mars brought the balloon down to within a few feet of the water. Slowly it drifted toward the Southern Pacific's Long Wharf. Then Robert Martland, president of the Oakland Aero Club, got a launch and went to the rescue.

his profession of a saintly creed. Many things he pretends and simulates clumsily, but from a broad standpoint the man is one who could with small effort impress the casual beholder.

IDENTIFIED BY MANY.

That he is the Denver man who swayed thousands in 1905 he asserts emphatically and people who knew him then say that this is true.

In spite of the many years spent in this country, Schlatter speaks English brokenly. For this reason the "healer" has decided to preach no more, though still placing the "Rev." before his name, since joining his fortunes with those of "Bishop August Schroeder, who, weird of expression as his peculiar companion, resembles Schlatter also in the hue and length of his hair, but not in shortness of body. Schroeder is six-foot-one in his big, flat-soled slippers. Schlatter is about five-feet-nothing, similarly shot, but weighs all of 180 pounds. He is not fat, however, but bulky of bone and muscle.

ARE PECULIAR PAIR.

Together this pair present a peculiar appearance, in their black velvet robes, somewhat the worse for wear and dust, which fall from their thick necks to the floor, tied at the waist with a tassled yellow cord.

"I began healing in Switzerland," he said, "when I was eight years old. The first great sensation was in Calcutta, forty years ago, where I cured ninety thousand people of yellow fever in three days. The whole country was wild over it.

"The next great sensation was in Denver, fifteen years ago, where I cured thousands of the ailing."

Asked whether Schlatter is a real or an assumed name, the "divine healer" asserted that it was his mother's before her marriage.

DOWIE IS BROTHER.

"My father was a healer and his name was J. Dowie. I had a brother, John Alexander Dowie, the founder of Zion City. With all of us practicing, the public confused us, and knowing that my work was greater than either of theirs I took my mother's name and fared forth.

"After coming to this country I married, and I have now three sons living in New York, though I have not seen them since 1896. None of them have inherited my gift. I believe it will die with me."

Schlatter owes his downfall from public favor to a mysterious "disappearance" he made after his great success in Denver. He went away saying that like Christ, he should come into the world again, but during his absence public interest died, and now the once famous sensationalist is unable to win back his former prestige.

'PORK BARREL' IS OPPOSED BY TAFT

the conservation of our natural resources."

The mention of Roosevelt's name evoked prolonged cheering. The President went into a brief description of the subject of conservation, and said the people of the Mississippi Valley were especially interested in the improvement of inland waterways and the preservation of the forests as a means of putting an end to the floods which were carrying so many of the farms in Missouri, Iowa and other states down to the delta of the Mississippi.

IS TOO LIBERAL.

The President said the government of the United States had been exceedingly generous in parting with its lands in the past, and that the time had come for the adoption of a new policy in that regard. He spoke of the necessity for new legislation regarding water power, and to prevent monopolies from gaining control.

Coming to the subject of waterways, Mr. Taft declared that while he did not wish to see this, there was no denying the fact that the improvement of waterways had been carried forward in a haphazard fashion, and that a new method should be adopted.

"And right here," added the President, "I want to clear away a supposition which, I am afraid, has lodged in a good many minds. The project is for irrigation and for the improvement of waterways in the future and not to be for the purpose of distributing 'pork' to every part of the country. Every measure is to be adopted on the ground that it would be useful to the whole country. They are not to be adopted for sending certain Congressmen back to Washington or for making certain parts of the country profitable during the expenditure of the money.

ON MERITS ONLY.

"We should take up every comprehensive project on its merits and determine whether the country where the project is to be carried out has so far developed as to justify the enormous expenditure and if it would be useful when done. When we decide in favor of a project I believe in issuing bonds to carry it to completion as rapidly as possible.

"It has been proposed that we issue bonds for $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 and cut it up and parcel the money out in this and that section of the country. I am opposed to any such proposition. Because it not only smells of the 'pork barrel,' but would be a 'pork barrel.'"

Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives, who declared some time ago that he was opposed to any issue of bonds to improve the waterways, sat just beside the President while he was speaking.

PRESCRIPTION FOR KIDNEYS

Said to Be the Best Ever Compounded for Kidney and Bladder Complaints.

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on care of the kidneys and bladder. Weak or inactive kidneys lead to most serious and complicated consequences, such as chronic rheumatism, diabetes or Bright's disease. For this reason, such symptoms as pain in the back, rheumatic pains in the joints, frequent or highly colored urination, soreness in the groin or hip, dizziness, puffiness under the eyes, etc., should be attended to without delay. The following prescription is known to be highly indorsed by high medical authority: "One-half ounce Murax compound, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, six ounces good pure gin." These ingredients can be bought separately and mixed at home or any good druggist can put them up. For best results, take in doses of one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day, after meals. Taken in time, this treatment is the best obtainable.

M. J. LAYMANCE THANKS CITIZENS AND COMMITTEE

EDITOR TRIBUNE—Dear Sir: The automobile races on Saturday were a great success from every point of view.

I estimated that there would be 300,000 people attend these races, and I believe the number in attendance exceeded my estimate by at least 50,000.

All the cash prizes and Oakland Cup and the entire expenses of the races were paid for by the citizens of the city of Oakland. I want to thank them for their generous donations and also for their loyalty to the Oakland committee. While making the arrangements for this great event I was met on every side by enthusiasts in our city who were just as desirous as myself of making this not only a success, but a great event. In addition to this the people of Alameda county rose as one man to make this race the great success it was.

I wish also to thank the members of the committee for their valuable assistance, as every member of the committee put his shoulder to the wheel and rendered every assistance possible to make the affair a success.

The result of these races shows that Oakland is on the map. We have a great community here and furthermore we have found that we have a great patriotic spirit in the county of Alameda. Very truly yours,
M. J. LAYMANCE.

[Mr. M. Meyerfeld of the Orpheum presented a handsome cup for one of the events. It was called the Orpheum Cup.]

FOR OLD PEOPLE

After reaching the age of forty the human system gradually declines. The accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatic pains in the joints, muscles and back.

These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription, which shows wonderful results even after the first few doses and it will eventually restore physical vigor.

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla, one ounce Toris compound; half pint of high-grade whisky. This to be mixed and used in tablespoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime. The bottle to be well shaken each time." Any druggist can supply the ingredients and they are easily mixed.

CHARLES M. FICKERT MAKING AN HONEST CAMPAIGN; ANSWERS QUESTIONS PUT TO HIM BY THE BULLETIN

FAIR TRIAL FOR ALL ACCUSED BY LAW

No Man Will Own District Attorney's Office if Fickert Is Elected

TELLS HOW INNOCENT MEN WERE INDICTED

Union Labor and Republican Candidate Writes Letter Bulletin Refuses to Publish

Charles M. Fickert, Republican and Union Labor candidate for District Attorney of San Francisco, looks like a winner. He has met all the charges made against him like a man and now has his enemies on the run.

No question has been put to him that he has not promptly answered. He is ready at all times to give an answer to the public and for this reason he has become a popular favorite in San Francisco. The following letter shows the kind of a man Fickert is and the kind of a campaign he is making; ready to answer every question put to him:

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. —, 1909.

To the Public of San Francisco:

In the Bulletin of the issue of Thursday, October 7, 1909, an editorial in the usual high-toned and fair-minded style of that 'disseminator of the gospel of the kept" propounded to me certain questions respecting which, it truculently remarked, "here are some questions that Fickert might, but will not, answer." I submit this editorial:

> That apostle of "civic peace," Charles M. Fickert, grows nightly more violent in his denunciation of the graft prosecution and all who have aided it. In the interest of "civic peace" he repeats all the false accusations that have been uttered by the subsidized press in the past few years. He declares that the members of the prosecution are infamous intriguers. But he has no word of criticism for the bribe-givers. The fact that franchises were purchased by bribes does not stir his youthful ire. The blowing up of Gallagher's house, the purloining of reports from the safe of William J. Burns and all the crimes that have been committed in the interest of indicted men to defeat justice have not attracted Mr. Fickert's attention.
>
> Yet, while echoing the false charges made against the prosecution by the boodlers, and ignoring the crimes of the boodlers and their allies, Fickert declares that he is impartial, that he is "no man's man," and that he will prosecute every man now under indictment for graft where there is evidence to warrant presenting the case to a jury.
>
> Fickert's notion of "civic peace" is curiously similar to that of the higher-ups under indictment.
>
> Here are some questions that Fickert might, but will not, answer:
>
> Why do the men under indictment, if they are innocent, support him in preference to Heney?
>
> Why would the election of Fickert be regarded all over the country as a victory for the indicted men?
>
> How did it happen that Fickert was nominated by two such apparently mutually oppugnant bodies as P. H. McCarthy's political labor organization and young Hellmans "business men?"
>
> —San Francisco Bulletin, Thursday, October 7, 1909.

OLDER HIDES FROM HIM.

This editorial was called to my attention on Friday, the 8th of October. I immediately prepared replies to each of these questions, and on the same day and prior to the issue of the Bulletin for that day, went to the office of that paper and asked to see Fremont Older, its managing editor. This was not vouchsafed me, as Mr. Older refused to see me, and I was referred to the city editor. I offered him my written answers to the questions propounded in their editorial and asked him to give it the same prominence in his paper of that day as he gave to the editorial the day before, and it is needless to inform a San Francisco audience at all familiar with the tactics of that sheet, that my offer was refused, and that the Bulletin did not publish the answer.

For fear, however, that somebody in San Francisco might not know the depth of degredation to which the Bulletin has descended, and might not perceive in this editorial the unfairness that lurks in its every line, and consequently imagine that I had anything to conceal respecting my future purpose, I propose to publish the answers to the questions propounded by the Bulletin, that the Bulletin refused to publish after inviting me to make the answers:

HIS LETTER TO BULLETIN.

Editor Bulletin—Sir: In an editorial in your issue of October 7 you asked me certain questions which you declared I might, but would not, answer. I answer them most willingly. Having publicly asked the questions and invited a reply, you will, of course, give equal publicity to the answer.

1. You ask: "Why do the men under indictment, if they are innocent, support him (Fickert) in preference to Heney?"

I answer that I do not know whether or not the men under indictment by the graft prosecution are supporting my candidacy, but it is easy to believe that they would support the candidacy of any man whom they believed to be a fair man, and who they believed would give them the fair and impartial trial which the constitution guarantees, as against a prosecuting officer who has shown his unfairness in a dozen ways, and who will not stop at the indictment of innocent men, at the packing of juries, or at the coercion of courts, to accomplish his purposes. One instance of each of these methods should be sufficient, though more might readily be given.

THE BROBECK TRAVESTY.

W. I. Brobeck, an attorney-at-law in good standing before the courts of this State, was indicted fourteen times by Mr. Heney in connection with the Parkside matter. There is in existence a transcript of all of the testimony bearing upon his alleged offenses.

Mr. Brobeck himself was a witness before the grand jury and testified fully. Not one word in all of that testimony connected Mr. Brobeck with any crime, yet fourteen indictments were presented against him. He was forced to give bail in the sum of $140,000, and the fact of his indictment was published to the world. Subsequently, in the trial of Ruef, Mr. Brobeck was called by the prosecution as a witness. He had made no terms with the prosecution and refused to make any. He did not refuse to answer the questions put to him upon the ground that the answers would tend to incriminate him, or upon any other ground, but on the contrary answered fully, as he had done before the grand jury. Thereafter, of his own initiative, Mr. Heney moved to dismiss the indictments against Mr. Brobeck, and when asked upon what ground stated in open court: "Upon any and all grounds." Thus these indictments were dismissed. Here there was one innocent man upon whom was put this stigma and disgrace without opportunity to defend himself. In the end Mr. Heney admits the injustice done, by himself dismissing the indictments. Do you think it is probable that Mr. Brobeck, now admittedly an innocent man, unjustly charged, would favor the continuance in office of such a prosecutor as Mr. Heney?

PERVERSIONS OF JUSTICE.

The packing of juries is part of the history of the graft prosecution. The sole reason for the existence of Burns and his spies, years after the indictments brought and the evidence gathered, is to do this very work. How well it has been accomplished and the shocking perversions of justice which resulted therefrom, are instanced in the case of Juror Arthur, who was known to Mr. Heney from the reports of his spies to be unfitted to serve upon the jury by reason of his prejudice, and yet was deliberately retained thereon.

Of the attempted coercion of courts, it is unnecessary to give you or your readers any further instances than those furnished by the pages of your own paper. Therefore, I say that it is quite natural that a defendant, innocent or guilty, would prefer to be prosecuted by a man whom he hopes or believes to be fair, rather than by one whose unfairness has been so often demonstrated.

DEFEAT OF SELF-SEEKERS.

2. "Why would the election of Fickert be regarded all over the country as a victory for the indicted men?"

I answer that I do not know, nor do I understand how you could know, that my victory would be so regarded. I am, however, more concerned as to how it would be regarded here in San Francisco by its citizens, and I have no doubt that they would regard it as a victory for decency and fair play, and as the rescue of a public office from the grasp of self-seeking politicians and its restoration to the people, and to the uses for which alone it was created by law.

3. "How did it happen that Fickert was nominated by two such apparently mutually oppugnant bodies as P. H. McCarthy's political labor organization and young Hellman's business men?"

ALL CITIZENS IN REVOLT.

You mean by this: How did it happen that I was nominated by the Union Labor party and the Republican party? You should have added "by the Democratic party" as well, since you will not have forgotten that you conceded and proclaimed my nomination by that party the day after the election. Your question then is: "How did it happen that I was nominated by such 'oppugnant bodies' as the Republican party, the Union Labor party and the Democratic party?"

Are you sincere in asking for an answer to this question? Is it not plain to you that it is a revolt of the citizenship of San Francisco, regardless of political party, against the methods of the graft prosecution, and a demand that our criminal procedure shall be no longer Mexicanized; that it is a declaration that after three years of trial the methods of the graft prosecution are utterly condemned, and that the prosecution of the graft cases shall be taken out of the hands of those whose sole stock in trade and whose whole design is to drag them out as long as possible in furtherance of their own ulterior purposes?

Thanking you for this opportunity to relieve your doubts and assuring you of my very great willingness to answer any further questions, I am, sir, (Signed) CHARLES M. FICKERT.

Here is the documentary evidence of it. This is part of the subsidy paid by Rudolph Spreckels. Every voter who wants a decent administration of the office of District Attorney asks you, Mr. Heney:

Mr. Heney: Did you know or did Burns ever tell you that he went to a close friend of General Ford, while the latter was on trial, told him that he knew that Ford would be convicted and suggested that if Ford would tell the story which he, Burns, would make up for him, the trial would be ended and he would not be prosecuted further? Did he tell you further that this friend of General Ford practically kicked Burns out of the office?

Temperance Convention Condemns American Conduct in Philippines

OMAHA, Oct. 25.—Preceded by the usual hour of prayer and praise, the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Women's Christian Union resumed its work today with a full attendance of delegates and well-filled galleries.

Reports of organizers occupied the morning. Miss Annie Robins of Minneapolis, formerly a nurse in the United States Army hospital in the Philippines, told of the great need of missionary work in the Philippines. As an indictment of the institutions and customs introduced by the Americans since the acquisition of the islands her report was especially impressive. She said:

"On the American's entrance there we found the natives a temperate people, though not total abstainers. Up to that time the streets of Manila were lined with what was known as 'native vine shacks,' where not only 'vino,' the wine of the country, but food as well, was sold, the natives buying food and taking a small quantity of wine to drink as they ate. But when the hue and cry all over our land was raised of the number of saloons lining the streets of Manila something had to be done.

"A commission was appointed to investigate. They visited those places, drank of the wine, and if they decided the wine was pure, the saloon remained opened; if they decided the wine impure, the saloon was closed. This reduced the native saloons greatly, but in their places rose the larger and more attractive saloons."

Miss Robins tells of difficulties encountered in the temperance missionary work and discouraging results so far obtained.

STEEL CORPORATION TO BUY NINE BREWERIES

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25. — It is asserted that the United States Steel corporation has decided to make an effort to control the drinking of 25,000 persons in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, who are interested in the manufacture of coke and will invest $10,000,000 in a project to obtain possession of nine breweries now running in the county.

It is understood that the steel corporation will try to regulate the drinking of the foreigners, it being figured that at least three per cent better returns can be gleaned on the millions invested there by regulating the drink of the coke workers — permitting them to drink, but stipulating where and when they shall drink.

The sale of beer by the keg or by the barrel to the coke workers is what the corporation objects to and will try to remedy.

JEALOUS WIFE SETS TRAP; 'STUNG'

Sleuthing Better-Half Finds Supposed Spouse Is Not Own Husband

EXCITES HOTEL GUESTS IN "GUM-SHOE" QUEST

Mrs. W. A. Stephens, of Piedmont, Chases Rival on Hotel Register

It all came from a case of mistaken identity and a newspaper personal not intended to do harm Mrs. W. A Stephens of Piedmont did not know that there was a double for her husband who was happily married Neither did Mrs W. A. Stephens of Denver know that there was a woman living on this side of the bay whose husband is a mining man, just as her own husband is It never occurred to the suspicious Mrs Stephens of Piedmont that there could be any other couple of the same name living not six miles away. That is just why a comedy of errors was enacted at the St. Francis hotel during the hurly burly incidents of Portola week

ASKS FOR NAMESAKE.

Mrs. Stephens of Piedmont called at the St. Francis hotel, and, giving a name manufactured for her own designs, asked to see the Mrs. Stephens of Denver. There was something about her manner that made the hotel clerk proceed cautiously. His discretion was instinctive

"I would like to see the register," Mrs. Stephens said, smothering her defiance

The book was shown, and a hasty glance at its pages showed that there were a Mr and Mrs W. A Stephens staying at the hotel.

"I wish to see Mrs. Stephens," the then unknown woman said. "Please send up my card."

CLERK IS WARY.

Before the other Mrs. Stephens appeared or answered, however, Mrs. Stephens of Piedmont was volubly explaining her mission. The house detective was called.

The irate spouse then unbosomed herself of all her suspicions She explained in detail just how her husband looked and what were his physical attributes. The house detective was struck dumb, for her description of the Piedmont dweller tallied exactly with the resident of Denver.

SITUATION TENSE.

"Has he gray hair over his temples?" queried the angry visitor. Alas, he had. The situation was becoming intense Stephens and Stephens were either the same person or remarkable doubles.

Thought ran swiftly in the minds of the clerks of the hotel What was there to do under such distressing circumstances with a lobby full of people and the possibility of a scene?

There was only one thing to do, however Mrs. Stephens insisting that she be brought face to face with the other woman. She particularly wanted to see Mrs. Stephens of Denver of course.

As it happened however, both Mr. and Mrs Stephens of Denver appeared on the scene together. Mrs Stephens was terribly abashed Her suspicions were proved to be entirely unfounded. There was much hurried explanation and apologies and then the mistaken spouse returned to Piedmont The suspected member of Oakland society was all the while at work examining mining properties in Nevada.

BRIDGE IMPERILS LIFE AND TRAFFIC

Councilman Krumb and Supervisor Bridge Consult to Hasten Improvement

ALAMEDA, Oct. 25.—That the condition of the planking of the Bay Farm Island Bridge is likely to cause accidents to people crossing over it, was asserted by Councilman Fred Krumb today, who was in consultation with Supervisor William Bridge this afternoon in regard to the improvement of the bridge.

The contract for the improvement of this bridge and work on the approaches to the bridge has been let by the county, and the work was to have been commenced some weeks ago, but Scott & Healey, the contractors, are completing a bridge at San Leandro, and will not be able to start the work here until this is completed

Both the city of Alameda and the county will share the expense of this work, the county standing the largest share

Although no accident has happened on the bridge across San Leandro Bay as yet, it is in such a broken down condition that it is feared that persons and horses will meet with some mishap there.

COUNCIL TO PUT BAN UPON DOGS

Attack on Child Causes Mayor to Want Ordinance Governing Animals

ALAMEDA, Oct. 25.—The injury done little Ruth Wiegandt Thursday afternoon by a vicious dog has raised a protest against the canine world by many residents and enlisted the sympathy of Mayor W. H. Noy, who stated today that he thought that the city council should pass an ordinance prohibiting ferocious animals from running loose on the streets of the city.

H. C Robinson of 425 Haight avenue addressed a letter to Mayor Noy Saturday, in which he inclosed a story from The TRIBUNE, and stated that the children of the city should be protected from stray dogs Mayor Noy said today that he coincided with the opinion of Robinson.

"The time has arrived," said Mayor Noy, "when an ordinance should be passed to protect the residents from these animals who attack children. I think I can safely say that the city council will take this matter up in committee session Friday night, and will pass an ordinance against the dogs in regular session Tuesday night."

Hear Rigo at the Bell

RIGO.

Eccentric Violinist Scoring Big Success at Oakland's Popular Theater

Rigo, the violinist, the man who caused two continents to look up and gasp, the man who won a Princess with the enchanting strains of his violin, is at the Bell Theater this week. So much has been said and written about this eccentric character that there is now an opportunity for those who are interested to see and judge for one's self. There is no question about his art. He stands alone as a master of the greatest musical instrument in the world—the violin. His eccentricities, which have either been condemned or ignored, according to the viewpoint of the critic, are of no moment, for the artist is so far above the man that one can listen enchanted with his beautiful execution He will be at the Bell all this week.

CONSUMPTION TO BE SPEAKER'S THEME

Alameda County Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis Plan Lecture on Friday

A general meeting, open to the interested public, will be held in the Chabot Observatory, between Eleventh and Twelfth and Grove and Jefferson streets, on Friday, October 29, 1909, by the Alameda County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The subject of "Consumption" in all its phases — the possibility of its cure under certain conditions, and what is possibly even more important — its prevention — will be handled by nurses, physicians and laymen in a manner which will allow every feature to be easily understood by every class in the audience. Dr. Ward of San Francisco, who is generally conceded to be an authority on the subject of milk and foods in connection with tuberculosis will illustrate his remarks with a number of excellent stereopticon slides.

SLIDE PHOTOGRAPHS.

It is hoped also to be able to show some slide photographs of the excellent home for consumptives erected by the International Typographical Union at Colorado Springs, Colorado, this structure being regarded as a model one proving the efficacy of proper treatment. This will be made possible by the courtesy of the Oakland branch of the printing trades.

Invitations have been extended to various fraternal organizations, and announcements of the meeting have been made from the pulpits of almost every church in Alameda county.

The meeting will be free in every sense of the word and it is hoped that it may prove beneficial to those attending to such an extent that similar gatherings may be conducted by the society at frequent intervals. Dr Florence Sylvester is chairman of the committee having the work in hand, and much credit is also due to Miss Anna F. Brown, Mrs Louise C. Smith, secretary of the Ebell Club, and a number of other well known members of Oaklands society set.

MYSTERY ABOUT MAN FOUND DYING

San Francisco Police Puzzled as to Whether or Not Thugs Are to Blame

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 25. — Whether the victim of an accident or struck down by holdup men in the darkness at Nineteenth and Howard streets, Thomas Lydon, a longshoreman, forty years old, was picked up in an unconscious condition by Policeman Skelley shortly after midnight.

At the Mission Emergency hospital it was found that the man was dying from a fractured skull and other injuries which may have been received in several different ways, but which would seem to have been caused by repeated blows on the head. The man's address is unknown and the whole affair is clothed in deep mystery.

Detectives Gallagher and Burke of the Mission station are endeavoring to trace the man's movements and are interviewing residents in the vicinity as to whether any cries were heard or whether anything else developed to indicate that a crime was being committed.

MILLIONS OF LIVES LOST

An Awful Toll Collected by Consumption--Many Unnecessary Deaths From This Disease.

If people could only understand that systemic catarrh is an internal disease that external applications cannot cure, they would not need to be warned so often about this malady, which when neglected paves the way oftentimes for consumption, at the cost of millions of lives every year. Yet catarrh may be cured if the right treatment is employed.

Catarrh is caused by a general diseased state of the system which leads commonly to annoying and perhaps serious local conditions, which may prove a fertile breeding ground for germs of consumption. External remedies give but temporary ease.

The only way to successfully treat catarrh is by employing a medicine which is absorbed and carried by the blood to all parts of the system, so that the mucous membrane or internal lining of the body is toned up and made capable of resisting the infection of consumption and other diseases.

We have a remedy prepared from the prescription of a physician who for thirty years studied and made catarrh a specialty and whose record was a patient restored to health in every case where his treatment was followed as prescribed. That remedy is Rexall Mucu-Tone. We are so positive that it will completely overcome catarrh in all its various forms, whether acute or chronic, that we promise to return every penny paid us for the medicine in every case where it fails or for any reason does not satisfy the user.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our recommendation and guarantee. We are right here where you live, and you do not contract any obligation or risk when you try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Very often the taking of one 50-cent bottle is sufficient to make a marked impression upon the case. Of course in chronic cases a longer treatment is necessary. The average in such instances is three $1.00 bottles. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Oakland only at our store—The Rexall Store Owl Drug Co., Inc., Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, California and Seattle, Washington.

Rigo Is Shining Star of Big List of Stellar Acts at Bell

MRS. GARDNER CRANE, who starts in her own play, "Mrs. Pixley's Prodigal Parents," at the Bell.

A riot without the assistance of the officers of the law to quell it can best describe the ovation that Rigo, the Gypsy violinist, met with at his three appearances at the Bell Theater on Sunday. Rigo appears in conventional afternoon frock, debonair, smiling, with the accustomed boutoniere, nothing to betray the artist in the man, but before he has drawn his bow more than two or three times across his violin his auditors are aware they are listening to a man who is unquestionably the master of the greatest of all musical instruments, the violin.

A BORN GENIUS.

Rigo is a wonderful man in more ways than one. He has never attended school for more than two weeks in all his life, although he speaks and writes eight languages. Never had a music lesson and never in his history has he practiced five minutes in preparation for any of his concerts. And in line with this eccentricity, he never knows when he goes before the footlights just what he is going to play, improvisions, classics or ragtime. At his Sunday performances he gave his auditors a mixture of popular airs with a taste of the classic, and the tremendous ovation he received bespoke the genuine approval of his hearers. His many mannerisms add a spice to his number. There is a sort of comedy which is not comedy about Rigo that makes him an attractive vaudeville offering.

IS CLEVER SKETCH.

A scream from beginning to end is Mrs Crane's original comedy, "Pixley's Prodigal Parents," in which Mr and Mrs. Gardner, Crane & Co. are seen. There are five characters necessary to the story which develops naturally without the usual recourse to explanatory monologues to outline it. There is a delightful comedy vein that carries one into the atmosphere of the play. The situations are new and the denouement is unexpected and quite satisfying. It is without question one of the strongest offerings that has come to the coast and sets a new standard for legitimate comedy in vaudeville.

JUGGLES FURNITURE.

Frank Parker is a strong man who balances and juggles the entire furnishings of a bedroom, including a large bureau, a heavy bedstead, etc., while his assistants, a bellboy and a maid, brighten the act with pantomimic comedy. McLallen and Carson earn a tribute with their spectacular act, "A Scene in Toy Land." They are wonderfully expert on roller skates, which, with their pretty costumes and the many original features introduced, make up a highly satisfactory number. Two old minstrel favorites, Williston and Stonaker, capture the crowds with their singing. One is a baritone who has a splendid singing voice, while the other won out by the novelty of his falsetto-soprano. There yodeling duet was the occasion for insistent encoring. Two good pictures on the Bellscope, a Civil War study and a lively comedy, add to the pleasure of the bill.

LIPTON READY TO ISSUE CHALLENGE

Still Keen to Lift the Great America's Cup for Yachts

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — "I am here this time red hot for another challenge to the New York Yacht Club and will do my best to arrange matters with the club so that I can have another chance to lift the America's cup."

So spoke Sir Thomas Lipton today on his arrival from Europe. He will be in New York several days.

"I don't care to talk more definitely," Sir Thomas said, "until I have seen the yacht club committee which will have this matter in charge."

It is believed Sir Thomas has brought with him a challenge conditioned on modification of the rules governing the contest for the America's cup. Sir Thomas desires the club to change the present rule so that he can bring over a Shamrock IV built under rules which will permit the construction of a substantial racing craft.

The present rule governing the America's cup races provides only for a given water line length and under this condition fragile racing machines were developed.

Sir Thomas expects to meet the members of the New York Yacht club within a few days.

Later Sir Lipton consented to talk about what he would like to see done in order to give challengers what he considered an equal chance with American yachts in cup races.

"I have been defeated three times in American waters," said Sir Thomas, "and I will say frankly that on each occasion the best boat has won. However, every time I have challenged the racing rules have been so changed that each new race has required that I build a bigger freak than the last one. Five times the rules have been changed.

"To bring over the freak yacht which it is necessary to build under the present rules means grave danger to the yacht and to the men aboard her. I have lost two men in coming across the Atlantic.

"What I desire is to race under the universal rules. If I can't win under those I can at least provide good sport, and that is the primary reason for all racing, or at least it should be."

Sir Thomas said he wanted to race for the cup with a 90-footer, and would be ready in 1911.

JOHNSON ENROUTE TO MEET JIM JEFFRIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Jack Johnson, the colored pugilistic champion arrived here today and declared he would leave Wednesday for New York to see James J. Jeffries and that he would stand for any sort of division of the fight receipts—winner take all, if Jeffries so wished.

Constipation and Appendicitis

The Latter Usually Caused By The Former, Which, In Turn, Has Its Origin In Intestinal Indigestion.

Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily.

Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills, and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment, they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis.

In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastro-intestinal indigestion.

The idea that appendicitis is brought on by foreign bodies, such as seeds, etc., becoming lodged in the appendix, is an exploded theory. It is now definitely known that constipation is the most prolific cause of this dread disease, while the constipation itself is previously induced by intestinal indigestion, or amylaceous dyspepsia—the inability to digest starches—so the relation between cause and effect is readily seen and appreciated.

The absurdity of attempting to cure constipation by the use of physic should be apparent to every one. Laxative drugs and powerful purgatives will never cure a disease of this sort, and those who make frequent or regular use of them will, sooner or later, set up an inflammatory condition of the intestinal system.

A person with first-class digestion will never be annoyed with chronic constipation, and when this trouble does exist, instead of slugging the system with pills, liquid laxatives, candy cathartics, etc., use a remedy which will cure the gastro-intestinal indigestion, and you will find that the constipation no longer bothers you, and with its removal, the risk of developing appendicitis will be reduced to the minimum.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS have been the means of curing numerous cases of constipation, by first curing the intestinal indigestion. They digest every kind of food, a single grain being capable of digesting 3000 grains of alimentum, and in addition to pepsin and other powerful digestives, they also contain diastase, which converts starch into sugar, and readily cures amylaceous dyspepsia and intestinal indigestion.

If you are suffering from dyspepsia, constipation, and, in fact, indigestion of any kind, don't run the risk of getting appendicitis, but strike at the root of the trouble—the original cause—by using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will quickly rid you of all functional disorders of the alimentary tract.

Secure a box of this digestive remedy from your druggist for 50c and send your name and address to the F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., for a free sample package.

Oakland's Great Auto Races.

THE auto races over the Melrose course, just outside the city limits, was one of the greatest events of the kind in the history of auto racing. Oakland never before had so splendid an advertisement. It is not too much to say that the races have made Oakland famous. Wherever the motor car is used; no matter in what part of the world, eyes were turned to Oakland last Saturday, and there was eager waiting to learn the result.

And the event justified the world-wide interest. All previous records on this side of the Atlantic were smashed, and a new one now stands at the head of the annals of auto racing, "At Oakland, Cal., October 23, 1909, 258 miles; time, 3:59:18." These magical figures tell the story of a splendid achievement in auto racing—an endurance run of not quite four hours at an average speed of 64.51 miles an hour, during which three tires were changed, and the victors ran under the wire at the winning post at a speed above 65 miles an hour and in condition for another long distance run.

No wonder the vast throng gathered for miles along the course cheered themselves hoarse in honor of the feat. No wonder the committee felt elated and that the people of Oakland and Alameda county are today proud and happy that the Portola celebration was brought to such a splendid close on the Oakland side of the bay. It is something to be proud of. The feat itself captivates the imagination. It was well worthy a momentous occasion, recalling the peril and pageantry of the chariot races in ancient Rome. But even Ben Hur and his Arabian steeds grow tame in comparison with the tense effort and terrific speed of that triumph of modern mechanism—the motor car.

Every condition favored the splendid performance of the racers. The weather was perfect—California autumn at its best. The course challenged the utmost within the powers of men and machines. There is no finer auto track in America—probably few superior in the world than the Melrose course. The broad, beautiful highway is a triumph of the roadmaker's art—the best public road in California. Of itself it is a splendid advertisement for Alameda county. Elsewhere auto races are run over carefully constructed courses, but the races run here Saturday were over country roads built for ordinary, everyday traffic. Yet it was conceded by every auto driver that the course was the best they had ever run over—smooth, firm and well graded. It is worth a good deal to Alameda county to have its fine highways so well advertised as they will be by people from all over the country who came to view the races.

For the great success achieved the Oakland Portola Committee is entitled to the warm thanks of the entire community. The arrangements were flawless, and they were carried out with a precision that merits the highest praise. Every precaution possible under the circumstances was taken to prevent accident. The races started on time—something unusual—and finished in good season. Only organizing skill of a high order could have carried out in perfect order a program every detail of which had to be calculated to a nicety.

But the Supervisors are entitled to credit for doing their part in making the event such a splendid success. They assumed the responsibility of closing to traffic for several hours the County Boulevard and the San Leandro Road, which gave the races an unrivaled course for the great speed test. Although they had the universal consent of the public as a sanction for their action, it nevertheless required considerable moral courage to order the two thoroughfares to be closed. However, they are now highly praised by every one, since the races proved to be such an immense success and so tremendous a drawing card.

All in all, the races reflect credit on all concerned in getting them up, and have given Oakland and Alameda county a fame abroad that will prove a valuable advertisement from a business point of view. Oakland's great Portola race is now on the tongue of every motorist in the world.

Great Britain's Latest Crisis.

The British House of Lords, without intending to do so, has precipitated the question, "Shall the Lords or the people rule?" into the forefront of British politics. No such crisis has existed in the politics of the tight little island since it cost Charles I his head for undertaking to levy taxes without the consent of parliament.

As THE TRIBUNE has heretofore shown the precedent has been firmly fixed in British parliamentary procudure that all bills for the raising • revenue and the manner of its expenditure must originate and be defined by the House of Commons, whose members are elected by the direct vote of the people; that the powers of the House of Lords and of the Crown itself are restricted to the perfunctory act of consenting; that the Lords cannot revise a revenue bill nor change its purpose, but must either accept it as a whole or reject it in toto; that the latter procedure involves a conflict between the two houses, which can be settled only by an appeal to the electorate; that the reigning monarch must sign a revenue bill, if it passes both houses, whether his personal inclinations favor it or not, as he is the mere instrument of his own ministers who as the representatives of public opinion constitute the supreme power behind the throne.

Rosebery and other opponents in the upper house who have inveighed against the new principles involved in the budget which is now before the Lords have raised a direct issue between the Commons—in other words, the people—and themselves as to who shall constitute the supreme authority which is vested in the right to raise and disburse the revenues. While everything indicates at present that the sober second thought of the Peers will result in their approval of the budget, under a restrained form of protest, events point clearly to the fact that it will not sidetrack the storm threatening their future status which they have invoked.

In a recent Newcastle-on-Tyne speech David Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared that the time had come, no matter what course the House of Lords took toward the present budget, when the people must determine for themselves who should rule in the future—the Peers or the people; in other words, that the issue which the Peers themselves have raised must be settled at a general election by popular vote. If the government is sustained on that issue, the doom of the House of Lords as a hereditary body will be fixed and a complete revolution in Britain's constitutional government will follow. The upper house will be reorganized by long term or life membership through appointment by the Crown or by popular election. The change is apparently inevitable.

William T. Stead calls attention to the interesting fact at this juncture that James Bryce, the British Ambassador to Washington, predicted the downfall of the House of Lords seventeen years ago when he was simply an ordinary member of the House of Commons. As a trained newspaper man Bryce then clearly interpreted the trend of public opinion and foresaw quite as clearly the final outcome. It is doubtful whether he then surmised that it would occur in his lifetime; but it looks now as if he will live to witness it, for it is a foregone conclusion that no matter what action the House of Lords takes on the budget, the present government will dissolve parliament and appeal to the country on the sole issue of the reorganization of the upper house and the curtailment of its veto powers.

An Exhibition of Petty Spirit.

In their accounts of the great auto races the press of San Francisco displayed a curious ignorance of Oakland. They did not even know that the course was in Alameda county, and somehow never discovered that the auto races were gotten up by the Oakland Portola Committee as a complement to the San Francisco celebration. Reading the press accounts of the affair, which was the most notable of its kind that ever took place on the Pacific Coast, a stranger would never suppose that it came off in the suburbs of this city; he would never realize that it was arranged for and carried out by a separate committee on this side of the bay, but would naturally infer that it took place in the suburbs of San Francisco. This evinces a narrow, illiberal, unneighborly spirit. The people and newspapers of Oakland did all in their power to boost the Portola celebration, and contributed not a little to making it the magnificent success it was, and it was a shabby return for the San Francisco papers to leave Oakland off the map in printing the news of the great auto races run on the outskirts of this city. While many thousands came from San Francisco to witness the races, the members of the Portola Committee did not see fit to grace the occasion with their presence. Still we fancy Oakland will survive the slight and the overlook.

Berlin is pinched for money and the drain on the Bank of England's gold reserves has been so great during the week for speculation in American securities that the bank governors called a halt by raising the rate of discount to 5 per cent. The action of the bank has had the effect of curbing speculation and weakening the market prices of all securities—British, American and South African.

Again reports are coming out of the Congo Free State decribing the torturing, killing and holding in slavery of the natives employed on the rubber plantations. King Leopold of Belgium has denied the charges made hitherto; notwithstanding the dumb testimony of the camera showing the mutilation of the limbs of the victims of his agents. Now the Belgian minister of the colonies has ordered an official inquiry. Where there is so much smoke as has been in evidence, metaphorically speaking, in the government of the Congo Free State, there is evidently some fire.

MOORS AS FIGHTING MEN

The Moors are adepts at fighting on horseback and extremely mobile. But they are incorrigibly lazy and seldom indulge in night attacks. When they attack in force they usually give a lift to the foot soldiers and accompany them or allow them to run alongside and hold on to the stirrup iron. The mounted men then make a charge, wheel round and retire and make way for the footmen, who crawl along the ground almost invisible and who rise to the attack if they come within striking distance of the enemy. As a rule the Rifferos prefer to lure detached parties into an ambush or defile and thus inflict loss upon them. The mounted men seldom dismount to fire, and the firing being from the saddle is very inaccurate. Should the advance of the white troops be slow or hesitating the Moors effect a bold combination between horsemen and footmen and generally succeed in inflicting heavy losses on their enemy. The prime tactics of the Moors are to delay the advance of an enemy as much as possible by mounted rifle fire until they can discern its extent and direction and subsequently to try and envelop the advancing force. The tribes also indulge in sniping, but not to a very great extent, and they also fight individually. They do not neglect opportunities or strategem and can effect some very clever rushes. They are also guilty of abusing the services of the white flag in action, as the French troops found to their cost during the operations around Casa Blanca. The Moorish intelligence system is an excellent one and the tribes are seldom without information regarding the movements of an enemy. They have also an excellent system of signalling at night by means of small fires dotted about the hills and ravines, and which are obscured and revealed in accordance with an ingenious code of signals known to themselves.—Londan Military Mail.

More Membeas In the House

"Members of Congress in those states which will get increased representation at Washington after the census of 1910 are feeling pretty safe as regards their prospects of re-election a year hence," said Judge Thomas L. Scarborough, of Tennessee, at the Rennert.

"There will be a new apportionment after the census is taken, as the increase in the nation's population will certainly call for an increase in the number of legislators in the lower branch of Congress. But the limit has, in the opinion of many, been nearly reached, and there will be a fight against adding many members to the present House total—some 380-odd. Some states will show little gain since the census of 1900, and a few may reveal an actual loss. Texas and Oklahoma will show big gains, while the increase in States like Illinois and Ohio will not be so marked.

"The problem will be how to raise the basis of representation so as not to make the House unduly large and unwieldy, and at the same time keep any State from losing any of its present representation. It will take some fine figuring to do this. In the States that will gain congressmen new districts have to be created, and already ambitious politicians are cherishing hopes of getting a job at the National Capital.—Baltimore American.

Topics Timely and Interesting

The burial casket manufacturers and jobbers, in convention in Pittsburg, are dissatisfied because the cost of dying has not kept pace with the increased cost of living. They deprecate cut-rate funerals, and are proposing to establish uniform prices for the retail trade in coffins. "We coffin makers want the undertakers to help us out more than they do," said one delegate. "We want the undertakers to make stiffer bills and than we can get more for our goods. Why should we have to pay double what we used to pay to live and let people die cheaply? It isn't fair and it isn't logical. There are too many undertakers. They are cutting each other's throats to get business, and, what is more to the point, they are cutting prices. Another thing, the supply of coffins is greater than the demand; that's what makes 'em so cheap. If a man wants a decent burial he ought to be made to pay a decent price for it. It isn't as though it was a steady drain on the family purse. Coffins are bought only occasionally, and when the occasion arises they ought to be willing to do the thing handsomely."

Correspondence between young girls in Germany and natives of the German colonies in Africa has grown to such an extent that the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung has published a "warning to parents and guardians" on the subject. "Exchange of photographs," said the writer, "is often the first step in the correspondence, but then letters and photographs come and go, to the delight of the African youth, who tacks the pictures of his 'German friend' on the wall next to objects and pictures not in harmony with civilization and refinement; and to the joy also of the silly girls who treasure the badly written notes from negro correspondents as coming from African princes. Parents are warned against allowing the young people to indulge in the correspondence which can result in no good."

"Don't these telegraph workers know anything?" asked a man who had returned to him a telegram that the operator couldn't read. "Oh, don't you mind," replied an old newspaper man. "Why, do you know, when I was in Chicago at the Republican National Convention of 1908 I had something happen to me that would make your experience seem like a cheap imitation. I had promised Mr. Roosevelt a few confidential bulletins and one night at the Auditorium I sent down a dispatch addressed to 'The President, Washington.' A minute or two later back came a request from the woman operator: 'Name and address, please.' I collapsed. But the chief operator didn't. What he said to that poor girl I don't know. I was charitable enough not to want to hear it."

In order to demonstrate that the anti-Jewish feeling is growing less in Austria, the Philadelphia Exponent says: "It is well known that the Dual Empire does not exclude the Jews from the ranks of officers in the army, not even from the highest grade. A recent return shows that the Austrian army contains one Jewish lieutenant, field marshal, three major generals, ten colonels, eleven lieutenant colonels and seventeen majors, besides a large number of officers of lower grade."

Consul Joseph I. Brittan writes of the working of the street railways of Prague: "The net receipts of the municipally managed electric railways of this Bohemian city for the eleven years ended with 1908, after paying heavy interest on borrowed capital, were $629,371. The gross receipts in 1908 amounted to $1,965,372, and the net profits to $273,145, against $118,1-5 in 1907. Among the expenses in 190[illegible] were $37,715 paid as pensions to aged and sick workmen and those injured in the discharge of their duty, and $62,376 in tolls for the privilege of crossing five bridges over the Moldau. Four of the bridges are without street car tracks. During 1908 there were 370 collisions with cars and other objects, in which two persons were killed and 155 injured. The total length of the street railway lines is a little more than thirty-six miles, and this year several miles of new track are being built, giving service to other parts of the city. In all there are 292 motor cars, 122 trailers and 6 snow ploughs. The cars have a total seating 5504.—Consular Report.

The use of glass bricks for building purposes is growing in popularity in many European cities. As a means of admitting light of dark hallways and basements these transparent blocks have been most satisfactory, and there has been no loss in stability and construction when they have been substituted for the ordinary clay brick. They are especially adapted for any building where cleanliness, light and a uniform temperature are desired. Hot houses, hospitals, ice factories, railroad stations and partitions in the interior of houses are a few examples in which the efficiency of the glass brick has been thoroughly tested. In the city of Hamburg in a number of instances they have been utilized in place of windows, thus admitting light in walls which police and fire regulations would otherwise have required to be blank. For fireproof walls the bricks are made with a wire coating to prevent the shattering of the glass when subjected to extreme heat.—Harper's Weekly.

French Purchases Increase Under New Tariff

Consul General Frank H. Mason of Paris sends the following cablegram showing the extent of French exports to this country under the new tariff:

The record shows the whole number of invoices declared at the Paris consulate general of merchandise from the United States during the period August 7 to October 6, inclusive, or first two months under the new American tariff, to have been 7061, with a total of $14,470,791 declared values. This is in comparison with 5725 invoices covering $8,472,177 in values for the same period last year. The increase under the new tariff is therefore 1336 invoices and $5,998,614, or 70 per cent.—Consular Report.

Charlemagne Left 400,000 Descendants

Second Assistant Secretary of State Adee gets as much fun out of life as anybody. There never has been a man in the State Department who knew so much offhand about titles, precedents and all the little angularities that go to make a study of reigning houses practical, romantic and interesting as Secretary Adee. However, he makes his routine life worth the living by seeking the funny side of everything and taking an optimistic view of that which lacks humor.

Recently the secretary was discussing with a friend the claims of a certain prince of Africa to recognition. "I have no doubt this man is descended from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," said the secretary.

"It is entirely possible. I remember once a caller told President Garfield that he was descended from Charlemagne. 'Let's see,' said the President. 'Charlemagne has been dead about one thousand years. Allowing thirty years to a generation, which is generous, that would mean over thirty generations, and calculating at the usual rate of increase in families, I should say there ought to be 9,000,000 people in the world by this time who have the blood of Charlemagne in their veins. It's highly probable you are quite right,' concluded the President.

"That reminds me," continued Mr. Adee, "we have quite a number of descendants from passengers of the Mayflower by this time. I should say, figuring it out as President Garfield did, there must be about one million scattered all the way from Florida to Alaska and from Maine to California. One day Secretary John Hay was talking to a friend, and the friend asked him if he was descended from any one who came on that famous ship. 'I don't know,' responded Mr. Hay, 'but I will have an expert look it up.' An expert was called in and the next day reported back that Secretary Hay was duly descended, on his maternal side, from a Mayflower pioneer." — Chicago News.

The Rapid Rise of Hawley

A few months ago it was Harriman and now it is Hawley who shines as the most brilliant star in the railway firmament. Who is Hawley? It is a question not easily answered. He was born in New York state fifty-nine years ago and has been in railway management all his natural life, but until within a few years no one seems to have heard of him as a star of more than a very minor magnitude. Now he buys and rehabilitates railways with an energy and rapidity which have caused no little comment. Starting in a small way in Minnesota and Iowa, he now controls about eight thousand miles of road, including the Chicago and Alton, the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, which he has just annexed.

This last acquisition was totally unexpected, as the road is largely owned abroad, but Mr. Hawley gets it without difficulty and no one seems much surprised. It is a way he has of doing things. He has through Gates, Yoakum, Reid and other Chicago financiers a system which stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific—over the San Francisco line—and has a transverse system from the Gulf to the Canada border. He has figured before in such coups as this, and as it is certain that his personal fortune is not large enough to swing such enormous deals, it is a matter of speculation who is behind him. Outside of the Chicago group no one seems to know who are his sponsors. Apparently, he wins because he has been successful. Every enterprise which he has undertaken has been profitable for all concerned, and that is enough in railway management.

The interesting feature is that here is another great personal system growing up. Otherwise we have the Hill lines, the Harriman lines (not affected by Harriman's death), the Morgan lines and the Gould lines, with the Pennsylvania system, which is not a personally conducted corporation. These six systems include about one-half of the mileage in this country, much more than one-half of the capitalization and nearly all of the important trunk lines. One need look back no longer than ten years to note how wonderfully the railway systems of the country have concentrated in a few hands. There has been no disintegration of any sort in spite of legislation or decrees of the courts. There are now practically six large personal interests which dominate the railway system of the country and it looks as if it would not be long before they were consolidated in one.

This is what makes the rise of Hawley important. He is not attacking any of the old systems; he is simply building up a new one, and this will be all the better when the nation comes to provide a more complete corpus of railway law for the benefit of the people, for it will be all the easier of execution.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Saved a Fortune In Salvage

Thousands of dollars in salvage money was saved to the owners of the steamer Alleghany, which arrived from River Plata ports recently, through the resourcefulness and courage of Captain Harnden, according to the Boston Globe. On the last outward trip from New York to River Plata ports the Alleghany had steamed as far as Cape Roque, off the Brazilian coast, when his propeller shaft broke during a heavy blow. She was 1200 miles from the port of Trinidad and had on board $1,000,000 in American currency, besides a cargo that was valued at fully as much more, making her a rich prize for any vessel which could induce the captain to take a tow line.

But Captain Harnden had no intention of accepting assistance. He put his engineers to work on the shaft, while the remainder of the crew set about rigging sails. There were none on board, but the tarpalins were used to fashion the sails, while the ship's derricks were set up for use as masts. The improvised sails had the effect of steadying the steamer in the heavy seas besides giving her headway and finally at the end of nine days the engineers succeeded in patching up the shaft so that the engines could be used slightly and help the Allegheny toward port.

It was a long and tedious voyage to cover the 1200 miles to Trinidad, but at the end of nine and one-half days, or nearly three weeks from the time of the accident, the Alleghany cast anchor in port. Three times there were offers of a tow from captains of other steamers, but Captain Harnden each time refused, for he was determined that, if seamanship would do it, the Alleghany would make port through her own resources and save the salvage money. In Trinidad she was obliged to remain six weeks, until a new shaft could be sent from England, after which she proceeded to her South American destinations, and is now on her first return voyage to the United States.—New York Herald.

Christianizing the World

"The Christianization of the Whole World" is the object of the laymen's missionary movement which was inaugurated three years ago and is interdenominational in spirit and scope. In November next a convention of those interested in this work will be held in Baltimore, and it is expected that a thousand delegates will attend. The movement, as Dr. David H. Carroll explained at the meeting of the Ministerial Association of Baltimore, is one in which the laymen of all Christian denominations are invited to take an active part. In bringing the lay men into line and making them conspicuous in the work it is not intended, according to Dr. Carroll, to usurp any of the prerogatives or authority of the ministers of the churches, but only to bring about cooperation between clergy and laity.

This project to Christianize the whole world is, indeed, a stupendous one. Its development will be watched with interest by the Christian laity of all denominations. It is a movement which also appeals, because of its magnitude, to the imagination and to the interest of those who are not in the fold of any of the churches. Mr. Joshua Levering, at the meeting of the Ministerial Union, emphasized the importance of enlisting in the work men of brains and capacity, able to deal with great problems. The aggressive American, he declared, finds nothing that is insurmountable.

"If," he said, "a few men in New York, under the guidance of John D. Rockefeller, can tin-can the world—as I find these reminders of the Standard Oil Company everywhere that I travel—certainly enough of us can Christianize the world." This is an interesting and practical suggestion.—Baltimore Sun.

Political Comment

"I know we cannot have a Democratic Senate in the next Congress," says Mr. Bryan. Which means that a Democratic House, if there should be one, would be able to do nothing more than deadlock national legislation.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

We are looking for some nice juicy little sporadic Democratic victories up North next month. Unfortunately, there are thousands of Northern people who never have sense enough to vote the Democratic ticket except in the off years. —Houston Post.

Colonel Bryan is quoted as saying he hopes he will never again be a candidate for public office. Mr. Bryan is conspicuous for the manner in which his hopes have been disappointed. — Washington Evening Star.

Twenty Years Ago in Oakland

Many launches from Oakland are participating in a hunt over the bay for the bodies of seven members of a fishing party from San Rafael, who are believed to have lost their lives during a storm Saturday. The boat in which the party left San Rafael was found upturned in the bay early yesterday morning.

The police are looking for a bold robber who last night boarded a schooner at the Washington street wharf and after stabbing the mate who detected him in the act of looting, made his escape with two gold watches and $60 in money.

The Seventh Day Adventists campmeeting opened this afternoon on San Pablo avenue and Sycamore street with an attendance of 600 people, the largest crowd ever seen at a campmeeting in Oakland.

Largeness of Her Heart Caused Death

NEW YORK.—Marguerite Muriel, an operator of the New York Telephone Company, died in the Flatbush avenue station of the Long Island Railroad in Brooklyn at midnight of Thursday under circumstances that at first indicated suicide. But Coroner's Physician Emil Hartung, who performed an autopsy, found she had died from enlargement of the heart.

She lived with her widowed mother at No. 226 East Seventy-eighth street. On Wednesday night she visited Mrs. N. Lynch at No. 135 West One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, and left in her care five letters, saying she was going out to buy stamps She did not return. The letters were addressed to girl friends.

Miss McCabe was an athlete and had won several prizes in basketball and amateur swimming contests. The strain of competing in these events, Dr. Hartung believes, enlarged her heart. The empty bottle found near her in the railroad station, which the police suspected contained poison, proved to have held smelling salts

Mrs. Taft Will Find Things Changed AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Great Changes Have Been Made During Her Vacation

WASHINGTON, — When Mrs. Taft steps across the portico of the White House on her return from Beverly, this week, the stately old mansion will be more than ever deserving of its name, for then the army of men, now at work, will have completed the most successful painting of the building since its general remodeling six years ago. Every inch of interior woodwork, and the entire exterior, has been treated. The 170 feet facing Pennsylvania avenue, and the same expanse overlooking broad green lawns, which end only at the river bank, present a glistening marble-like appearance in entire harmony with the stately simplicity of this the first public building erected in Washington.

No changes have been made in the interior of the mansion except in the Green Room, the least interesting and important of the three large parlors between the state dining room and the East Room. And even here the change will not be obvious, for while the furniture has been renewed, as well as the paint, the former is the exact duplicate of that selected in the beginning of the last administration. The Red Room will continue to be used as the family drawing room, and the Blue Room, as for years past, will be the scene of all formal receptions.

NO SOCIAL FEATURES.

While Mrs. Taft, by the advice of her physician, has refrained from formulating any program for the coming winter, her prompt inaugural of many reforms in the domestic economy of this chief of American homes has already borne fruit.

In addition to the two liveried servants at the front door, negroes of the old time type, deferential and courteous, who take the place of the formidable policemen of former days, Mrs. Taft has installed an excellent working staff, including a chef, a butler and several assistants, kitchen maids, housemaids and laundresses, all under the direction of a high class housekeeper, and without any difficulty as regards the color line, which for years has been one of the perplexing problems of the mistresses of the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who brought with her from New York a number of white maids and nurses, drew a broad distinction between what was then termed the upper and lower servants, the distinction running through every relation in life below stairs. Mrs. Taft promptly eliminated the actual as well as the imaginary line, as to privileges of food or compensation so that there are now no social distinctions in the kitchen work, the same consideration shown for one set of workers as for another.

There are still two tables, the white and black being served separately, but the quality of the food is the same for both, with the quantity regulated only by the appetite of each humble member of the exalted household.

WILL DIRECT THE HOUSE.

Mrs. Taft is following the same rule that has marked her successful housekeeping for the last twenty-five years, at its beginning in the eight-room cottage in Cincinnati, in the governor's palace at Manila, and in her several Washington homes. Always a model housekeeper as well as homemaker, she is an active mistress, demanding good service, but not over service, appreciating the labor of the least of her servants by fair wages and fair treatment.

As regards the entertainment of the coming season, Mrs. Taft has made no plans. Miss Helen Taft never at any time contemplating making her debut during the coming winter, and may eventually decide to remain at Bryn Mawr throughout the four years of the regular college course. She and her brothers will join their parents for the Christmas holidays, when they will entertain their friends and be entertained in turn, in a manner befitting their youth and their position, as despite Miss Taft's deserved reputation for learning, she is charmingly natural with all the usual tastes of the clever, well-reared girl of eighteen.

Mounts to Top of Tall Chimney on Dare

Rather than take the dare of her friends, Mrs. L. D. Morris, of Rockford, Ill., made the trip alone in a painter's swing to the top of a chimney 225 feet high She went up on the outside of the chimney, perched on a narrow board secured between two ropes, while scores of friends looked on in anxiety. At the top Mrs. Morris waved her handkerchief to the group below, and after she had spent a few minutes enjoying the view was let down, none the worse for her experience. The stack is a new one, almost completed and the tallest in Rockford. "A Rockford woman went to the top of the water works chimney on an inside elevator," said Mrs. Morris. "I said I had nerve to go up on the outside of a higher one in a painter's swing, although they wouldn't believe me, but I did it. The view repaid me."

Six Thousand Girls Try to Get on Stage Every Year

Six thousand girls come fresh to the stage every year. Of course they do not all get on, but they try. Eliminating at once those who aim at the musical comedy stage, we come to those who "want to act." As to preparation, study, voice or physique, they seldom take thought. They are restless, idle and vain, and they know because they once recited the "Wreck of the Hesperus" or "The Death of Little Jim," and they "have talent." Of course some one has told them. Some idiot of a man or fool woman has breathed into their ears that poisonous query, "Why don't you go on the stage?" And that settled it. The girl begins to talk of it, dream of it, read about it, think it over, worry her folks until they—likely for self-protection—say "Go!" And then we get her.—Success.

Girl 'Freshies' Can Now Wear Rats

NEW YORK.—Hazing came to an end at Barnard College yesterday. For the last few weeks the freshmen have been under a sophomore ban which forbade them to wear puffs, rats and other things equally beautifying. At noon yesterday the captious sophs relented and raised the ban.

The liberty of the freshmen did not come until a hard fight was fought. Carrying a large rat trap tied with green ribbons and adorned with many rats captured from the freshmen, Miss Rosaline Case, president of the sophomore class, led her followers through the college halls, then drew them up in a phalanx in front of the freshman study Next the sophy broke down the door of the study, rushed in and slowly and with dignity dealed forth these words, to the air of "Lohengrin":

These rats for you—
This trap take too,
Keep in remembrance of 1-9-1-2;
Nineteen thirteen,
Grassy and green,
1-9-1-2 reigns ever supreme.

The class of 1913 would have put up a good fight against the sophs, but the faculty intervened. The girls of 1913 lined up against the wall and stopped their ears while the sophs stalked off, yelling at the top of their good and healthy lungs:

Oh, they'll have puffs on their hair now,
Rats if they please,
Little pins all over them—
Oh, won't they look like cheese.
They don't need our labels,
Their color is plainly seen,
For they are freshmen, grimy, grassy,
green thirteen!

The Barnard juniors frivolled yesterday afternoon. They gave an Indian party in honor of the freshmen. No men were invited, and no men were permitted to rubber. Only the undergraduates with a few stray cousins and fourteen-year-old brothers were allowed to witness the frivoling. The juniors all dressed up as Indians, males and females.

Miss Katherine Gay as Hiwatha, in a suit of scarlet and a war bonnet of black puffs, read sixty-six verses in parody of Longfellow's masterpiece.

Miss Gay's reading was followed by a war dance. Then Hiawatha, the Ojibway, carried off his Minnehaha from the land of the Dakotahs. The canoe in which the lovers embarked suddenly upset on the sea of glass, and Hiawatha and Minnehaha had a difficult time struggling to terra firma, for the glass cracked and splintered, and the pair narrowly escaped being punctured by the broken slivers

The freshmen enjoyed the show hugely, danced themselves weary, after eating and drinking the good things provided by their hosts, the juniors.

Famous Pajama Girl in Whom Author J.M. Barrie Is Interested

MISS PAULINE CHASE, the Pajama Girl, in Whom J. M. Barrie Is Interested.

NEW YORK—Rumors still continue that James M. Barrie, the noted English author and playwright, will marry Miss Pauline Chase, the lovely American actress, for whom he has always shown undisguised admiration. Mr. Barrie's friends are telling each other. Pauline Chase, a beautiful and shapely woman, whose home was in Washington, D. C., won much admiration in America as "The Girl in the Pink Pajamas," as a chorus girl in "The Liberty Bell." She went to London about six years ago. Mr. Barrie saw her in "The School Girl" and prophesied a brilliant future for her. He afterwards wrote the play, "The Pantaloon," especially for her. Mr. Barrie wrote "Peter Pan" for Maude Adams, but Miss Chase's personification of the title role delighted him equally. Miss Chase has played "Peter Pan" 400 times in London, besides her appearances throughout England and in Paris. Twice she was commanded to appear in the play before the King and Queen of England.

Shoe Man Tells of His Woes With Women

NEW YORK.—"Do you sell shoes here?" was asked of the shoe man who had just bowed a woman out doors after spending an hour's time with with her and failing to fit her case, says the Rochester Times-Democrat.

"Oh, yes—oh, yes," he genially replied. "I have known myself and staff of five clerks to sell as many as four pairs of women's shoes in a day. I believe two pairs came back to be changed next day, but we called it a record."

"And a young woman has got to do just so much fussing around, has she?"

"Lands, yes. You have to get used to it and put up with it. I bought this building here inside of two days, but I'm not expecting any woman to hustle things along like that. There's a program to be followed, sir.

"First a woman must come to the conclusion that she needs a pair of shoes. It takes her from a week to a month to do this.

"Then she has to decide whether she will call at Brown's, Smith's or Jones'. Another week is gone.

"Then she gives the three the go-by and calls on Pepper, who is me. Enter the woman, and advance Mr. Pepper.

"The woman has a corn on her toe. I hear its story. She has an ingrowing toenail. I hear the story of that. No choking her off History occupies forty minutes in telling.

"Then she gets along to say that she just dropped in to see, and maybe will buy. What are the latest styles? I show her forty. She can't make up her mind whether to take a low heel or a high one. Thirty minutes spent in discussing the heels.

"She gets to the point where she thinks she will try on a pair. She tries on fourteen pairs. She walks with them; she stamps on them; she wants a history of every pair."

"And then she goes out?" I said.

"Yes, after talking for half an hour more about her hired girl, her sick baby and the felon she thought she was going to have on her thumb, but didn't. Another woman comes in and bears her away to look at the sweetest thing in hats."

Pretty Girl Leader TELLS HOW TO WIN STRIKE

She Guided 6000 Necktie Makers to Victory Without Encountering Disater

NEW YORK.—"Yes, the 5000 girl necktie workers are all back at work today, and we're just as happy as we can be. The girls all stuck together, and were as true as steel. And what's more, we won without the aid of any man."

So spoke the eighteen-year-old strike leader, Lillian Pleaser, whose management of the campaign for sanitary workshops, more pay and shorter hours, has ended in victory. She was found yesterday afternoon at her headquarters in New Clinton Hall, No. 151 Clinton street, surrounded by a bevy of girls, who kissed and hugged her and declared she was the dearest girl that ever lived.

The girl strike leader is pretty and vivacious, with large brown eyes and hair and slender figure. Before becoming leader of the 5000 girls she was a necktie maker, but her sister workers put her at their head by a unanimous vote, and her salary from the union is the same as the pay she earned in the shop. She would accept no more. She was born in Russia and lives with her parents on the east side.

"What has been the secret of our success?" she repeated. "Well, it was very simple, and it would be a good thing for the men when they contemplate going on strike to adopt our methods. It is this: Don't strike when the bosses want you to, but wait until their busy season comes, and then just quit as we did.

"During the summer the bosses were just aching for us to strike. They knew it had to come, and they would rather have had it when the season was slack and be done with it. It would have meant money for them.

"But the laugh has been on them. The time came ten days ago, when orders came rushing in from all over the country, and then we gave the word And when the girls walked out of the shop the bosses were simply frantic. Many of them had rush orders and these men came to our headquarters and almost begged on their knees for the girls to come back.

"They were willing to grant the demands and every one has since done so, and, indeed, each and every one has signed a bond in which they will have to pay us from $300 to $700, according to the number of girls employed, if they fail to keep their word.

"It has been such a lovely strike all the way through and so peaceable. Not an arrest was made and not a single hair-pulling match.

"What advice would I give to the pie bakers who are having a strike of their own just now? The men are asking for only $1 a week more and they deserve it. My advice to them is to get the restaurants to refrain from handling the pies until the strike has been settled. The profit on 100,000 pies a day is a loss that the bosses won't stand any length of time. For that reason the strikers should appoint committees to make a tour of these restaurants. They have not yet done so, but they should go about it at once."

'Race Suicide Better Than Being Mother?'

CHICAGO.—"Race suicide may be bad, but it is a thousand times better to be without children than to rear them in the horrible industrial conditions that prevail at present. Let us give thanks that the industrial conditions that make the lives of children a curse also help to prevent the bringing forth of children.

"The men of America are the ones who are always talking about race suicide. But the men alone are to blame. If they want children, let them remove the conditions that cause race suicide. It's their greed that forces women to work in filthy shops. It's their greed that undermines the health of women employes and incapaciates them as mothers."

These were the sentiments expressed by Mrs. O. Hulbard, delegate from the Woodlawn Woman's Club to the meeting of the Second District of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs Her address followed that of Raymond Robins, who described the legislative fight being made for better working hours for both men and women factory workers.

Women Should Play Golf

It is a pity that more women do not take up this excellent form of exercise. Golf is not expensive. It requires less time than playing bridge and has absolutely no drawbacks. There is no game which gets one closer to Mother Earth than golf, or which gives pride and vanity such a fall. People who are accustomed to getting everything done for them by touching a bell soon learn that individual ability counts for a good deal in this world, on the golf links especially. There are a lot of nervous, overfed women who would go straight to health if they would take a small portion of their time at golf.

Gold Dust
Makes Dish-washing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it. Unlike soap, Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor, means something.

Husband Mistakes Cleaning Fluid for Water--Search Is Futile

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—There was not even a splash on Friday morning when J. E. Chilberg, president of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, threw $18,000 worth of diamonds and four ounces of water out of the window of his drawing-room on the Oregon express near Dunsmuir.

Chilberg, who is a Seattle banker, had no idea of making a splash of any kind; but possibly Mrs. Chilberg had one in mind when she set out to clean up three beautiful rings she had planned to wear for the Portola fete. The Chilbergs were to occupy a semi-official position. Mrs. Chilberg started south with some of her finest jewels.

At the foot of spotless Shasta she decided that her rings should be as clean as the mountain's shining summit. So she placed them in a glass of water and set the glass upon the sill of a window of her drawing-room. The window had been raised above the screen.

Then she and her husband went to breakfast. Chilberg returned first. As dust was blowing through the window he shut it down, but first he picked up the glass and threw the contents out the window.

Then Mrs. Chilberg came back from the diner. The rings were gone

At the next station an engine and car were chartered and a search began. It was thought that a wet spot could be found where the water had fallen; but, unhappily, there had been no splash, so the rings are still mixed with the vulgar cinders of the railroad company's right-of-way. The Chilbergs are at the Fairmont.

FAIRMONT IS SCENE OF SUFFRAGETTE MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25. — "No politics" was the keynote sounded at the meeting of the "Votes for Women" Club held at the Fairmont Hotel last Saturday. More than 250 members of the fair sex attended the final session of the new organization.

The slogan "no politics" was announced during the debate on the topic of the day, "Ways and Means to Our End—the Ballot for the Women of California." Non-partisanship in politics was advised, and this plan will be followed until political rights are granted to women.

Mrs. E. Weiller, the little woman who at the Portola masquerade ball bore aloft a banner inscribed "Votes for Women," in carrying out her ideal of a "suffragette," regretted that she did not win a prize, but this regret was assuaged by the rousing cheer she received from her sisters in the cause.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Richard Croker is hurrying to New York on the fastest trans-Atlantic steamship afloat to aid his personal friend and business associate, Charles W. Morse, for the second time within a year. Croker is expected to provide bail pending Morse's appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Morse sent for Croker immediately after he was sent back to the Tombs after the United States Circuit Court of Appeals had affirmed his sentence by the United States Criminal Courts a few weeks ago. The former Tammany chief brought about the ice king's release on bail after his conviction on November 7th last.

Croker, it is understood, will stand by Morse to the end.

LIPTON TO CHALLENGE FOR CUP ONCE MORE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The steamship Cedric, with Sir Thomas Lipton and Colonel Neill on board, arrived off Sandy Hook at 7 o'clock last night, too late to go to its pier.

Sir Thomas has with him a challenge for the America cup, which he will present to the New York Yacht Club some time this week. Members of the New York Yacht Club have refrained from saying anything about what action they will take. It has been said, though, that Sir Thomas already has had some assurance that his challenge in all likelihood will be accepted.

PORTOLA DRAGOON WEDS WHILE COMRADES MARCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—While bands were blaring, rockets were bursting and the revelers of Saturday evening were dividing their time between pelting each other with confetti and digging it out of their own eyes, one of the Portola dragoons failed to the answer of his name at roll call and the parade proceeded without him. The reason of his absence became known yesterday, when his friends learned that he was quietly married in the noisest part of town.

Daniel S. Briggs was the dragoon who failed to appear, and he took for his bride Miss Nettie Elbert, daughter of John W. Elbert of this city. The wedding ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. Thomas O'Malley in the parlor of the Hotel Manx while the festivities outside were at their delirious height.

Briggs is a popular man about the clubs. For many years he was connected with the Radke jewelry firm. He is now manager of the jewelry department of the White House.

POLICE SEEK MISSING "THIRD DEGREE" THESPIAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Thomas L. Coleman, one of the principal actors of "The Third Degree" company appearing at the Van Ness Theater, mysteriously disappeared yesterday afternoon, and though diligent search was made for him he had not been found up to a late hour last night.

He has been living at the St. Cecile Hotel in Fell street, near Van Nass avenue, since the beginning of his engagement here, and was last seen by a fellow member of the company as he was leaving the hotel about 1:30 o'clock.

Coleman, who is about 50 years of age, has the reputation of being one of the most reliable men in the profession, and his part of Howard Jeffries Sr. is the play is one of considerable importance.

TWO CARDINALS FOR THIS COUNTRY

Pope Pius Will Make New Appointments Near First of Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Unless illness or some other emergency prevents, Pope Pius will hold a consistory in December or January for the appointment of about ten cardinals, two of which, according to present pontifical plans, will be Americans, one to be a member of the curia and thus remain in Rome, with headquarters in the Vatican. This information was received from Rome by a high prelate and is considered semi-official.

It is stated that Pope Pius wishes to add more enthusiasm to the spirit of the Catholic religion, especially in America, and for this reason desired to have a counselor who is sufficiently conversant with American individualities to enable the Pontiff to act at once.

The new cardinal who will hold this high position is held to be Mgr. Falconio, the present papal delegate to the United States.

His appointment will be regarded as an American appointment, he having been naturalized in 1868 and voted at Presidential elections. His forty-six years' stay in the United States are considered to have given him a sufficient insight in American religious affairs to make him a valuable adviser to the Pope.

The same advices state that the other cardinal is to be Archbishop Farley of New York. It is known that the Pontiff is highly pleased with his work and his influence in maintaining Catholicism, especially in some of the larger American cities. It is pointed out further that Archbishop Farley's elevation to the cardinalate is in line with general ecclesiastical promotion.

It is also rumored in Rome that a third American appointment for cardinal will be made next year.

NEW STANDARD OF FRUIT INSPECTION

Grocers to Outline System at Convention to Be Held in Loomis

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 25.—Many important topics await the convention of fruit growers at Loomis, Placer county, next Wednesday, when a still larger meeting than the recent gathering at Newcastle will be held under the direction of State Horticultural Comissioner J. W. Jeffry. One of the important matters for consideration will be the general marketing difficulties arising from defective fruit. A new standardization of fruit inspection, as well as a fruit-branding system, will be started.

Another subject will be how to support county horticultural commissioners and prevent politics from figuring in appointments and also the duties of the officer. The growers realize that this new department is for their interests, and are anxious to co-operate.

Other fruit centers of the State are calling for meetings. Lodi, Vacaville, Placerville, Visalia, Porterville, Fresno and San Bernardino are down for futue meeting places.

PARDEE BECOMES PULPIT ORATOR

"Men Needed in Public Life" Is Theme of Ex-Governor in Oakland Church

Former Governor George C. Pardee occupied the pulpit of the Pilgrim Congregational Church of East Oakland last evening, taking as the text of his address, "Men Needed in Public Life."

The address dealt with the opposition of the graft prosecution which had its origin in the claim that it "hurts business."

Dr. Pardee said there were were those who were opposed to the revolution in which the colonies gained their independence for the same reason, but they were of the class who worshiped dollars more than liberty. The same condition prevailed during the Civil War and was in existence in California today, but, as during the Revolution, the Civil War and today, there were many good men in public life, and with them, if they did their duty, the nation would be safe.

COLONEL HOPKINS IS WITH SILENT HOSTS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25. — Colonel John D. Hopkins, father of popular priced theatrical performances in the middle west, died here last night. He was seventy-nine years of age and the founder of a summer garden business here. He drew many actors from the legitimate stage to vaudeville.

Nat Goodwin, Francis Wilson and many other stars began their career with him. Two daughters, Emma and Ethel Hopkins, are now in vaudeville.

TREASURY DECISION AFFECTS SCRAP IRON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. — The treasury department has decided and given notice that no scrap iron or scrap steel is entitled to classification under paragraph 118 of the new tariff law unless in its condition as imported it is unfit for use until it is reduced by heat from a solid to a fluid state. In the Panama canal zone there is a large amount of railroad scrap iron to be sold that will be affected by this decision.

DUTCHMEN DRINK TO THEIR QUEEN

"To the Grandest Lady in the World" Is Toast of Minister

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25. — "The Grandest Lady in the World," was the toast of Jonkheer J. Loudon, minister of the Netherlands, at a reception of Hollanders yesterday afternoon at the St. Francis Hotel.

The toast was received with hearty and enthusiastic cheers by the minister's fellow countrymen, and long life was pledged to Queen Wilhelmina.

It has been Minister Loudon's desire since his arrival in this city to attend the Portola festival that a day be set apart for the reception of his own people. Yesterday afternoon was the day fixed and hundreds of the prominent Hollanders joined in the festivities.

Refreshments were served and Mrs. Loudon assisted the minister in receiving. Baron Van Reigersberg Versluys assisted the minister and his wife in entertaining the visitors.

Toward the end of the reception, when the halls were well crowded, the minister proposed the health of the queen of Netherlands.

"Whenever a band of Hollanders come together," he said, "nothing gives them greater pleasure than to drink to the health of the queen. Although many of you are now citizens of the United States you can respond with no less enthusiasm to a toast to the grandest lady in the world."

William F. Ringnalda proposed a toast to the infant princess, declaring that Holland's future was now secure. The "Orange Boven" was then sung.

Among those present were: George J. Marsily, consul general of Netherlands; P. Van der Kun, Willikes MacDonald, Miss McDonald, H. A. Torchiana, president of the chamber of commerce of Santa Cruz; H. A. Torchiana Jr., H. E. Doren, Mr. Barber, Wynand Pennink, Captain Perk, Rear Admiral Thomas Phelps, Mr. Badenkein of Crockett, Daniel Verhoven, William Hoffman, F. Koch and Mr. Voorsanger.

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

There is but one way to cure an old sore or chronic ulcer, and that is to remove the cause that produces and keeps it open. No matter where located, any sore that remains until it becomes chronic does so because of impure blood; the circulation constantly discharges its polluted matter into the place and it is impossible for nature to heal the sore. S. S. S. heals sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of taint or impurity from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. No local application reaches below the infected flesh at the spot, and for this reason can have no curative effect on a sore or ulcer; while such treatment is being used alone, the germs and impurities are constantly increasing in the blood and the sore is bound to grow worse. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and enriched and purified the circulation the place begins to take on a more healthy appearance, the different symptoms show improvement, the flesh around the ulcer gets firm, new skin and tissues are formed, and aided by pure, rich blood, nature provides a perfect and lasting cure. Under the tonic and blood-purifying effects of S.S.S., the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be greatly benefited by its use. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

[illegible]HOW ME' TOWN [illegible]S STORMED BY TAFT

St. Louis Turns Out En-Masse to Greet President on Hurried Trip

IS OFF FOR RIVER TRIP; WILL VISIT NEW ORLEANS

Police Guard Chief Executive Closely--Is Dined and Makes Speech

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—President Taft devoted his time today between two cities, giving eight hours to St. Louis and one hour and a half to East St. Louis. He arrived here this morning at 8:20 a. m. from Texas, and prepared to leave at 5 o'clock this afternoon on a 1,200-mile voyage down the Mississippi river to New Orleans.

After greeting the reception committee of the Commercial Club of St. Louis at the Union Station, the President was driven in a motor car to the St. Louis Club. His route to the club from the Union Station, where thousands of persons had gathered, was guarded by policemen, who stood a few feet apart, and mounted policemen about the automobile which contained the President's party.

GREETED BY CHEERS.

None but members of the reception committee were allowed on the midway of the station, but when the President appeared at the Twentieth-street exit he was greeted by the cheers of thousands of sightseers. Sixty-five Commercial Club members and the President's party breakfasted together. The President conversed and rested a short time, after which he was driven to the Coliseum. His ride through the streets was a continual ovation.

At the Coliseum before making his address, he greeted 200 congressmen, a score of senators and thirty-four governors, who are guests of the Business Men's League for the trip down the river. Seven foreign ministers were seated on the platform.

INTRODUCED BY HADLEY.

Governor Hadley introduced President Taft to an audience which filled the Coliseum. Immediately after delivering his speech, the President was escorted to the Planters' Hotel for luncheon. Nine hundred guests of the Business Men's League of St. Louis were seated at the tables. No set speeches were made. The congressmen, senators, governors and foreign ministers attended the luncheon.

President Taft, escorted by mounted police, is scheduled to be taken across Eads Bridge to East St. Louis at 3:30 o'clock. There he is to meet Vice-President Sherman and Speaker Cannon, who have been guests of the East St. Louis Commercial Club at luncheon.

The President will lay the corner stone of the new U. S. government building in East St. Louis at 4 o'clock, then return to St. Louis and embark at 5 o'clock on the lighthouse tender Oleander for New Orleans.

POLICE ON GUARD.

The entire police force of St. Louis was busy today guarding the President. The patrolmen did not allow any person to move from the sidewalk as the Presidential party passed. After the automobiles had gone by a given point the patrolmen went to another part of the parade route and held the cheering multitudes back on the walks.

TALKS ON ISTHMUS.

In his speech at the St. Louis Club President Taft referred to the trip of his hosts, the Commercial Club, to the Isthmus of Panama while the President was Secretary of War. He refered to that fact that in a previous visit to St Louis he had suggested the trip of inspection and [illegible] that he had always left grateful to the club and to the other organizations from various cities that went to the Isthmus for the confidence which they had engendered in the American people concerning the work at the Isthmus.

The country felt positive, said the President, that the commercial bodies that inspected the canal work at their own expense could not be deceived or have a motive for misrepresenting the facts. He declared that the report of the commercial club marked the beginning of a state of affairs which had left the administration in a very comfortable position with reference to the condition of the canal work.

DISCREDITS SCANDAL.

Up to this time, the President said, there had been shrieks of scandal and incompetence but afterward the work had been treated as all great government and engineering works should be treated—with sobriety, calmness and criticism of plans on a basis that can be understood.

He said that the report of the Commercial clubs had driven away the nightmare that had pursued him for two years after the burden of the canal work had fallen upon his shoulders.

The President said that not long ago Secretary of War Dickinson had come to him with much perturbation, displaying a newspaper article which had caused a great scandal over the letting of a paint contract on the Isthmus.

Secretary Dickinson desired the immediate appointment of a commission to investigate and ascertain the facts in order that the unjust charges might be demolished.

"I said to him," continued the President, "'Dickinson, when you have been in that office as long as I was and get a proper sense of proportion with reference to the importance of a freak of that sort, you will let it pass with a feeling only of amusement and the hope that it may have furnished a pleasant moment to the man who wrote the headlines.'"

The President's voice showed some improvement over yesterday, but he was still quite hoarse.

PORTOLA WILL BE A YEARLY EVENT

Mammoth Success of Fete Brings Future Rival to Mardi Gras

$5,000,000 IS SPENT BY VISITING CROWDS

Everybody Benefits From Small Expenditure of $120,000 in Preparations

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Because of the mammoth success of the five-day festival which closed Saturday night in a mad revelry of joyousness, the event is to be repeated annually. Not only because of the spirit with which the immense crowds flocked to San Francisco and enjoyed themselves in making the event an epoch in things pertaining to healthy hilarity, but also because financially the fete was one grand success, is the determination to repeat the event annually made by the committee which handled the festival.

BRINGS $5,000,000.

Figuring material results alone, the Portola Festival brought to the city and resulted in the spending of more than $5,000,000. The total cost of all arrangements will not total more than $120,000. Everybody came with the idea of spending money, and all "turned loose" most generously. In its joyousness the Portola fete was far in excess of the famed New Orleans Madri Gras. Visitors who have attended both fetes say that the crowds which gathered on the streets of San Francisco far exceeded in number those which throng the thoroughfares of the Southern metropolis in the annual spring festival which has been an institution of years, and urge that the Portola Festival be made a yearly event.

EXCEEDS EXPECTATION.

The $5,000,000 estimate is made on the basis that there were at least 1,000,000 persons collected in San Francisco before the closing day of the festival and that they spent per capita at least $5.

Apart from the actual amount of money put in circulation, however, the results of Portola week exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the comercial and industrial interests that were directly interested in its material aspects.

EVERYBODY BENEFITS.

Restaurants cafes, shops, small storekeepers—all did more business and catered to larger crowds than they had during any other five days in San Francisco since the big fire.

The restaurants never were so crowded in the history of the city as they were Saturday night. Almost every place that could seat more than a hundred persons had to close its doors repeatedly to keep the invading crowds from congesting floor space.

SLEPT ON TRACK; KILLED BY TRAIN

Body of Carpenter Ground to Pieces By the Berkeley Local Train

Alexander Calendor, a carpenter, residing at Twenty-second and Capp streets, fell fast asleep on the railroad tracks of the Berkeley local last night and was ground into almost fragments by the 11:15 north bound West Berkeley train. The accident occured 500 feet north of Powell street. Two cars and the engine passed over the body, scattering portions of the remains for a distance of 100 feet. Chief Deputy Coroner Bert Sergant was notified of the accident and had the body removed to the morgue.

IDENTIFIED AT MORGUE.

Identification of the deceased was made by means of letters found on him. A carpenter's pocket rule, as well as other things found in his pockets, indicated that he was a carpenter by trade. His mail had been addressed to Twenty-second and Cap street, in San Francisco.

It is assumed that the deceased had been drinking and lost his way. He finally lay down on the tracks, disregarding all danger. The West Berkeley local was running at such a high rate of speed that it was impossible to stop the train before it ran over the sleeping victim.

It is not known whether the deceased leaves any relatives here or not.

CASHIER ARRESTED FOR $20,000 BANK SHORTAGE

DENVER, Oct. 25. — C. B. Boles, cashier of the Bank of Grand County, at Sulphur Springs, has been placed under arrest by order of State Bank Commissioner Pfifer on the charged of alleged defalcation of $20,000.

Boles has been in charge of the bank but a month. He comes from New Mexico, where, according to Commissioner Pfifer, he figured in several big financial deals.

SPAIN WILL QUIT WAR ON MOORS

New Cabinet Minister Confirms Rumor That Hostilities Will Cease

MADRID, Oct. 25.—Lieutenant General de Luque, Minister of War in the New Liberal Cabinet, confirmed in an interview today the report that the government had decided not to push further the Moroccan campaign.

He said that if the Liberals had been in power before, they would have avoided the bloodshed and costly war and henceforth the object of the government would be to guarantee the safety of Malilla by the system of fortified positions, which were already occupied.

From now on, the Minister of War said the work of the army would be of domination, and while it would defend these occupied positions, an effort would be made to induce the Riffs to disarm, and in this movement the aid of the Sultan would be enlisted.

De Luque added that though the Liberals disapproved of the recent acts of repression at Barcelona, Ferrer had been proved on evidence to have been legally and justly condemned.

The Republicans won at yesterday's municipal election at Madrid.

REVOLVER CLUB MAKES GOOD RECORD

The members of the recently organized Oakland Bank of Savings Pistol and Revolver Club are showing keen interest in the sport, and under the tutelage of Henry A. Harris, one of the world's best pistol shots, the marksmen are making noteworthy progress.

Rollo J. Hough, the president of the club, has shown remarkable ability for a novice, winning the bronze medal of the United States Revolver Association in the medal competition, using certified targets on the standard 50-yard range. In view of the fact that Hough has handled a pistol a bare three weeks, the performance is considered especially credible, and optimistic predictions are made by the veteran marksmen as to his future as a pistol shot.

Various members of the club are evincing marked ability, and considering their newness at the game, give evidence of developing into high class marksmen. Regular monthly club competitions are held on the third Saturday of each month, and from the records made at these shoots, members are to be selected to form a team of five to represent the club in competition with various teams throughout the country, scores to be sent by telegraph.

Following are the pistol scores made in the monthly club competition for October:

R. J. Hough 85, F. M. Cerini 77, J. Davidson 73, D. Caig, 72, D. A. Bulmore, 70, G. Preston 70, H. S. Linnell 61, H. Merrill 60, G. Ludlow 43, J. E. Gustafson 42, G. Gilmour 33.

WOMAN HAD MADE THREATS OF SUICIDE

Mrs. Nolting Mourned Husband Who Was Shot Down; Found Dead in Bath Tub

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—The fact that she failed to chloroform two pet dogs which she had threatened to do before taking her own life, leads the police to deny strenuously that Mrs. Antonia Nolting, widow of Police Sergeant Antone Nolting, who was found dead in a bath tub at her room, 2224 utter street, yesterday morning was a victim of a suicide. The police declare after investigating the case fully that Mrs. olting died a natural death, despite the fact that she has made repeated threats to kill herself because of grief over the death of her husband, who was shot down by a drunken sailor at the corner of Clay and Montgomery streets last February.

Beside the dead woman's bed was a letter which threatened suicide and those who are most intimate with Mrs. Nolting's affairs say she has kept the note for eight months, threatening daily to kill herself that she might join the spirit of her dead husband.

WOULD KILL DOGS.

Since the death of her husband last January, Mrs. Nolting has lived the life of a recluse, her sole companions being two pet dogs which were her husband's at the time of his death. She has grieved constantly over the untimely end of her husband and to Mrs. T. LeSeur, 1632 Broderick street, the police sergeant's widow made repeated threats to end her life. In making these threats Mrs. Nolting always said that in the event she did commit suicide she would first chloroform the two pet dogs. The fact that she did not do so causes the police to deny that she ended her life.

Mrs. Nolting was called upon yesterday morning by Mrs. LeSeur. The widow told her to come back again in a little while as she was about to take a bath. Later when Mrs. LeSeur returned she could not get any response to the repeated knocks on the door to Mrs. Nolting's apartments and fearing the police sergeant's widow had carried out her threats, summoned assistance. They found Mrs. Nolting lying dead in a partially filled bath tub, the head resting on a canvas head rest in one end of the tub. She had been dead for at least two hours.

ARRESTS BREAK UP GANG OF SMUGGLERS

EL PASO, Oct. 25. -- Federal officers here believe that in the arrest Friday and Saturday of two negroes and two Chinese and the capture of a quantity of opium, they have succeeded in breaking up a band of opium smugglers that has been operating in this territory for some time.

The arrests in El Paso were followed were followed today by the arrest at Chickasaw, Okla., of a man with a quantity of smuggled opium and also furnished a clue which resulted in the seizure at Fort Worth, Tex., of several cans of opium.

MONEY BLIGHTED LOVE OF 'LOVES'

Husband Wanted Coin; Wife Refuses--Separation Is Result

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The separation of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Love and the latter's appeal to the American Embassador in London to protect her from her husband, who, she feared, was seeking to kidnap her infant daughter, were due to the refusal of Mrs. Love to advance funds for his use in another plunge in the stock market.

This was the statement made today by a friend of Love, who has been in close touch with the erstwhile broker since he was a low salaried clerk. This informant, who is prominent in Chicago social and business life, was surprised to find that Love took his wife's refusal to his demands for money so seriously as to precipitate an estrangement.

He had believed the Loves were living happily in a suburb of London and that Love was devoted to the former Marjorie Burnes. Information concerning Love's reported efforts to obtain his wife's money came to a Chicago friend within the last few days. It was followed quickly by news of their separation and of appeal of Mrs. C. C. Burnes, Mrs. Love's mother, to Embassador Reid.

MAY ABOLISH PRACTICE OF USING CLOAK MODELS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—If the industrial employes' welfare committee of the National Civic Federation has its way, cloak models in garment factories and show rooms will have to seek other means of livelihood. The committee, which is composed of prominent women representing various section of the country, has decided that the employment of girls as models is demoralizing to the girls, the employes and the customers. As a result of personal investigation made by the members of the committee in many factories and garment show rooms, the Civic Federation will undertake a campaign among the employers to discontinue the practice and substitute lay figures.

"We found that the employing of girls as models has a demoralizing effect upon the girls themselves, and upon the employers and purchasers," said Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, chairman of the committee, "and for that reason we decided to recommend that the Civic Federation make an issue of the matter."

PICKPOCKETS BUSY ON LOCAL TROLLEY LINES

As nearly as Frietas could ascertain he was robbed in the vicinity of Nineteenth street. There was a jam on the car. OFFERS FOR BIG FIGHT SWAMP JEFFRIES

Sid Hestor's Bid of $75,000 Is Biggest to Be Offered Yet

COFFROTH ENROUTE TO SECURE BIG MATCH

Oklahoma Ranchman Seeks Free Advertising by $50,000 Bid

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Bids for the proposed heavyweight championship battle between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson are beginning to loom up in large numbers. An offer of a $60,000 purse was made today by a representative of Joseph C. Miller, head of the "101" ranch at Bliss, Okla. Miller stands ready to meet competitors for the fight and has already placed the matter before Governor Haskell of Oklahoma with a view to obtaining his consent for the battle. Besides the $75,000 offer of Sid Hestor, manager of the Mission Athletic Club of San Francisco, which was received last night, bids from Jack Gleason and other well-known Pacific Coast promoters have been received.

COFFROTH IS COMING.

Jim Coffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter, is expected here today with a big bid for the fight. Jeffries' manager said today that any offers for the fight were too premature at this time to be considered seriously.

"What Jeffries wants first is to get articles signed up with Johnson," said Berger. "It is up to Johnson to make good and we are ready and willing to meet him and sign the articles. Jeffries won't stop on any conventionalities and he means business."

Berger said no word had been received so far directly from Johnson or his representatives.

HESTOR MAKES BID.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25. — Almost simultaneously with an offer of $50,000 for a fight between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson, a telegram reached the eastern metropolis from Sidney Hestor of this city offering $75,000 for a match between the two heavyweights.

Hestor is the matchmaker of the Mission Athletic Club of this city. His telegram offered the fighters a purse of $75,000 to be divided as they may see fit or 75 per cent of the gate receipts and 50 per cent of the moving picture profits.

Hestor declares the he has the money ready if the offer is accepted; also that his club, contemplates bringing off a finish fight.

He traveled in a special car with sixty bankers from the Pacific coast, through Yellowstone Park, where they passed four days sightseeing in coaches. The members of the party took in all the places of interest en route to Chicago, where they were cordially received and welcomed.

PELLAGRA SUBJECT OF DEPARTMENT BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The widespread interest in the progress of "pellagra" in various parts of the country, especially in the South, has led Surgeon-General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service to give the subject prominence in the weekly health reports of the service. The latest report deals entirely with the extent to which the disease prevails in the south. New Orleans reports two deaths from pellagra for July and one death for August. Two cases are reported from Camden, S. C., for the week ended October 9. Up to September, 21 cases are reported from Texas.

DEATH CLOSES CAREER OF JURIST

United States Supreme Court Justice Rufus W. Peckham Passes Away

NOTABLE CAREER ON THE FEDERAL BENCH

Extolled By Associates for His Many High Qualities

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, justice of the United States Supreme Court, died at his summer home at Altamont at 8:15 o'clock last night.

Justice Peckham had been in ill health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious until recently. Following adjournment of the May term of the United States Supreme Court he came on from Washington with Mrs. Peckham to spend the summer at Altamont, expecting to return for the beginning of the October term.

A few days ago his condition became such that his physicians said he was likely to die at any time, or might linger for several months. Up to a few days ago Justice Peckham exhibited considerable strength and was able to be about the house. The circulatory disturbance, which contributed to his death, was first noticed about six years ago.

Justice Peckham was a Democrat and before taking a seat on the bench gave considerable attention to politics in New York. He was born in Albany, N. Y., November 8, 1838, and had been on the bench, State and Federal, for twenty-five years. He came from the Court of Appeals of his native State.

Peckham's first office was that of district attorney of Albany county. He was elected to that position in 1868. He afterwards became, in succession, a corporation counse for Albany, member of the Supreme Court of the State and Associate Justice of the State Court of Appeals. He was the last of President Cleveland's Democratic appointees to the Federal Supreme Court, Chief Justice Fuller and Justice White being the other two. He took his seat in January, 1896.

His chief distinction was that of giving his time exclusively to the duties of the court. He accepted no outside appointments and undertook no work not connected with the high tribunal.

Cases involving the reports of corporations received special consideration at Justice Peckham's hands, and he was the author of some of the court's most noteworthy opinions of recent date along this line.

NEWS AT THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—None of the officials would discuss the probable successor to Justice Peckham, each declaring that it would be a violation of the proprieties. The name of Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, former Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, the present secretary, J. M. Dickinson, Henry M. Hoyt, counsel for the state department and solicitor general in the Roosevelt administration, and Solicitor Bowers have been prominently mentioned.

When the news of Justice Peckham's death was broken to the other members of the supreme court all were deeply affected.

Chief Justice Fuller expressed his sorrow and said that the passing of Justice Peckham was a severe loss to the American bench.

Justice Harlan said: "It is a great loss to the country. Justice Peckham was one of the ablest jurists who ever sat on the American bench. He was absolutely pure in mind and thought."

The other members of the tribunal spoke in similar terms of Justice Peckham's life and services.

In the absence of any order from Chief Justice Fuller it was not announced that the Supreme Court would stand adjourned today out of respect to the memory of Justice Peckham. It is understood, however, that the court will meet at noon as usual and will immediately adjourn without touching the calendar.

"A tremendous loss," was Attorney General Wickersham's remark regarding Judge Peckham's death. The attorney general was present when the court adjourned.

"Justice Peckham was a jurist of the highest distinction and contributed some of the most valuable and learned opinions of the supreme court during his incumbency as a member of that body," said Mr. Wickersham. "He wrote the opinions in the first great case which dealt with the application of the anti-trust law to railroads, namely, the trans-Missouri case.

"He wrote the opinion also in relation to the joint traffic association as in the case of Anderson against the United States, and Hopkins against the United States. His interpretation of this law in its application to the great transportation companies engaged in interstate commerce, constitutes a great monument to his learning and industry.

OAKLAND WHEELMEN HOLD SHOW TOMORROW NIGHT

ATTELL WANTS TO CLEAR CLAIM TO BANTAM TITLE

He and Carroll Are Rivals of Long Standing---Cove and Emmick Will Meet in Special Event; Hester Offers Big Purse for Heavyweights

By EDDIE SMITH.

MANY times during his career in the ring has Monte Attell appeared in Oakland, and at times the fans have seen him show both good and bad. During his early career, five or six years ago, Monte gave little promise of becoming a star in the professional glove-wielders' brigade, but by the toughest kind of going and the people always against him he has forged to the front, and today he is one of the classiest performers in the weight division in this country, and is recognized on this coast as the bantam weight champion. Johnnie Coulon is rated as the champion in the East, but he seems to be afraid to take a chance with Monte, and for that reason we have come to look upon Attell as the leader of his division. Often we have seen Monte enter the ring determined to win; in fact, he is the one who never disappoints the fans, but never have we seen him so anxious to beat a fellow as he is to defeat Carroll, and unless things go wrong the fans should see Attell in the best contest that he has put up in many a day.

FIGHTERS GREAT RIVALS.

Carroll and Attell have been rivals for the leadership in the bantam weight division for a very long time, and the mere mention of the other fellow's name as a champion is an insult neither man will ever forgive. Carroll has a certain following that recognizes him as the champion, and while Attell has all the better of the claim for the title Jimmy's friends are just numerous enough to keep prodding Monte with what he feels is ridicule. Carroll is also anxious to win and will fight hard, for the losing to Attell is a humiliation that he would not suffer if it cost his life to prevent it. Monte is just as determined that he will put the "spider" down for the count and get rid of him for all time. If Attell should score a decisive victory he will never fight Carroll again, for he has no desire to ever give him a chance to get up to the position he now holds in pugilism again.

SPECIAL EVENT.

In the special event of the evening Percy Cove and Al Emmick are slated to appear. The special event has been cut four rounds less than the main event but it is expected that during the six rounds they are to fight that the men will be busy all the time. Emmick has been promised a match with Monte Attell at Coalinga next month if he beats Cove, so he can be depended upon to do his level best from the start. Emmick is also one of the Attell rivals. They have met several times and while Attell has always pulled out the best Emmick still feels that he is the master. Cove of course realizes that he is too heavy to think of getting down to Attell's weight and has giving up all hope of meeting the little Hebrew, but he has other matches in view and a win will help him considerably. The remainder of the card is made up of Tom Gary vs. Jim Foley, Jimmy Fitton vs. W. Hagin and Tony Earl vs. Alex McDonald. Tom Gary, who meets Foley, is a new comer here from the middle states and has been trying to get on for some little time. Gary asked the matchmakers that they pick the toughest fellow they could at 126 pounds, as he wanted to show what he could do. The selection of Foley certainly looks like a good one, for he is as tough as a boarding house steak and should make things interesting for the new comer.

FRAYNE-POWELL FIGHT.

Both Johnnie Frayne and Lew Powell worked for the benefit of the fans who visited their camps yesterday and at each place the fighter showed well. Powell worked out before a large crowd and his boxing and gymnasium work is reported to have been the best that he has ever shown. Frayne entertained a great number of people at his camp, among whom were several of the fair sex. Johnnie worked as if his life depended on the result of his training of yesterday and although he went three rounds with his sparring partner and worked fully an hour at the several different exercises, he quit without drawing a long breath or showing the least signs of fatigue. Promoter Lercari was on hand and after the workout stated that he was perfectly satisfied that Frayne would be in great shape for the contest. Frayne announced his weight at 136 and as he only has to make 133 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight he will have no trouble from that score.

OFFERS $75,000 FOR BIG FIGHT.

Sid Hester has offered $75,000 for the Johnson-Jeffries fight and has informed the fighters that they will be given 50 per cent of the moving picture privilege. Sidney is certainly a game lad, for that is a lot of money, but there is no doubt that he would go through with the deal and in the end make money by it. The offering of bids at this time is just a bit premature, however, for the fighters have not as yet go together and Hester pulled a bad move when he showed his hand as to the amount he would offer before the day for the opening of the bids.

Papa Jeffries says his son will never fight a negro. Well Papa Jeff has said a lot of things about his son that were not true and in the present case it seems that the reverend gentleman had again made a mistake. It is really surprising the number of sporting writers in the East who believe that Jeffries will not fight, however, and until something more definite than has already been shown has been done the fans had better not set their desires for a Jeffries-Johnson fight too strong.

Stockton Eleven Loses to Boone's Academy Team

A football game of importance was played Saturday at Stockton between the Boone's academy team and the Slough City high school boys, victory resulting in favor of the Berkeleyans, 22 to 5. It was the first game Stockton has lost in two years.

The first score was made in the first two minutes of play, when Stockton kicked off and Scott carried the ball over the center line before being tackled. The ball was immediately given to McNeil, who circled the right end for a run of sixty yards and a touchdown. After the next kickoff Boone worked the ball down to Stockton's twenty yard line and scored another touchdown by means of a delayed pass around the left end. The remaining scores were made on forward passes and a thirty yard drop kick by Miles.

Vancouver Rugby Team Arrives From Canada

The Vancouver Rugby team that makes an annual trip to California to play the varsity fifteen before the big game, arrived yesterday and were welcomed at the dock by representatives of Stanford and California. The first game will be played Wednesday with the Blue and Gold.

The team comprises Manager E. MacGachen, nine backs and ten forwards, as follows:

Fullback, E Pickles; three-quarters, T. O Mackay, W. Ellis, W, P. McMillan, E P Baker and S. McLeod; halves, H. Hyland, T D. E. Byrne (captain) and A. C. Blackmore; forwards, R. Gale, C McDonald, G Chaffey, F. J. Shearer, T. Moffit, C. E Jewett, A. Kay, W. Smith, F McLelland and S. McLeod.

The average weight of the forwards is about 155 pounds.

The team members were very anxious to hear what formation the California men will use, and are in hopes that the three two three formation will oppose their own similar formation. Manager MacGachen is a solid believer in the eight man scrum.

The training table for the varsity football team commenced at the Hotel Carlton with breakfast this morning at 7.30 o'clock.

The table was started with the following men: Forwards — E H Markwalt '10, K. L Carpenter '12, C. A Phleger '12, H H Ashley '10, D P Hardy '11, R F Jordan '11, J. F. Northcroft '10, backs — C S Cerf '09, A. W Elliott '12, C A Allen '12, M. W. Harris '12, S B Peart '13, J. Dwiggins '11. Other names will be added to this list from time to time.

Three meals a day will be served.

Sacramento 11, Vernon 4

SACRAMENTO, Oct 25.—Vernon played its last game with the Senators yesterday and what an exhibition it was—11 to 4 in favor of Sacramento. The score, however, does not begin to tell how Schafer and Coy were batted by the lawmakers. Sixteen hits, three of them triples; seven runs and seven hits in the third are a few of the things performed yesterday. Ehman eased up when he saw what was coming. Hap Hogan was presented with a handsome automatic shotgun by his team mates before the game and the gift pleased the Vernon manager very much. Happy already has planned the entire winter's outing and has told a confidential friend of his just how many ducks he will bag.

TIE SOCCER GAME PLAYED

Californians and British Team Pile Up Five Goals Apiece

After two halves of fast playing intermingled with slam bang work, the All California soccer football team and the British Columbia aggregation decided to call their second game a draw, the score standing five goals up. Cleverness was shown by the local boys and aggressiveness by the Canadians. At times members of both teams were inclined to be rough and Downie was laid out with a heavy charge and was laid off the field for ten minutes.

Many changes were made in the line-up of the Californians and Britishers. The best forward work was done by Welsh who was well backed up by Bernard and Pike. Grant and Watson were strong at half and Hunter starred at full back. Beautiful defense was shown by Rogers, Graham and Hewitt for the visitors and in the forward line Hurran and Robertson did the best work.

California had all the best of matters in the first half, scoring three goals, while the northerners were unable to find the net on a single occasion, and it looked like a runaway for the "wearers of the poppy." But a complete change came over the game after changing ends, the Britishers getting on level terms in eight minutes after the restart, Two goals fell to the home team via the penalty route, but by sheer determination the northerners managed to draw level before hostilities ceased.

STARS UNABLE TO PLAY.

California's pair of sturdy backs, Anderson and Selkirk, and Perkins, the shifty half, were unable to take the field yesterday through injuries sustained in the Portola match on Saturday, but capable substitutes were found in Dewhurst, Hunter and Bradshaw. Lorimer and Thomas were introduced by Manager Lockley into the British Columbia line-up, vice Leck and Hooper, and the positions of the players were slightly rearranged.

Bernard opened the scoring for the home team fifteen minutes after kickoff. From a nice pass by Welsh the outside right tallied with a hard, low shot. The third goal was also headed through by Aitken.

The second half was only under way half a minute when Hurran took the ball down the field and scored with a lightning shot. Five minutes later McLeod placed a corner kick in a nice position, and from a scrimmage Thomas put the ball in the net.

The tying score was the result of a fine individual effort on the part of Cruikshank.

McLean fouled Welsh in the penalty area and Welsh negotiated the penalty kick, the ball hitting the inside of the post and going through. Only a few minutes had elapsed when Lorimer fouled Downie and another penalty was awarded to the Californians. Welsh again scored, the ball hitting the under side of the bar and going through.

With ten minutes to go the northerners played up strongly and McLean scored a spectacular goal with a long, high shot from the center of the field. McRitchie misjudged the dropping ball and it went through in the upper corner, the ball grazing both the post and the crossbar.

Referee — Mackenzie.

As a preliminary to the big game a picked team of Californians stacked up against an eleven from the British warships and after one of the most exciting games of the season the teams finished where they started, neither side being able to score.

Vernon and Seals Play Final Series This Week

The Pacific Coast League enters upon its last week of baseball and commencing with tomorrow Vernon and San Francisco will play the final series here. As the pennant has already been decided the fight will be more for the glory of taking the last series than any especial importance in winning the majority of the seven games. The Athenians open up at Sacramento and Portland goes south to wind up the year with Los Angeles.

President Ewing leaves for the East tomorrow to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues to be held at Memphis November 7th. A fight is expected at the session for the possession of the Portland territory. The Northwest league is making preparations for the securing the town, and has already gathered its forces for a bitter struggle. Ewing expects to be back November 14th to call a meeting of the Coast League officials on the 15th.

National All Stars Are Defeated by Athletics

SPOKANE, Oct. 25.—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the National All Stars here yesterday, before a capacity crowd, the paid admissions exceeding 4,000.

Charley Hall, the old Seattle Coast League star, pitched good ball for six innings, but weakened toward the close. Hall had pitched only Friday at Billings. Coombs was effective with runners on bases. The heavy field made ground balls difficult to judge. Donahue was off in throwing to bases for the Athletics. A running catch and double play by Doyle was a feature, although Strunk, Oldring, Konetchy and C. Hall pulled off clever stunts. Harry Davis and Konetchy hit the ball hard.

The score:

Athletics	6	10	2
All Nationals	3	9	2

Batteries—Coombs and Donahue; Hall, Konetchy and Bliss. Umpire, Frary.

PLAY POSTPONED GAMES.

Maxwells Beat Alerts in First Post Series Game

The Maxwells of San Leandro drew first blood in the post-season series with the Alameda Alerts, defeating the latter upon their own grounds across the estuary yesterday afternoon in an exciting pitchers' battle by the score of 2 to 0. Elmer Peterson pitched one of the best games of his career, allowing only three hits, passing but one man, and, with the assistance of fast fielding by his teammates, preventing his opponents from getting a single runner beyond second base. Russell, his rival, also twirled high-clas ball, and not until the eighth frame did one of the Maxwells reach third. Then a combination of three hits, a fumble and a wild throw produced the two runs which decided the contest.

Cooper beat out an infield hit and advanced to third when Russell threw wild to first. After Tobin had been retired Peterson singled to right, Cooper scoring. Warren hit a bounder between first and second that Du Fossee could only partially block, and Peterson reached third, crossing the plate a moment later when R. Merriman erred on a hard chance from Murphy's bat.

Dick Britt carried off the batting honors with a single and a double, Ingraham with two singles being the only other batsman to secure more than one hit. Cooper and W. Merriman contributed spectacular running catches, and Warren, Britt and Tobin also performed well in the outfield.

The second game of the series is scheduled for next Sunday afternoon at San Leandro.

Century Eleven Defeats Oakland Business College

In a very fast and exciting gridiron struggle the Century football team defeated Oakland Polytechnic Business College 5 to 0 at Fremont High School grounds before a large crowd Saturday. The game was replete with forward passes and outside kicks, which proved great ground gainers for both teams. The Century boys are fast rounding into shape and Captain Moir expects to give the Vallejo Winged V the hardest game of their career next Thanksgiving morning at Fruitvale Recreation Park.

Line up of Century team:

H. Dow and C. Kiser, f. b.; Robert Hunter, r. h.; D. Pestel, l. h.; W. Moir (captain), q.; H. Dow and S. Gibson, l. e., A. Ralbery and H. Moore, l. t.; A. Kiser, l. g., D. Moir, c.; O. Lohse and T. Moore, r. g.; M. Moore, r. t.; O. Hessmeyer, r. e. Length of halves, 15 and 15.

Irish-American Club Holds Annual Field Day

The Irish-American Athletic Club held its track and field meet yesterday afternoon at Ingleside, and though Ralph Rose, Ollie Snedigar and other stars did not show up, the events were interesting and some fast time was made. Brailey Gish of Seattle won two firsts and several seconds.

The features of the day were the mile and ten mile races. Elliot Craig, starting from scratch, ran the mile in the fast time of 4:35 1-5. The 10-mile race was won by H. Damon, running unattached. His time was 1 hour, 2 minutes, 45 seconds.

Gish won the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 6 inches, and finished first in the 100-yard dash from scratch. In the 220-yard dash he was required to start eight yards behind scratch and the handicap was too much to overcome. He finished second.

HALF-BACK WELL AGAIN.

"Spike" Whittenmeyer, Oakland High halfback, has recovered from injuries received in the game with Alameda and will soon resume his place on the team.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—It came Bill Reidy's turn to weep yesterday. Twice he saw his champions taste the bitterness of defeat and the blows were like bad tasting drops of medicine to him. He had figured to win the final games of the season with Dillon's men, but in this he failed, as the scores indicate. The first exhibition went 1 to 0 and the second 7 to 4 in favor of Los Angeles.

"Blondie" Johnson opposed Koestner in the morning and it was a battle between them to see who would come out on top. Johnson lost by a shade, Beall scoring against him in the second with a two-bagger and Orendorff's single.

Tonnesen slab dutied in the afternoon, but did not show form, being taken out in the fourth, after the locals ran up a total of five runs and six hits off him. Tozer, on the other hand, had his curves breaking in great style and five hits show how much chance the Athenians had of scoring many runs.

Christian's long running catch in the first game and Wolfe's righ-handed stab in the second were the fielding features.

Athletic Brevities

Santa Rosa Racing Meet: Santa Rosa, Oct. 25.—The Santa Rosa Driving Club has decided to hold a two days' harness meet here on December 10 and 11. There are about fifty fleet trotters and pacers at the track in training now.

Portola Boxing Show Tonight.—Tonight the amateurs hold the boards again at the Portola Club. The main attraction of the night will be furnished by Northside Jack O'Brien and Clyde McIntosh. George Andrews and Morris Goldberg will meet and Al Schrier will fight Joe Craig.

Guys Game Preserve: Woodside, Oct. 25.—The Pomponia Gun Club has purchased 4000 acres adjoining its game preserve, thereby doubling the size of the tract. The organization of huntsmen has decided to increase its membership limit from twenty-five to fifty.

Return From Outing: Santa Clara, Oct. 25.—The Santa Clara College Rugby fifteen returned from Manresa, near Santa Cruz, last night, after having spent five days in a most enjoyable outing.

Last Thursday an intercollegiate football game with Watsonville high school at Watsonville resulted in favor of Santa Clara, 10 to 0.

Coach McKenzie, in speaking of the outing, said it had done wonders toward getting his men in condition for the University of the Pacific game two weeks hence and the big Santa Clara-St. Mary's game, November 25.

Barbour, the Fresno high school lad, and Porterfield, formerly quarter back on the Oregon Aggie team, are both proving themselves spirited players.

BARKER WINS IN GOLF.

H. H. Barker, who made the best score among the professionals in the qualifying round last week, turned in the best medal score yesterday at Presidio gold links and carried off first money, amounting to $100. His score was 146 for the 36 holes. Geo. Sargent, professional champion of the United States, and Jim Smith, a local professional, tied for second place, each scoring 147. They accepted second money, each drawing down $37.50.

C. D. Whyte, winner of the amateur Portola tournament, played remarkable golf yesterday. He made the 36 holes in 151, being the fifth best score of the day and only 5 strokes behind the winner. He was off in his putting, taking four puts each on two greens. But for this he would have finished close up to the winner.

STATE LEAGUERS TAKE BOTH GAMES

St. Mary's Tossers Put Up Classy Exhibition Against Oaks

By taking both games of a double-header yesterday the Oakland State Leaguers won the series played with the Phoenix team of St. Mary's College, the final result standing 3 to 2 in the five contests. St. Mary's won the first and third, Oakland the second, fourth and fifth. The score yesterday, in the morning, 5 to 1, and in the afternoon 8 to 1.

The 5 to 1 score does not by any means indicate what a beautiful game was played in San Francisco. Sheehy, a second-team twirler, was on the mound for the collegians, and made an excellent showing. He was opposed by Benny Henderson and the star twirler was in gilt-edge form, allowing but three hits, Hart obtaining two of them. One of the features of the preluncheon affair was the homer by Tub Hackett over the right field fence with one runner on the sacks.

BOICE OUT OF FORM.

Boice essayed to help the lads out in the afternoon. His intentions were good, but he was shy the rest stuff that wins games and he was administered a punishment he will not soon forget. For six innings he was mauled and pounded all over the lot until finally in desperation he had to be yanked from the box and "Tiny" Leonard finished the game. Thirteen hits and seven runs tell the story of what the Invaders did to Mr. Boice. He certainly had an off day or too much Portola. The lone St. Mary's tally came in the ninth after Bloomfield had walked two and hit one, Hart rapping the ball through the infield and scoring Leonhardt.

The series was played to pay for outfitting the St. Mary's gym and Brother Joseph expresses himself as gratified at the results. The showing of the collegians was a total surprise to Cy Moreing and he stated that the local boys were, without doubt, the best amateurs in California.

PORTLAND WINS FAREWELL GA

Rex Ames Shows Class Morning and Takes Easy Victory

Hard and long the San Francisco fans rooted for the home team to take the final game of the series and of the season with the Portland Beavers and Browning, who twirled for the Seals, was given words of praise and encouragement such as no other slab artist received before his introduction into major league company, but it was not for San Francisco to win and so the final score stood 2 to 1 in favor of the web-footers. At that it was a beautiful exhibition and full of possibilities for both sides. Speas' catch of Nick Williams' fly in the second inning with the bases full and a beautiful throw home, nabbing Miller at the plate, was a nice piece of work.

The real fireworks occurred in the fifth, when each team took a peek at the score board. Speas tallied for the Oregonians on a single, steal and errors by Browning and McArdle, while Davis did the honors for the league champions, circling on a walk and Mundorff's two-bagger.

The winning run did not appear on the scene until the eighth spasm, when Portland took the game on Graney's single, a sacrifice and McCredie's two-sacker. In their turn at bat the Seals made a gallant rally, but a lucky catch by Olson and a consequent double play dashed their hopes.

SEALS WIN IN MORNING.

San Francisco cinched the morning game in the very first inning when Graney showed lack of control. Two walks and four hits allowed San Francisco four runs, the only tallies the Seals made in the entire game. Rex Ames again did mound duty for the Mohlerites and proved to the Oakland fans that he is possessed of some beautiful curves. Only four hits were made off him and one of these came in the ninth, when the Beavers secured their only run, Johnson registering on a walk, McCredie's single, out and wild pitch.

HEESEMANS WIN AT FRUITVALE

Zinggs Rally in the Ninth and Score Four Runs Off Hafey

The Zinggs were defeated at Fruitvale yesterday at the hands of the Heesemans by a 9 to 4 score, after nine innings of ragged playing on the former's part.

TOO MUCH PORTOLA.

Whalley, the slab artist of the Zinggs, complained of a sore arm, so Kihn was sent in to pitch, but in the second inning after five runs and as many hits had been made off his delivery, Whalley was compelled to go in, and he held his opponents down to four runs and four hits during the remainder of the exhibition. Hafey, on the other hand, pitched his usual steady game, twirling shutout ball for eight rounds, but in the ninth the Zinggs fell upon him for five hits, which netted them their four runs.

The clothers started the run getting in the opening inning by getting two. Strull was safe when Creagh dropped his fly, stole second and scored on Bertheaud's double. Bertheaud tallied on Hockin's wild throw to third.

SECOND INNING DISASTROUS.

The second round was a disastrous one for Kihn. Latche opened up with a double to center. Durgin singled, sending Latche to third, and stole second. Hafey registered both runners with a single. Hafey pilfered second, took third on a wild throw by Maderois and crossed the rubber on a single by Strull. Whalley now went in the box and held the clothiers safe till the sixth. Stewart was safe on first on Kihn's muff, stole second, took third on Maderois's second wild throw and scored on Latche's sacrifice fly to center. Kenworthy singled, but was forced out by Durgin. Hafey singled, sending Durgin to second. Both moved up a peg on a double steal, then Mendie threw wide at the plate and Durgin tallied.

The eighth frame netted the clothiers two more. Meadows popped up to Devecchi, who was two sure and dropped the sphere. Smith singled, sending Meadows to second. Both came home on Bertheaud's second double to left.

ZINGGS' SENSATIONAL RALLY.

Up to the ninth spasm only one hit was made off the delivery of Hafey, but in the ninth the Zinggs took a fall out of him for five juicy bingles, which netted them four runs, saving themselves from a 9 to 0 whitewash.

Devecchi started the fireworks with a single. Whally beat out a bunt. Wendle singled, scoring Devecchi with the first run. Whally going to second.

Whalley and Wendle successfully pulled off a double steal. It now looked as if Hafey was up in the air. Maderois flew to Bertheaud for the first out. Hockins walked, filling the bags. Parker tore off a single, scoring Whalley. Kihn singled, tallying Wendle and Hockins. Creagh hit a slow fly back of third which had all the earmarks of a Texas leaguer, but Durgin, after a hard run from left field, managed to just get it, doubling Parker at third and ending the game.

Outside of the ninth spasm Hafey pitched a splendid game, faning eleven batters.

LATCHE ROBBED OF TRIPLE.

Some good catches were pulled off in the field. Mendie pulled down two difficult fouls after a hard run on both occasions. Franks, out in center field, robbed Latch out of an easy triple by pulling down the sphere after a hard run. Durgin also made a great catch in the last inning which robbed the Zinggs out of a run, and it also figured in the double play which ended the game.

Napa Loses Championship Game to Santa Rosans

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 25.—Napa went down to defeat here before the Santa Rosa team yesterday in the championship series by a score of 8 to 3. Moskiman pitched for Santa Rosa, and was invincible. He was the star of the game and, besides great pitching, knocked a home run.

Moskiman and Burns were Santa Rosa's battery, and Yeazell and Wallis officiated for Napa.

Santa Rosa scored in the second, third, fifth, sixth and eighth. Nell accidentally struck Ned White in the forehead with the bat in the third inning, cutting open his head.

MAIRE OUTPITCHES RALEIGH.

VISALIA, Oct. 25.—Visalia and Bakersfield broke even on a double-header yesterday. Artis Smith of the Fresno State League team was hit hard in the morning game. In the afternoon affray Maire, pitching against Raleigh of the St. Louis Nationals, held Bakersfield to three hits.

RESULTS OF YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

At Freeman's Park—Rutleys 4, Morans 1; Tribunes 7, Breuners 5; Lehnhardts 10, Reliance 1.

At Fruitvale—Heesemans 9, Zinggs 4.

There seems to be no end to the winning streak of the Rutleys. Yesterday they met the Morans in deadly affray at Freeman's Park and had no difficulty in capturing the contest by the score of 4 to 3. Martin twirled a beautiful game for the clothiers, but his team mates fell down at just the time they shouldn't, their scores proving costly. Some idea of Martin's effectiveness may be gained when it is mentioned that he is credited with nine assists himself, a very unusual feat for a boxman. The tailors had great trouble in hitting the ball out of the diamond, but what few times they did succeed in doing so they counted. Martin, indeed, pitched well, but Campi pitched better. He had his opponents completely at his mercy, and twelve strike outs and three hits tells the story of his neat work. In the fifth inning he retired the Morans by striking out Noble, Lydon and Mericich. Noble, too, did the best hitting for the Broadway street lads, geting two of the four bingles. One of them should have been a triple, but he forgot to touch first.

NOBLE SCORES RUN.

Noble made the first and only run of the Morans. In the third he peppered the ball to right field, stole second and on Catcher Lacey's heave to center field romped home. The Rutleys laid low until the fourth, when they cut the ropes and witnessed a small balloon ascension. Campi started the "rally around the Rutleys, boys," cry with a sizzling drive to center, taking second on Martin's overthrow to first and home on Rowlands' clout. Noble made an awful peg to first of Petosa's grounder, and Rowlands scampered across the third and fourth station for the second tally. Mills' whack resulted in Petosa getting out at the plate, but he registered himself a moment later on a double steal proposition in which he co-operated with Lacey, who was safe on a fielder's choice. De Luchi brought in the last tally of the game in the fourth by doubling to left and circulating on Campi's second bingle.

MERICICH'S SENSATIONAL CATCH.

It was left to Mericich to make the most sensational catch of the game, and one of the best seen on the diamond this year.

In the fourth, with De Luchi on second, Walsh dropped a Texas leaguer over second that was meant to send De Luchi around. Instead Mericich made a spectacular leap and hooked the ball with his gloved hand.

The score.

TRIBUNES BEAT BREUNER TIGERS

Sensational Triple Play Saves the Scribes in Eighth

The Breuner Tigers pawed the earth, growled and tried to claw the game, but their fierceness tamed down before the persistent playing of the Tribunes, the final score resulting in a victory for the latter—7 to 5. The game was played yesterday afternoon at Freeman's Park and though slow and long drawn out it had so many features that the spectators enjoyed it notwithstanding. For the first time this year in the Tribune League a triple play was pulled off when yesterday the scribes accomplished the trick in the eighth inning. Norman and Schwartz were on second and first when Sweeney drove the ball to Pitcher Anderson. He immediately doubled Sweeney and Lane heaved the pill to second in time to get the triple. It was a great performance and saved the pencilers from what looked like a dangerous round, for with two on the bags and no outs the outlook was not at all encouraging. Little R. French also figured in some nice playing. Besides catching a couple of difficult flies he robbed Bolski of a hit when he relayed a drive to first in time to effect a put-out.

ANDERSON OPPOSES DEZEBEAU.

Anderson did mound duty for the Tribunes and showed up in great form, especially in the beginning when he whiffed nine furniture boys to the bench. Towards the latter stages of the exhibition he eased up and in the seventh allowed the Breuners to gain the lead, but this privilege was taken from them in the Tribunes' turn at bat. Dezebeau was on the hilltop for the Tigers and twirled good ball, but his support was not of the best and in the eighth he gave way to Ruman.

The Tribunes were the first to score, getting a run in the second inning when Thompson singled, pilfered second, and circuited, while Ruman and Worrell did the Alphonse-Gaston act in accepting the throw from Catcher Spicer. Singles by Ruman, Portello, Norman, a passed ball and two steals gave the Breuners a brace of tallies in the fourth. The war correspondents were not discouraged, not a bit of it. The fifth brought them in a tally when Pemberthy scored on a walk, wild pitch, a passed ball and an error.

SLUGFEST IN SEVENTH.

The two teams were deadlocked till the seventh. Then the Breuners dragged over three runs on hits by Bolski, Spicer, Dezebeau, Schwartz and E. French's overthrow to first. The scribes came back in the same round and went the Tigers one better by scoring a quartet of runs on singles by Tomkinson, A. French and Lane, a hit by pitcher and a walk. Pemberthy tallied off Ruman when he was walked in the eighth, stole second and tallied on a wild pitch.

BOLD PICKPOCKETS REAP BIG HARVEST

Thieves Become Active During Festival Week--Many Suspects Arrested

The influx of criminals attendant upon the Portola festival has resulted in a pronounced increase in thefts and robberies here in the last few days. Pickpockets were particularly bold, oftentimes operating in gangs.

A. J. Levy, 560 Twenty-eighth street, was robbed on a Telegraph avenue car Saturday afternoon of a purse containing $17.

E. W. Gender, a Portola visitor from Santa Rosa, admitting that he was intoxicated on Saturday evening, complained that while he was lying on the sidewalk in front of McVey's saloon on Broadway, a $350 diamond ring was stolen from his hand.

A thief snatched a grip containing $17 and a number of purchases from Mrs. E. Eaton, 1368 Grove street, while she was shopping in the Free Market on Saturday afternoon.

Burglars robbed the Judson Iron Works on Saturday evening of tools belonging to Andrew Crow. The home of H. Hirch, 905 Grove street, was robbed on Saturday night of a gold watch and chain and an overcoat. Clothing valued at $20 was stolen on Saturday morning from the apartments of Albert Castro, 571 Eighth street.

WALKS IN SLEEP; HURT IN FALL FROM WINDOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Charles Rimil, a furrier, who lives at the Imperial hotel, 969 Eddy street, dreamed last night about 11 o'clock that he was in his store and a customer had entered.

In his dream Rhill got up from his bed, walked out into the hall and straight through a second-story window, falling to the ground below.

At the Central Emergency hospital it was found he had sustained a fracture of the right hand and cuts from the window glass about his face. He said he was not awakened until he struck the ground.

LEHNHARDTS WIN ONE-SIDED GAME

Fernandez Holds Reliance to Three Hits and One Tally

The Lehnhardt-Reliance game was a big disappointment to the large number of fans at Freeman's, the contest turning out to be a one-sided affair, the Candy Kids winning hands down, 10 to 1. At that the exhibition only lasted six and a half innings. Had it gone the limit it might have been twice the score, for the Reliance boys did not show at all. They were as bad yesterday as they were good the Sunday previous, when they took the measure of the Hessemans. Osegueda was off in his pitching, issuing passes freely, and weak in his speed. His support was ragged, the boys behind him being unable to hold anything. Fernanzes, on the other hand, maintained a steady fire that proved too much for his opponents. Only in the third inning was he hit at all, when three successive singles netted one run. Otherwise he was invincible.

The Lehnhardts sized up the situation in a hurry, and realized from the first that Reliance would have an off day, so they started in like winners. In the very first round Lheureux circuited on a walk, a steal and Bartram's single. Singles by Stevans, Powers and Coates tied the score in the third, but in their half the league leaders forged ahead again, Lhereaux and Lowe tallying on a single, a walk and three errors. The fourth frame was a joke. Four singles, three more bobbles, a walk, a steal and a passed ball netted Lehnardts a total of six tallies. Fernandes tallied in the fifth, when Orth went into the box, replacing Osegueda. A walk, passed ball, error and wild pitch brought him around.

WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT Y. M. C. A. CONTRACTS

EDITOR TRIBUNE: I would like to call the attention of the unsuspecting public to some of the methods used by Oakland boosters (ie).

A short time ago an immense sum of money was raised by popular subscription in this city for the purpose of financing a building project for the Y. M. C. A. Recently certain sub-contracts of said project were awarded to San Francisco firms. In connection with the Y. M. C. A. we recognize some Oakland boosters. I and many others would like to be enlightened on this subject.

Were Oakland firms given a square deal?

In view of the fact that this money was spent and earned in Oakland, why is it intended to go to San Francisco?

More surprising than ever is this action following on the heels of the animosity shown Oakland by San Francisco. Now don't call me a calamity howler until you have investigated and ascertained the real attitude displayed toward anything bearing the "Oakland mark."

I sincerely trust that such an act as the awarding of these contracts to San Francisco firms will never occur, as it would certainly be a flattering example of boosting, and at the same time call forth the justified scorn of any self-respecting community.

Yours truly, C. M. RANDALL.

QUARRELED OVER CZAR'S VISIT IN SUNNY ITALY

Frank Donato, a shoemaker, residing at 823 Linden street, and G. Sangito, another Italian, living at 821 Filbert street, quarreled yesterday over the cordial reception given to the Czar of all the Russians by the people of Italy when he entered that country on his visit to King Victor Emmanuel.

Donato said it was a fine appreciation of what Russia did to succor the earthquake victims. Sangito retorted that it was a disgrace and accused Donato of being a royalist.

This was too much for the shoemaker and he attacked Sangito with a leather knife. Sangito wiped out his own trusty blade and closed in upon his assailant. Each made a slash at the other's head and then they were parted, both bleeding profusely, Donato from a lacerated wound of the scalp on top of the head, three inches long, and Sangito from a similar cut on the right temple, one and a half inches long.

A policeman took them in charge and after their wounds were dressed at the Receiving hospital they were both locked up in the city prison.

LAUNDRY OWNER MAY DIE FROM BEATING

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Michael Mazeres, proprietor of a French laundry, of 205 Chattanooga street, is lying at the Mission Emergency Hospital, perhaps fatally injured, as the result of a quarrel with an unknown man in a saloon at Nineteenth and Folsom streets. The police are making determined efforts to locate his assailant, as it is feared that the victim may die.

Mazeres had a few words with his antagonist, and the latter, drawing a dirk knife, stabbed him three times on the head, inflicting deep lacerated wounds of the scalp and a possible fracture of the skull. The man then escaped, and a telephone call was sent in for the ambulance, which took Mazeres to the hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Fidenmuller.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Robert Berger of 3424 Mission street, at a dance at the Auditorium last night met four chance acquaintances who took $75 in cash.

SURPRISED MAN IN WIFE'S COMPANY

Japanese Chauffeur Shoots Him Twice After Hand to Hand Struggle

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Surprising his wife in company with another man on his sudden return home at 1 o'clock this morning, Takusaburo Tateishi, a Japanese chauffeur, after a hand-to-hand struggle in which he claimed his adversary used a knife, fired three shots at him, two of which took effect, and then give himself up to the police.

The affray took place at Tateishi's residence, 315 Austin avenue. Ysheo Nishimoto, an employe of the White Drug Company, had spent the evening with Mrs. Tateishi, and when her husband returned he demanded an explanation of the other's presence. Nishimoto resented his insinuations and refused to make any statement to him. Tateishi claims that his adversary drew a long knife and that a desperate struggle ensued for the possession of the weapon, during which the woman, who was the only other person in the room, danced about the pair, imploring them not to hurt one another and screaming in terror.

SHOOTS HIM TWICE.

Finally Tateishi, drawing a gun, fired at his antagonist, and leaving him bleeding from two wounds of the body, fled from the police. The first the police heard of the affair was when Tateishi gave himself up at the Bush street station, explaining that he had shot a man. Sergeant Fraher and Policeman Nye went to the scene, but Nishimoto had gone to the Japanese hospital at 1811 Pine street, his wounds being temporarily dressed by Dr. Nakabayoshi.

The long knife described by Tateishi was found under a bed in the Austin street house, but Mrs. Tateishi was too much prostrated to give any version of the affair.

The injured man was removed to the Central Emergency hospital, where it was found that only two bullets had taken effect, one in the left shoulder, which had failed to penetrate the chest, and one in the right arm. It is believed he will recover. He denies he drew a knife on his adversary or that there was anything in his conduct to warrant the assault. He is an accomplished scholar, a college man, and well known in the Japanese quarter. Tateishi was charged with assault to murder.

DENTAL WORK IS NEW OBJECT OF CHARITY MOVE

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 25.—"Teeth filled at the rate of 10 cents a tooth." That looks like an advertisement of a dental quack, but it is not.

The patient must be a Greenwichite, a child, and he or she must present himself or herself at the rooms of the United Workers on certain days of the week in order to have the work done. The United Workers, an organization composed mostly of wealthy people, have interested the dentists in their work among the poor to the extent that they have formed an association and have offered to care for the poor children's teeth. The work is intended to be done free, and the 10 cents a tooth is charged in order that the children and the parents may not feel that they are the recipients of charity.

CLEVER WOMEN ROB SAMARITAN OF $40

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Two clever women confidence operators successfully robbed Walter De Bardeleben, who resides at the Adrian hotel, Hyde and Eddy streets, at an early hour this morning. De Bardeleben was on his way home when he met the two women, who declared that they were frightened and asked him if he would mind accompanying them home. The women left him after walking a few blocks, and after reaching his hotel he discovered that a piece of carefully folded paper had been substituted for two $20 bills which he carried in a pocket.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Through the generosity of a brother, a rich mine owner, Dr. E. B. Morgan, eye and ear specialist of Patterson, N. J., with a modest income, has become the possessor of $1,000,000. Recently the brother, Dr. John Borgan, of Boston, realized $7,000,000 through the sale of some securities and desiring his brother to share his good fortune, offered him a million. The offer was accepted, and the Patterson physician will retire from practice to enjoy his suddenly acquired wealth.

INJURED MINER WAS REALLY MAN OF WEALTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Hugh McConnell of Butte, Mont., was injured in an accident on the Lackawanna railroad and was taken to a hospital in Paterson, N. J., where his death is announced today. Letters and papers found in his pockets indicate that McConnell had accumulated a comfortable fortune as a miner in Montana and that he was on his way to Ireland, where he expected to retire for good.

CAR STRIKES WAGON; DRIVER IS INJURED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—A Union street car, bound for the ferry, collided at 7 o'clock this morning with a butcher wagon, driven by Carlo Arrigot, at Montgomery avenue and Broadway. The driver was thrown to the pavement, but not seriously injured, and no arests were made.

Mrs. T. Smith, of 60 Perry street, was treated at the harbor hospital late last night for carbolic acid poisoning. The woman had taken the poison in some whisky, supposedly with suicidal intent.

Deaf and Dumb Man Disappears; Had Just Drawn Pay for Work

He has not been seen since and members of the family fear foul play. The young man's mother is almost frantic over his disappearance.

THREW WIFE DOWN FLIGHT OF STAIRS

Oakland Man Becomes Jealous of Attentions Paid Wife at Masquerade

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Jealousy, prompted by the marked attentions showed to his wife Annie by a valiant Mecurtie, who attended the masked ball at Excelsior Hall, Mission and Russian avenue, last night, caused George Ormarod, of 822 Twenty-first street, Oakland, to pitch his wife down the stairs of the place at 1 o'clock this morning.

The festivities began in the hall about 9 o'clock and there seemed to be no one enjoying themselves more than Ormarod up to the point where he saw a stranger dancing attendance upon his wife, and choosing her for a partner time and again as waltz followed two step, and talking in animated conversation during the long lancers.

Finally his feelings became enraged to such an extent that he demanded that the woman go home with him and a short quarrel followed.

QUARRELED ON STEPS.

She consented, however, and as the couple reached the top of the stairs she said something to her husband which was inaudible to the bystanders. Without a word, it is alleged by spectators, he seized hold of her and threw her down the flight. The action caused a scream of terror from the merrymakers, and several persons rushed to the woman's side, expecting to find her dead.

Policemen McEntee and Archer came to the scene and transferred Mrs. Ormarod to the Mission Emergency Hospital, afterwards locking her husband up for assault to murder. The woman received a contusion of the right arm and the right side and possible internal injuries.

HAZEN MAY NOT BE ON NEW LINE

Southern Pacific Extension Outlet Sought Near to Winnemucca

RENO, Nev., Oct. 25.—It is stated that the Southern Pacific in its search for a short line to Los Angeles has virtually abandoned consideration of Hazen as an objective point for the cut-off.

Recent developments have brought to light the presence of three large and well appointed corps of Southern Pacific surveyors who occupy the field in Central Nevada. These engineers are running lines for a new outlet of the aqueduct line via either Winnemucca, Battle Mountain or Palisade. The latter point is not regarded with especial favor, owing to the broken character of the country, which would render construction expensive.

Another objection is the heavy grades that could not be overcome economically, and this is the most vital factor in the movement, for the long fruit trains and heavy passenger traffic of the Southern Pacific demand the virtual elimination of grades, even though it involves building of costly tunnels.

AT BATTLE MOUNTAIN.

Battle Mountain has the advantage of a right of way from Austin that could be converted into the road bed of a modern double-track trunk line.

Winnemucca, however, is said to have the advantage over the other surveyed routes, according to statements of men who have worked on the survey. The grades are light and curvature nominal, while this selection would reduce the western haul by the distance to Hazen.

The plans under advisement contemplate the abandonment of a direct line from that point passing through Coal Dale on the Tonopah and Goldfield road. The value of the Carson and Colorado does not cut any figure in the calculations, as that line has never paid operating expenses.

NEW HIGH RECORDS MADE IN COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—There was great excitement in the cotton market today, prices making new high records on account of the big gains in Liverpool, a bullish crop estimated by a prominent group, a scarcity of shorts and general buying. December sold at 14.11 cents and May at 14.25 cents, about 15 to 20 points higher than Saturday. There was enormous realizing, particularly as the census report showed rather more cotton ginned to October 18 than recent private figures, and prices lost several points of the gain.

WARWICK DIVORCE IS CAUSING TALK

Mrs. Warwick, Daughter of Millionaire, Says She Is Poor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Along the Rialto theatrical people are discussing the divorce suit brought in Chicago by Mrs. Robert Taylor Bien against her husband, who is known on the stage as Robert Warwick. He is well known in San Francisco as a former member of the Valencia stock company. Coupled with the report that the actor offered no defense, but made the divorce path easy for Mrs. Bien by not responding to the court's summons, is the further interesting fact that the suit of Mary Mannering against her actor husband, James K. Hackett, will not be dropped, but will be pushed to a conclusion.

The report that reconciliation had been effected between the Hacketts is emphantically denied by Hackett through his attorney.

It will be recalled that Warwick was at one time leading man in one of Miss Mannering's companies and that she held the actor in high esteem. This is probabl the only basis for a rumor that a wedding may follow the two suits now pending.

SUIT FOR SEPARATION.

While the suit of Mrs. Bien is for divorce, that of Mrs Hackett is for a separation merely. The evidence will be sifted by a referee. Under the laws of New York State it is well known an absolute divorce can be granted only on statutory grounds, so it is not quite clear how further obstacles to another wedding could be removed unless Mrs Hackett should sue for an absolute divorce in some other state where divorces are easier to secure. It is recalled that Warwick was subpenaed as a witness by the attorney for Hackett, but no one here ventures an idea as to the nature of the evidence which Bien (or Warwick) was expected to give. Hackett was reticent on this point.

It is said that Warwick is in this city, but inquiry at the Brady offices and elsewhere failed to disclose his whereabouts. There was a rumor on Broadway that he was with a friend in Westchester and that his exact whereabouts was being kept secret. Mrs Bien is in Oconomowoc, Wis. Warwick was last seen on a William A. Brady production, "The Dollar Mark," which made a big hit and had a long run in Los Angeles, and later had a successful run in Eastern cities.

Mrs. Bien married the actor in Chicago March 15, 1902. It was on the day of the fifth anniversary of their marriage that Warwick, as stated in the divorce papers filed by Mrs. Bien, deserted his wife.

Although her father, Ferdinand Peck of Chicago, is a millionaire, Mrs. Bien set forth in her bill that she was poor and had no means to support herself and her daughter, Rosalind, who is 6 years old. She asks either alimony or a property settlement.

BARRIE BEGS HIS WIFE TO RETURN

Astounds England By Pleas--Offers $200,000 and to Forgive Misdeeds

LONDON, Oct. 25. — Having divorced his wife, J. M. Barrie, with the whimsicality often displayed in his stage creatures, wants her back again.

He does not want to marry Pauline Chase, his beautiful young ward, he has declared.

He wants his wife; he loves her; he is willing, despite proofs of her guilt so strong that the divorce court stopped in the middle of the taking of testimony, to have her come back to him.

All England is literally astounded by the sudden change in the affairs of its most popular playwright.

For days, it has become known, Barrie has been writing innumerable letters to his wife, who was May Anselle, an actress, humbling himself, begging her pardon for having instituted the suit, forgiving her proven misdemeanors and absolutely begging her to wed him again.

He has offered, it became known today, to settle $200,000 upon her in a lump sum if she will again be his wife. In addition to that he has offered to take her on a trip around the world.

Mrs. Barrie thus far has been altogether unresponsive. Her affections are centered, friends assert, upon Gilbert Cannan, the young critic and dramatist who was named in the divorce suit.

In the divorce suit it was testified that Barrie had lent Cannan the cottage he owned, and that Mrs. Barrie went there to live. The playwright supposed that two or three other women were guests, but this was not the case. A servant at the cottage testified thus:

"I always took tea up to Mrs Barrie's and Mr Cannan's rooms in the morning. One morning I went to Mr Cannan's room, but got no reply to my knock. Then I went to Mrs Barrie's room. I heard her call 'Gilbert!'

"I returned to his rooms, his bed had not been occupied. When I returned to Mrs. Barrie's room Mr Cannan was not there, but there was a dressing room between and he probably was in there. On other occasions I have even seen him coming out of Mrs. Barrie's rooms in pajamas."

Here the judge interrupted the celebrated case and granted Barrie his divorce.

FAMILY OF FIVE, LOST ON DESERT, RESCUED

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 25.—The family of five, which was reported as lost on the desert of San Diego county, has been saved, according to reports brought here yesterday by Leonard Phelps, a prospector.

The wanderers were rescued last Tuesday evening, having reached Robert Gale's homestead, on the edge of the Imperial desert, in an exhausted condition from exposure to the heat and from thirst.

The driver of the wagon containing the family was ignorant of desert travel, and on the second day out from San Diego he lost the road and followed the bed of Carrisa creek. They subsequently abandoned the wagon and team and were proceeding on foot when found and taken to the Gale ranch.

Stellar Acts at Orpheum Pleased Large Audiences

V ALERIE BERGERE as "The Pride of the Harem" at the Oakland Orpheum.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

"The Sultan's Favorite," showing at the Orpheum this week, is deliciously refreshing, and brings to light the imaginative side of that clever playwright, Edgar Allan Woolf, who may or may not have been inspired to this effort by the "Morals of Marcus." At any rate, he has chosen the Turkish room of a New York city house for his setting, here instead of his expected wife, comes "Morgiana," pride of the harem, in all her half concealed yet half revealed charms glimpsed through filmy gauze and spangled net.

Valerie Berger is the star in this sketch and she makes a particularly fetching favorite; so much so that one would have been inclined to forgive Guy Hastings—master of the city home—had he deported his real wife, Clementina, also in Turkish garb, and held fast to Morgiana, with her Turkish cigarettes, her full red lips and her up to date slang, embodied in such phrases as "You're all to the mustard."

Another popular number, which saw an initial Oakland performance yesterday, was the "Tuscany Troubadours." These singers do ambitious work along grand opera lines, and met with an enthusiastic reception.

Work of this character, with an occasional sketch such as that produced by Valeria Bergere, is what makes for the upward march of vaudeville.

The Novelty Gymnasts from Vienna do remarkably clever work, too, and dangerous as well. These men are uniformly garbed in trousers of heliotrope satin, with white blouses, forming a pleasing picture. Their work is clean cut, with no nonsense or horseplay to detract from its value.

Carlin and Clark, the German comedians, who were in Oakland not long since, are back again, and open this week's show, which, all in all, is far above average, with at least one pill to be swallowed. It was a French importation—this pill—which comes to us in the form of a moving picture entitled, in effect, "Caught in His Own Trap." It introduces the jealous husband, the young wife and her lover, and the maid, with whom the jealous husband indulges in familiarities while seated upon the edge of the family bed. A concealed camera of the snapshot variety reproduces the scene, to the husband's outdoing. It is like putting the cart before the horse to release the story this way, for its beginning really dates when the suspicious husband tiptoes into the chamber and carefully sets the camera in a wardrobe, with the bulb under the bed clothes. His wife peaks through the door and, catching her lord at this reprehensible piece of work, later outwits him. When she and her paramour enter the chamber they do their demonstrative lovemaking on the floor, quite out of range of the camera.

The entire episode is graphically told, and the moral is obvious, from a certain point of view voiced in the saying, "It isn't what you do, but what the world thinks you do, that counts."

Some of us old fogies have different notions regarding the sanctity of marriage ties, and it may be, even in Oakland, that there are parents who would enter strenuous objections against inoculating the youth of the town with morals so opposed to American principles. Personally, I have a notion that the picture was in the nature of a joke, slipped in on the Orpheum management.

Mary Norman, the satirist; Ed F. Reynard the ventriloquist, with his marvelous mechanical figures; James Young and company, and Signor D. Ancillotti, with his "mind reading" dog Pilu, are here for another week. Unlike many holdovers, all of these people bear a second hearing. Mary Norman's work this week far outclasses that of last.

FEARS SON HAS BEEN SHANGHAIED

Mother of Oakland Boy Appeals to San Francisco Police to Find Lad

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Fearing that her 12-year-old son, Earl Hansen, has been shaghaied on board a vessel, or has been drowned in the bay, Mrs. A. Hansen of 464 Twentieth street, Oakland, has appealed to the local police to endeavor to discover his whereabouts. The lad left St. Vincent's school in San Rafael last Thursday to go to his home across the bay. It was the intention of the family to allow him to enjoy some of the Portola festivities. He left the school, intending to take the train at once, but from that time to this has never been heard of.

The frantic parents have been unable to get the least trace of him, and it is thought he may have been imprisoned on some vessel. He is an extremely attractive boy, and when last seen was attired in a gray suit with a gray cap. He has light hair and blue eyes.

CAR HITS WAGON; DRIVER IS INJURED

Speeding Key Route Conveyance Breaks Man's Ribs and Horse's Leg

An inbound Key Route trolley car and a peddler's wagon formed a combination when they came into collision at Twelfth and Castro streets today that sent a man to the Emergency hospital, a horse into kingdom come, made a wreck of the wagon, damaged the car and suspended traffic on the Twelfth street line for nearly an hour.

The peddler, L. C. Burns, who lives at 578 Eighth street, had two ribs broken and was otherwise cut and bruised by the force of the impact. His wagon and wares were strewn all over the street and the horse had its leg broken and was shot.

The trolley car was so badly damaged that it had to be towed off to the railway shops for repairs. It was fully a half hour before the wreck could be cleared away and traffic permitted to resume its usual trend.

TYPHOON AT MANILA STARTS A NEW RECORD

MANILA, Oct. 25.—Some storm records were broken in the recent typhoon which crossed northern Luzon and the Benguet mountains.

Eighteen inches of rain fell in nine hours and 26 inches fell in the 24 hours the storm lasted. The Hued river rose 60 feet.

The wind gauge at the observatory broke when the wind attained a velocity of 97 miles an hour. It is estimated that it will require two months to restore the Bagnio road.

Another typhoon went swirling across Luzon, between Manila and Dagupan yesterday, but no serious damage is reported.

TRIAL ON ANARCHY CHARGE DELAYED

De Lara Remains Prisoner Because Friends Cannot Raise Bondsmen

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25. — L. G. de Lara, the Mexican attorney and author, is still in the county jail awaiting trial by the immigration officials on the charges of anarchy and of being illegally in this country.

Efforts to secure the $3000 bond required by the department of commerce and labor at Washington for his release pending trial have not been successful. It is expected, however, that bail will be provided within a few days.

Chief Inspector Ridgway stated that he would hear the testimony in the case this week, but counsel for De Lara today said they desired to bring witnesses from El Paso and that the hearing might be postponed a few adsy on that account. Efforts to raise funds for his defense continue and have become country wide in their scope.

Socialist organizations and labor unions generally have been appealed to by the De Lara Defense League.

ELMER COX DENIES HIS WIFE'S ALLEGATIONS

Elmer Cox, the advertising agent formally denies the allegations of his wife's complaint for divorce in an answer filed with the county clerk this morning.

The wife was the pretty Miss Lillian G. Lunbach, who claims that on the night of the wedding her spouse declared his love for her had fled at the altar and he thereupon betook himself to a separate apartment and has since remained at a long distance from her.

OTHER LEGATEES WILL FIGHT FOR ESTATE

Mrs. Hildebrandt will not be permitted to take her share of the estate of Henry Bright, the physician who died at her home recently, without a struggle. His will gives her one-third of his possessions, valued at $20,000, while the remainder was bequeathed to his son Valentine. Mrs. Bright, the widow, is expected here tonight to make her claim on the property and will join forces with the sister, Mrs. Sarah B. Boardman, who had Mrs. Hildebrand restrained from burying the body of her brother in making a fight to keep the estate in the family.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Chung Foo, an 8-year-old Chinese boy, was run down and slightly injured by an automobile, driven by George Alpers, of 918 Natoma street late last night. He was taken in the machine to the Harbor hospital.

SALES OF STOCK IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Opening prices of stocks today rose vigorously over the Saturday closing level on account of the Imperial Bank of Germany having refrained from advancing its official discount rate, as was feared on Saturday. Union Pacific and New York Central were carried up 1½. Reading and United States Steel 1½, Central Leather 1¾, American Cotton Oil 1½, and the majority of the active speculative stocks from large fractions to a point. The dealings were quite animated and showed great variety.

A realizing movement started soon after business had got well under way, which wiped out the advance in some stocks. Subsequently the market rose briskly again. United States Steel and Union Pacific advanced slightly higher than before and the rest of the list rose to about the opening level. Gains were stretched to 2½ in Amalgamated Copper, 2 in Union Pacific, 1¾ in Reading, 1¾ in United States Steel and 1¾ in Pacific Mail and American Smelting. From that level there was some recession on profit taking.

Speculation became quiet in the afternoon but the list retained its strength, prices holding generally at the top.

The market closed firm and dull. A fractional reaction on profit taking was followed by a recovery which carried Union Pacific to 200 and Reading to 160⅝. Pressed Steel Car rose 1¾, Canadian Pacific 2, American Smelting 2¼, and Pacific Mail 3. The list generally did not rise higher than before. St. Louis Southwestern preferred fell 1 and North American 1¾.

Bonds were irregular at noon.

WHEAT MARKET

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—Under the influence of the usual array of "bearish" statistics, speculative wheat prices declined 1½ to 2½ cents in Chicago during the first half of last week, but the underlying strength of the market soon overcame these influences and a full recovery occurred. A moderate set-back in the final dealings Saturday left closing prices fractional lower than a week ago. Evidences of congestion developed in the Chicago and Minneapolis December contracts, and wheat for December delivery sold above the May quotations in Chicago and Kansas City. Some Chicago commission houses advised customers to get out of December wheat on the same account and the confidence in their opinion turn into July contracts. There is no information as to any concentrated holdings, and no sign of any "bull" leadership in December wheat. The congestion might naturally arise from the comparatively small amount of "hedging" sales, and the unusually large purchases of December wheat against sales of flour for forward shipments. The continued high premiums for winter wheat everywhere and the large quantities of wheat that mills, both in the Northwest and elsewhere, are grinding into flour, restrain bear operations of those traders who look on the large receipts, the record-breaking world's shipments and the lack of foreign demand for this country's wheat as evidences that prices in the United States are higher than can be maintained. There was some relaxation in the demand for winter wheat last week and some decline in prices. Low grades of soft wheat in Kansas City are 5 to 10 cents lower and of hard wheat 2 to 4 cents lower than they were a short time ago and are nearer to a normal basis, compared with the futures, than at any previous time since the drop began to move. But the mills continue to take the hard wheat at high prices and there was no important addition to Kansas City stocks of wheat last week. Winter wheat receipts last week were fairly liberal. They were 15 per cent larger in Kansas City than a year ago, and St. Louis received more than twice as much wheat as in the same week last year. Chicago's car lot arrivals last week were about half as large as a year ago, but several Lake cargoes arrived from Duluth and the total week's receipts there were about a million bushels larger than the shipments. The movement of spring wheat to market centers was slightly less last week than in the week before, but showed a decided increase over the corresponding week last year. The receipts at Winnipeg continue to greatly overrun those of of a year ago, though they were then the largest on record up to that time. Large quantities of Canadian wheat are moving forward for export.

The small stock of wheat at Minneapolis, barely two and one-half million bushels, and not much more than enough for a week's supply for the mills, constitutes one of the strong factors in the market, though it is expected that wheat will accumulate rapidly at Minneapolis when navigation closes at Duluth. The visible supply of wheat in the United States increased 1,966,000 bushels a year ago. About the same increase is expected in tomorrow's statement. The firm tone of American markets did not affect foreign prices last week. At Liverpool Saturday, wheat was more than 2c lower than a week ago. The record breaking world's shipments explain the foreign indifference. The estimated requirements of exporting countries are slightly over 10,000,000 bushels weekly, and they are receiving five millions more than that quantity. Offerings of new Argentina wheat for shipments after the first of the year and of new Australian wheat a little later are reported to be increasing.

Speculative corn prices kept within a comparatively narrow range all week, averaging only about 1@1½c for the various deliveries. Closing quotations Saturday were fractionally higher in Chicago and slightly lower in Kansas City than a week ago. Receipts of corn at the three western markets last week were moderate. Demand was sufficient to readily absorb all the offerings. Some traders expect a large movement of new corn in November and December and a decline in prices, but the small stocks everywhere give a strong undertone to the market.—Kansas City Star.

SAN FRANCISCO GRAIN MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Wheat—Quiet; no trading; cash, $1.75@1.80.

Barley—Firm; May, $1.94¼; December, $1.44½@1.44¾; cash, $1.42½@1.45.

Corn—Firm; large yellow, $1.70@1.75.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Bearish weekly statistics, a decline at Liverpool and liberal receipts in this country depressed wheat prices somewhat early today. Opening quotations were 1¼c lower to ½c higher, December being at $1.05¼@1.05½. Later it reacted to $1.05⅛.

Following a mild show of strength about the middle of the session the market became weak, mainly as a result of the heaviness of southwestern markets. December declined from $1.05⅝ to $1.04¼. The close was weak, December being off 1c at $1.04⅜.

Corn was weak, being influenced by favorable maturing weather. December opened unchanged to a shade lower at 59¼@59⅜c to 59⅝c and held within that range for some time.

The close was easy with December down ⅛c at 59½c.

Oats were dull and inclined to be weak. December opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 39⅞@40c.

Provisions were moderately firm at the start on account of a 5@10c advance in live hogs, but prices soon reacted somewhat on profit taking.

INVESTORS IN EUCALYPTUS LANDS.

An unsurpassed opportunity to secure from twenty-five acres up of eucalyptus in the famous Santa Maria Valley, where the fertile soil and its proximity to the coast make ideal conditions for the growth of these trees.

The first year you plant the trees, the second and third years you care for them, the fourth year you pay one-fourth of the purchase price of the land and one-fourth each succeeding year for three years. The land is limited to a few hundred acres in quantity and first come first served. A snap like this has never before been offered in California.

Get in on the ground floor and secure a grove worth while for little money.

SANTA CRUZ REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE.

Beautiful mansion, together with stables and outhouses, belonging to the estate of Margaret McLaughlin, deceased, who was the wife of the late Major Frank McLaughlin, the show place of Santa Cruz, situated on the embankment overlooking the Pacific ocean, as well as the valley and mountains. This beautiful property is surrounded by beautiful grass plots, studded with flowers, rare shrubbery and shade trees and must be seen in order to appreciate its grandeur and loveliness. This property cost McLaughlin $83,000 and is modern in every appointment, spacious and elegant. It is most luxuriously furnished, containing many objects of art and rare treasures.

This property was sold under execution issued on a judgment of foreclosure brought by the Santa Cruz Bank of Savings and Loan. By reason of indifference and meager advertisement of the sale of this very valuable property the bank was able to buy the same at their own price and without opposition, paying therefor $17,800, which is not even one-quarter the value of the property, irrespective of its furnishings.

Any person desiring this property for a home or club will do well to investigate the same and as it is subject to redemption by those interested in the estate and being a creditor to the extent of about $2000, I hereby notify any bona fide purchaser, who will pay a reasonable advance over the sum above mentioned, to make an offer of not less than 10 per cent over and above the amount hereinabove specified and direct all communications regarding the purchase of the place to my attorney, A. A. Sanderson, Russ building, San Francisco, who will give the parties inquiring fullest information regarding said property.

The personal property and furnishings contained in this dwelling, together with carriages, harness, furs, etc., will also be offered for sale.

An order of court will obtain for any person desiring to visit and inspect the premises.

This offer is a bargain of a lifetime as property in Santa Cruz is enhancing in value daily. Respectfully,

HENRY J. KOWALSKY, Creditor.

EXPLOSION WRECKS PABST'S BREWERY

One Man Killed When Boilers Blow Up--Loss Will Be $250,000

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25.—An explosion of eight boilers in the Pabst Brewing Company's plant today resulted in the death of one employe, the injury of four others and property damage estimated at $250,000. The cause of the explosion has not yet been ascertained.

The explosion reduced the power plant to a pile of debris and shook a section of the city within a radius of half a mile of the brewery, breaking many windows. One of the boilers was blown across the street on to the roof of a nearby building. An elevator 60 feet in height and 40 feet wide just south of the power plant was jarred three feet off its foundation. One of the injured men declared the bursting of an 18-inch steam pipe, carrying steam from the battery of eight boilers, wrecked the power building.

STANFORD CO-EDS HURT IN RUNAWAY

One Has Ankle Broken; One Badly Bruised When Rig is Demolished

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 25.—Miss Elizabeth Lee Buckingham, graduate of Stanford University in '08, prominent in college dramatics and a member of the Phi Omega sorority, sustained a compound fracture of the right ankle, and Miss Edith Hatch, a teacher in the Cass Vallejo school for girls, was badly shaken up yesterday in an accident which occurred when the horse they were driving on the King mountain road became frightened at the automobile of Dr. T. M. Williams, medical adviser of Stanford university.

MEET DOCTOR ON ROAD.

The young women were driving into Stanford from King mountain this afternoon when they met Doctor Williams' car on the road.

The livery horse which Miss Buckingham was driving immediately took fright at the machine. The two girls tried in vain to control the animal. Turning rapidly in the narrow road, the horse tipped over the buggy, which was demolished, and the two occupants were thrown out.

Doctor Williams immediately gave emergency treatment to the injured women and took them in his car to the students' guild hospital. The serious nature of Miss Buckingham's injury made hospital treatment imperative.

RIG IS SMASHED.

An operation was performed on Miss Buckingham's ankle and the fracture was reduced. Miss Hatch's bruises were not of a serious nature.

The young women rented the buggy from a Palo Alto stable Saturday, and had driven to King mountain, where they passed Saturday night.

Miss Buckingham's home is in Denver. She lives at 1143 Webster street, Palo Alto, and has been active in Stanford University life since her arrival here. Miss Hatch is popular in the college life.

Wagner does not know whether he succeeded in hitting the burglar or not.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS TO BE SOLD HERE

From Sales Portion of Funds to Be Used for Prevention of Tuberculosis Work

Through the generosity of the National Red Cross Association, the Alameda County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has been accorded the privilege of handling the sale of the Christmas Red Cross stamp for Alameda County, with the exception of Berkeley, in which a branch of the Red Cross Association will attend to that portion of the work in the interests of a special Berkeley clinic fund.

Throughout the rest of Alameda County, however, the tuberculosis society will benefit to the extent of two-third of all stamps sold to enable it to more actively carry on its campaign against consumption. It is expected that this should be a banner year, inasmuch as much of the fund so raised will be used at home in so worthy a cause.

Miss Anna F. Brown, 566 Twenty-ninth street, is chairman of the society's committee in charge of the sale and distribution of the holiday stamps, and applications therefor should be made to her at once, as it is not expected that this county will be able to secure from the national association sufficient to fill the demand. The stamps are expected here in the early part of November. A number of the most prominent merchants in Oakland have already applied for large quantities, and the secretaries of the ladies' clubs and societies throughout the county have been requested to act as committee workers. Last year some thirty thousand of these stamps were sold locally, and it is expected to double that number this year, especially when it becomes generally known that the Anti-Tuberculosis Society will materially benefit by their sale.

THUGS ROB AND BEAT THEIR VICTIM

West Berkeley Man Loses His Jewelry and $250 in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25. — Held by the throat by a burly thug until he believed that he would choke to death, beaten over the head by a second robber, who cut out the pocket from his trousers and stole $250 in cash, a silver watch and other valuables, and left lying in a dazed condition, was the horrible experience last night of Paul Anderson, a carpenter, 44 years old, who resides at 2809 Ninth street, West Berkeley.

Anderson recognized one of his assailants as a man whom he had seen on the streets in company with a notorious ex-convict, but is unable to understand how they came to know that he had so much money on his person. The robbery occurred on East street between Market and Mission. The two men edged up behind him and before he could make any resistance he found his hands pinioned to his side and his throat grasped. He struggled for breath and felt himself growing dizzy. He remembers feeling the hands of the footpad in his pocket before he sank into unconsciousness.

He was found by Officer Joseph Hayden, who sent him to a hospital to have his injuries treated.

WOMEN EDUCATORS SHY AT PENSIONS

Admitting Real Age Proves Big Obstacle--Many Teachers Object

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 25.—From returns already received by State Superintendent of Instruction Hyatt from letters sent out to gather statistics of teachers at ages deserving pensions, it appears that the State would not be heavily taxed by placing pedagogues on the retired list. There are but few teachers now at work who have passed the three-score mark, while the number between the ages of 50 and 60 is small. County superintendents and educators from all sections of California heartily favor the idea. Difficulty is found in gathering the statistics, because many of the women teachers, who are known to be over 50, refuse to admit their age.

TRAIN WRECKS WAGON; YOUTH BADLY INJURED

An east bound Southern Pacific local train crashed into a bakery wagon at the corner of Seventh and Castro streets a few minutes before noon yesterday, throwing Louis Dorato, the driver, and his 10-year-old son Victor to the street and demolishing the vehicle.

The elder Dorato, aside from a severe shaking up, was uninjured, but the boy suffered a severe laceration of his right cheek. After the wound had been treated at the receiving hospital, young Dorato was able to accompany his father to his home at 564 Seventh street.

Father and son are employed by Giachino Bros., proprietors of the Europa bakery.

'MODEL HUSBAND,' GOOD NATURED EVEN BEFORE BREAKFAST, WIFE SAYS

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Samuel Van Nostran, who was adjudged the "model husband" at the second annual "hubby show," held at the home of Mrs. James Sidney McCullough, received from his wife yesterday credit for being the possessor of all the virtues necessary to make an ideal mate.

"Other than possessing the almost super-husband quality of being good natured before breakfast," said Mrs. Van Nostran, "my husband allows me to carry the family pocketbook and declares, just as if he meant it, that my cooking is so far above 'mother's efforts' in the culinary line that there could be no comparison. If that is not glory enough for one woman, I would like to know what is."

The complete list of desirable qualities attributed to her husband by Mrs. Van Nostran follows:

Prompt at meals.
Good entertainer.
An adept with the chafing dish.
Good judge of feminine beauty.
Generous and kind hearted.
Enjoys home more than the club.
Happiest when among friends.

Van Nostran, who also received the prize for his almost womanly ability to sew on a button, is 55 years old and has been married nine years.

TELEPHONE SERVICE WAS FEATURE OF AUTO RACE

Special Stations Installed by Pacific States Telephone Company Aided Officials and Hospitals

Without complete telephonic communication Saturday the Portola automobile races would not have been the great success they were. Manager T. F. Delury of the Pacific States Telephone Company in Oakland installed a perfect telephone system around the course to connect with the judges' stand and this enabled the public in the boxes and grand stand to keep posted on every car, no matter where it was in the race. Manager Delury also provided the various newspapers with direct service from the track to the offices and the wires were kept open throughout the day without a break.

Manager Delury was asked by a TRIBUNE reporter today to describe the system and how the communication with the judges' stand was carried on.

"We installed a direct circuit between Oakland and Hayward," he said, "and equipped this circuit with seven stations which were located at the following points: Station 1 was at the judges' stand and station 2 at Deering avenue and East Fourteenth street, which was one of the worst points on the road for the autos in making the turns. Station 3 was at San Leandro, station 4 at Castro and B streets in Hayward, another difficult turn for the autos to make. Station 5 was at the County Infirmary and station 6 at the top of the hill, at a point known as Elmcrest.

"At these particular points we furnished competent telephone men who were instructed to remain on the circuit during the period of the races and report every item of interest that happened along the route. We were in a position to report to the judges' stand how the cars were traveling, also to keep in touch with what accidents occurred, so that Chief Surgeon Dukes was always in touch with his field assistants, and knew exactly where to reach and care for the injured.

"We were advised by the committee that this was one of the best services ever offered in the city of Oakland, and it was rendered so promptly that they could keep tab on the cars down to the closest fraction of a second. It merely goes to demonstrate that the Pacific States Telephone can supply the wants of the public in any manner that may be so desired. We are pleased to note that our service proved so satisfactory to the press, the public and the committee and that everything worked satisfactorily and we were in a way able to make the races the success that they were."

HELD CHAIN GANG AT BAY WITH GUN

Police Stop All But One of Men Who Make Break for Liberty

For the third time within a year prisoners in the chain gang attempted escape by flight this morning, one man, John J. Moran, serving a six months' sentence on a charge of petty larceny, getting away. Other prisoners started but were cowered by the guns in the hands of Policemen Powers, Scanlan and Keefe. Sullivan Moore, a negro, who made his escape from the city prison a year ago, in conjunction with ten others, and who was captured in Nevada, was among those who started to run, but he was captured before he proceeded more than half a block. Moran made good his escape by fast foot work.

The chain gang at the present time is working on Lakeside avenue in a storm sewer. Moran was out of sight of the officers guarding the prisoners when he decided to take French leave. He got a good start and was followed by Moore. The negro was observed and was brought to an abrupt halt by having a gun leveled on him.

SEARCH FOR MORAN.

Captain Lynch was notified of the escape and immediately dispatched the police auto to the scene. The neighborhood was scoured for Moran but no trace of him was found.

Among the other prisoners who recently escaped was Dr. W. C. Sheppard, a beauty specialist, who was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the city prison because of having attempted to love all of his patients and employes who came to him professionally.

Moran is considered a fairly dangerous man. He was serving a six months' sentence on a charge of petty larceny, which had been reduced from burglary.

FOREST RANGERS AND CITIZENS FIGHT FLAMES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Scores of forest rangers and volunteer firemen from Pasadena and several foothill towns are out today fighting flames that have already swept over 11,000 acres of pasturage.

The fire started yesterday and at first appeared to be of little consequence. But it spread rapidly into the San Jose hills and eating its way through Tejunga canyon, entered the San Fernando valley. From Mount Wilson fires were seen in eleven different locations near Covina.

The flames drove jackrabbits out into the open and Sunday automobile parties killed hundreds of them.

AUTHOR OF GREAT DIVIDE IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

ROUNDED THE HORN ON FATHER'S SHIP

On Long Voyage She Became Skilled as Surgeon, Nurse, Cook and Sailor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Miss Augusta V. Park, an attractive young woman of Oakland, California, is the heroine of a storm-fraught voyage which her father's big American sailing ship, the Acme, has just completed. It required 123 days for the Acme to round the Horn from San Francisco to this port and during that time the vessel experienced many adversities. Miss Park shipped as a companion for her father, but before the voyage was finished, she had become skilled as a surgeon, nurse, cook, seamstress, sailor and fisherwoman.

After rounding the Horn the Acme ran into a terrific storm during which the first mate was hurled from the wheel, his arm being broken in two places and his right hand split open. While the storm raged Miss Park set the broken bones, mended the hand and put the arm in splits and since then she has served as trained nurse to the mate.

In other storms many of the sails were carried away and the decks were under water but at no time did the young woman display the least symptoms of fright.

The name of Augusta V. Park does not appear in the directory of Alameda county.

DIFFICULTY AT ADANA IN SURGICAL WORK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Surgical operations at Adana, Turkey, the scene of Armenian massacres last April, were performed under the most adverse circumstances, judging from extracts of American medical officers of the navy, who were in charge of relief measures at Messina, following the earthquake and at Adana. At the latter place about 22,000 refugees were cared for. In one of these reports the surgeon says that no operating table was to be had at Adana, except one hastily constructed from boards.

The anesthetic was given by the wife of the English Consul and sterilization was carried out by means of a kettle on an ordnary cook stove. Morphine and other tablets were used, followed by chloroform with good results. The use of these tablets for anesthetics, the report says to be more or less general in Turkey, probably owing to the dificulty of obtaining a good anesthetc.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child, for they are mild and gentle in their effect, and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by Osgoods' Drug Stores.

WOMAN A FEATURE IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Suffragists Active in Mayoralty Campaign--Everyone Getting Active

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York's stirring municipal campaign entered today the definitely prophetic stage and already the managers of the various canvasses for mayoralty honors have begun setting forth the proportions of their predicted victories in figures.

Starting with the prediction of Republican County Chairman Herbert Parsons that Otto L. Bannard, the Republican-Fusion candidate for mayor, will be elected by a plurality of at least 42,000, the mathematical experts of the other candidates have figures ready to show that substantial pluralities will be forthcoming for both William J. Gaynor, the Democratic candidate, and William R. Hearst, nominee of the Civic Alliance.

The candidates for mayor will lead in activity in this last week of the battle. Mr. Gaynor is scheduled to make seventeen speeches during the next six days, while fourteen speaking dates have been arranged for Mr. Hearst.

EVERY ONE BUSY.

Mr. Bannard probably will be the busiest man of the trio. His program calls for eight or ten speeches each evening of the week, starting in Brooklyn tonight,

Discussion of the charges in a recent magazine article that Tammany Hall has been protecting a wholesale "white slave" traffic, with headquarters in this city, is expected to play a considerable part in the closing canvass.

The woman suffrage question has been worked into the campaign, although in a way likely to result more in the making of a propaganda for the suffragist cause than to the advantage of any particular candidate. Mrs. Emiline Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette, will speak here tonight.

WHIST TOURNAMENT FOR CHRISTMAS FUND

This evening the St. Francis Benevolent Society of St. Elizabeth's Parish, Fruitvale, will give a special prize whist tournament at the hall on Bray avenue. A number of valuable prizes have been donated. The proceeds will be devoted toward the expenses of a Christmas festival for the children.

MURDERER TRACED THROUGH HIS DOGS

Tip Given By German Police Cleverly Used By New York Detectives

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The arrest of Frederick Gebhardt or Otto Mueller, as he was also known, is the culmination of an exceptionally competent piece of detective work. The skeleton of the body of Anna Latter, who had been married more than a year ago to an Otto Mueller, revealed a murder, the bones showing two bullet wounds. A gold watch found near the body bore the initials "A. L.," and there was also merchants' memoranda, indicating that purchases had been made in a small town near Hamburg, Germany.

The German police were acquainted with the facts and they quickly discovered that the purchases indicated in the bills had been made by Anna Latter who, a short time before, had been married to an Otto Mueller in this country and who was then on her honeymoon with her husband to her old home in Germany.

The Hamburg police informed the detectives here that when Mueller and his bride returned to this country, Mueller brought with him two dogs of the variety used for police work.

FOUND THE DOGS.

The local detectives, working on the case, investigated the records of the German steamship lines and found a memorandum of a passenger who had arrived here at about that time with two such dogs. Through an expressman the dogs were traced to a house in Astoria, a part of New York City.

It was there that the Otto Mueller, now under arrest, was captured as he was entering the house, where he was known as Frederick Gebhardt, and where he was living with the wife he had married four years ago, through a matrimonial bureau, and with their two children.

According to the police, Gebhardt, which he says is his right name, admitted he had temporarily left his real wife to marry Anna Latter; that he had gone to Germany with her as described, but that she had left him without explanation a few days after their arrival in this country.
